WILSON FACES CRUCIAL TEST IN JONES FIGHT

White House Admits It Lacks Majority for Confirmation.

FOES WIN VICTORY

Force Senate to Make Public Testimony Given by Chicagoan.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—The struggle between President Wilson and the senate over the confirmation of the appointment of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago to the federal reserve board developed today into a national political affair of the first rank.

After a day of rancorous outbursts in the senate on the subject the administration tonight is fighting, for the first time confessedly, on the defensive. The White House admits that it lacks a majority for the confirmation of the selection of the director of the International Harvester company and has resorted to a policy of delay, during which a tremendous effort is being made to bring rebellious Democratic senators into line.

Opposition Wins Victory.

The opposition won a victory today in the fight started yesterday to make public the testimony of Mr. Jones before the senate committee on banking and currency. The administration senators gave way on this point only after Senator Hitchcock read in the open senate a telegram from Mr. Jones stating his desire that the record be divulged.

The adverse report of the majority of the committee also was presented in a secret session of the senate, but was withheld from publication pending the completion of the minority report favoring the nomination.

Senators Opposed to Jones.

President Wilson's representatives in the senate carried the word to the White House that as matters stand now there is a majority of from five to ten votes against Jones. The following twenty Democratic senators are listed as avowedly opposed to Jones or strongly inclined to vote against him:

Ashurst (Ariz.)	O'Gorman (N. Y.)
Bankhead (Ala.)	Pittman (Nev.)
Chamberlain (Ore.)	Reed (Mo.)
	Robinson (Ark.)
Clarke (Ark.)	Smith (Ariz.)
Culberson (Tex.)	Smith (S. C.)
Hitchcock (Neb.)	Tillman (S. C.)
Lane (Ore.)	Vardaman (Miss.)
Lea (Tenn.)	Walsh (Mont.)
Martine (N. J.)	Williams (Miss.)
Newlands (Nev.)

Senator Sherman for Jones.

At the White House it was stated that only one Republican senator—Sherman of Illinois—is being counted for Jones. The administration hopes, however, to win the votes of Stephenson of Wisconsin and McCumber of North Dakota, both Republicans. Burton of Ohio has denied that he will support Jones.

All the influence the administration possesses is being exerted to swing into line for Jones a sufficient number of the insurgent Democrats to assure a majority for confirmation. At the instance of the White House Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Assistant Postmaster General Dockery, and Assistant Attorney General Graham are laboring with the recalcitrant senators.

One Majority Only Hope.

At a late hour tonight the president was informed by his scouts that confirmation by a majority of one is the best that can be hoped for on the basis of the present showing, but that sufficient pledges have not been actually given to assure even this result.

The administration officials put in the greater part of last night in endeavors to stem the tide of insurgency and this morning the president began calling in both his supporters and opponents.

Senator Pomerene, leader of the minority in the banking committee, told the president that the outlook was dark. Senator Bankhead reported a majority of five against Jones. Senator Clarke of Arkansas, who has become an avowed opponent of Jones because of his connection with the harvester corporation, was closeted with Mr. Wilson for some time.

At noon the White House automobile brought Senator Kern, the majority leader of the senate, from the capitol for an extended conference with the president.

Some of the Democrats opposed to Jones have directed pleas to the president to permit Jones to withdraw. They com-

AUTO KILLS WOMAN OF 70 WHEN CROSSING STREET.

Mrs. Josephine Uivino Meets Instant Death When Struck by Machine Driven by George Jack.

Mrs. Joseph Uivino, 70 years old, of 313 South Western avenue started to cross Western avenue at West Jackson boulevard yesterday afternoon. Her step was slow and her sight poor. An automobile driven by George Jack of 1259 West Van Buren street bore down upon her. There was a screeching of the automobile siren. The aged woman either was too bewildered to escape from its path or did not have sufficient strength to get out of its way in time.

She was struck and killed instantly.

Jack was arrested and is being held pending a coroner's inquest today. He said he did not have time to stop the machine or to swerve to one side.

GENERAL VICTORIANO HUERTA

Father of Six Twins Disappears.

A coat and vest, in the pockets of which were found cards identifying the garments as the property of William E. Bersch, publicity manager for the North Shore Gas company and father of three sets of twins, were found on the bank of the drainage canal at Bryn Mawr avenue yesterday afternoon.

Bersch left his home in Highland Park early yesterday morning. He spent a few minutes in his Highland Park office and then announced his intention of starting for Chicago. Since he stepped from the office the police have been unable to trace his movements.

Drag for His Body.

Last night the police of the Summerdale station dragged the canal bottom, expecting to bring forth Bersch's body. The Highland Park police, too far away to assist in the dragging, spent their time evolving an odd theory to account for his supposed suicide.

Bersch, the suburban police believe, became mentally deranged through his efforts to plan new and effective advertising "stunts," and jumped into the canal while out of his mind.

Some of Bersch's friends have a somewhat similar but more hopeful theory.

Suspect Publicity Stunt.

They, too, believe he may have become unbalanced by overwork, but they think he may have concocted a crazy publicity scheme, left his coat and vest on the canal bank in furtherance of it, and wandered away.

Until a couple of weeks ago Bersch was manager of the gas company's Highland Park branch, where a large side line of gas cooking, heating, and lighting appliances is carried. Bersch devoted much thought to boosting the sale of these appliances.

A month ago he sprang an advertising coup that attracted to him the attention of his superiors. He arranged a "reception" for the gas users of Highland Park, with refreshments at the company's expense and an address by the mayor of the suburb as attractions.

But Bersch did not depend on these inducements to draw his crowd. Just after dark on "gas night" a fire started across the street from his shop.

The fire engines raced through the streets and most of Highland Park turned out and followed in their wake. The street outside the gas office was crowded by the time the firemen discovered they had nothing more serious to contend with than dying flames in several boxes of Fourth of July "red fire."

Bersch's reception was a great success. The erstwhile fire fans remained to hear the mayor talk, to sample the gas company's refreshments, to examine Bersch's wares, and to buy.

The story of Bersch's enterprise went to headquarters. Charles Boynton, president of the gas company, decided the Highland Park job wasn't big enough for him and created a new one. Bersch, a few days later, received a letter informing him the company wanted him to run a publicity bureau.

Mr. Boynton has yet another theory of the affair. He believes Bearsch is dead, but is sure he came to his death accidentally.

SOME WALK TO REDUCE; THIS HIKER WOULD BE FAT.

T. C. Ferno Will Take Shoe Leather Route to Denver and "Touch" Farmers En Route for Meals.

Some persons drink buttermilk to get thin and others drink it to get fat. T. C. Ferno, an employé of the Inland Steel company, believes that walking has the same effect. While some persons walk to reduce weight, Mr. Ferno holds to the theory that a living skeleton could get a job as a fat man in a circus if he walks far enough. Accordingly, he is going to walk to Denver, 1,034 miles, in search of a few extra pounds.

Mr. Ferno is 6 feet tall and weighs 150 pounds.

"Office work reduced my weight ten pounds during the winter," he said yesterday. "I might get a little bit of it back by lolling around some summer resort, but I'd lose it again as soon as I went back to work. I'm not going to spend a cent on my way to Denver. There ought to be enough farmers on the way to feed me."

CARBAJAL IS SWORN IN AS PRESIDENT

Excitement Reigns in Capital; 'Vivas' Ring for Huerta.

DICTATOR TO EUROPE

Special Train Waits for Him at Guadalupe; Family Nears Coast.

BULLETIN.

Mexico City, July 16, 3 a. m.—Gen. Huerta, Gen. Blanquet, other members of the cabinet, and some officials of the former administration have left the city. Their destination is not known.

BULLETIN.

Mexico City, July 15.—Bearing an invitation for the peaceable entry of Carranza and the other Constitutionalist leaders into the capital, a special committee tonight left the city for Celaya.

Mexico City, July 15.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta resigned from the provisional presidency of the Mexican republic this evening and his resignation was accepted by the senate and chamber of deputies by a vote of 121 to 17.

Huerta's resignation was submitted through the department of foreign relations. It was read in the house and was greeted with cries of "Viva Huerta!" It was then referred to the joint committees of gobernacion.

TERMS OF ACCEPTANCE.

After brief consideration the committees reported, accepting the resignation in the following terms:

"Article 1—We accept the resignation presented by Gen. Victoriano Huerta as president of the Mexican United States.

"Article 2—We call Licentiate Francisco Carbajal, minister of foreign relations, to assume the presidency."

A ballot was taken and the joint session approved the report.

All members of the Huerta cabinet also tendered their resignations.

President Carbajal proceeded to the national palace uder an escort of presidential guards and all along the way was greeted with tumultuous cheering.

EXCITEMENT INTENSE.

The galleries of the chamber of deputies were packed before the beginning of the session this afternoon. Intense excitement characterized the gathering, and at the close of the reading of Huerta's resignation the deputies and spectators broke into loud and continued applause.

After the acceptance of Huerta's resignation a commission was appointed by the president of the chamber to escort Señor Carbajal to the floor of the house. Very soon Señor Carbajal appeared in front of the chamber, passing through files of soldiers. He entered, and as he walked to the platform the deputies stood. Speaker Manuel Mercado then administered the oath.

OVATION TO NEW CHIEF.

The new executive again passed through double files of troops as he proceeded to the national palace. The military band played the national hymn while the troops presented arms and rendered presidential honors.

Two deputies spoke vigorously against the acceptance of Huerta's resignation, one of them calling it "weak submission to the United States."

Two other deputies spoke in favor of acceptance, declaring that it was the only way to save the country and end the fratricidal strife.

BLANQUET HAS GONE.

Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, Huerta's minister of war; several other generals, and the ministers of communications, public instruction, and interior, in the Huerta cabinet, Arturo Alvaradejo, Garcia Naranjo, and Ignacio Alcocer, respectively, as well as other high officials of the former administration, left the capital this afternoon.

A special committee, composed of Jesus Urueta, Enrique Bordes Mangel, and José Ines Novelo, former members of the chamber of deputies, left tonight for Celaya to arrange with the Constitutionalist leaders for a peaceful entry into the capital.

HUERTA READY TO GO.

It was reported tonight that Gen. Huerta was preparing to leave for Europe. The members of his family passed through Cordoba this afternoon on the way to Puerta Mexico.

A special train is in waiting at the station of Guadalupe. This train is guarded by the Twenty-ninth regiment which has always remained thoroughly loyal to Gen. Huerta. Gen. Blanquet will probably leave with the former dictator.

The streets of the capital were crowded until a late hour tonight, but no disturbance has been reported. The governor of the federal district issued orders to the police to check every demonstration rigorously. The streets are patrolled by mounted police who have orders to use drastic measures if necessary.

VILLA WANTS HUERTA'S LIFE.

Juarez, July 15.—[Special.]—"If Victoriano Huerta falls into my hands I will execute him without parleying," said Gen. Francisco Villa tonight, in reply to a question from a correspondent.

"If Huerta is made a prisoner or surrenders," Villa continued, "I presume that he will be given a trial. That is a matter that the chief and the military authorities will have to decide. I can speak only for myself. I will not spare Huerta if he falls into my hands, as a prisoner or otherwise."

Asked what would be the fate of Federal commanders who lay down their arms and remain in Mexico City, Villa answered: "Unless they have had connection with murderous, traitorous affairs of the past, they will not be molested, so far as I am concerned. If they were connected with the bloody deeds of Huerta in his many assassinations, they will have to pay the penalty."

VILLA'S BAND PLAYS.

A military band played martial airs outside Villa's headquarters as the news of Huerta's resignation was spread about. Villa will remain on the border two or three days, it was said today at his headquarters here.

An informal request has been made that he visit El Paso on the American side of the line, but while neither army nor civil officials have any objections, the matter was dropped.

The sudden but not unexpected turn of affairs at the national capital led to speculations regarding what troops of the Constitutionalist army would be the first to enter Mexico City. The forces under Gens. Aguilar and Obregon are nearest the goal of the Carranza revolution, but Villa officials tonight express the belief hat troops of all the divisions would be represented in the triumphal entry. Villa's army cannot be moved southward for several weeks.

HUERTA TO VERA CRUZ?

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Rear Admiral Badger reported to the navy department tonight that reports reaching Vera Cruz said Gen. Huerta and Gen. Blanquet would "leave Mexico City by train under escort."

Officials here think the retired dictator will go to Puerto Mexico to board a foreign man of war for Europe.

Admiral Badger also announced that the British criusers Hermione and Bristol sailed from Vera Cruz for Puerto Mexico at 6 o'clock tonight. Earlier in the day the Dutch cruiser Kortenaer, whose commander went to Mexico City several days ago, started for the same port.

WILSON AND BRYAN HAPPY.

No formal comment was made by either President Wilson or Secretary Bryan tonight on the resignation of Huerta. It was apparent, however, that the administration officials were delighted over the development and that they were prepared to contend that it justified President Wilson's policy of watchful waiting.

The first official news of Huerta's intention came from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City, who is representing the United States there. His dispatch announced that Huerta would resign at 4 o'clock and be succeeded by Carbajal two hours later. It is understood that the dispatch also indicated that Carbajal has every disposition to enter into an arrangement for the pacification of Mexico.

HAILS WILSON VICTOR.

As soon as Secretary Bryan received word of this dispatch he called the president on the telephone and congratulated him on "the successful consummation" of his Mexican policy.

Other officials, however, failed to join in Mr. Bryan's enthusiasm, and expressed the fear that the severest test of the administration's policy was yet to come.

Officials of the state department made it plain that today's developments in no way affected the situation at Vera Cruz. The turning over of the government to Carbajal had resulted merely in the substitution of an administration of Huerta's own making, and the American forces will remain until a permanent arrangement has been made at Mexico City.

Although the Constitutionalists have declared they would not recognize Francisco Carbajal as provisional president any more than they did his predecessor, and the United States government likewise will refuse to recognize him, the understanding here is that the new executive will hold office for but a short term—only until satisfactory arrangements can be made for the entry of Gen. Carranza, the Constitutionalist chief.

WANT GENERAL AMNESTY.

From diplomats in close touch with the situation, it was learned that Mr. Carbajal and those who are associated with him in an effort to restore peace in Mexico desire only that a general amnesty be declared, conserving the lives and property of those who supported Huerta. After this is obtained the peaceful entry into the Mexican capital of Constitutionalist troops will be negotiated.

KIN GO TO PUERTO MEXICO.

Vera Cruz, July 15.—The special train with members of the families of Huerta and Blanquet are proceeding to Puerto Mexico. Advices received here report that they passed Cordoba at 2 o'clock this afternoon, taking the Vera Cruz-Isthmus railway.

The Dutch cruiser Kortenaer, which for several days has been in dock here, left at 10 o'clock this morning. Its destination is said to be Puerto Mexico. The belief that Gen. Huerta and his friends intend to board the Dutch warship was strengthened by the fact that its captain went to the capital soon after his arrival and that the cruiser sailed without him.

VERA CRUZ UNDISTURBED.

President Huerta's resignation caused hardly a ripple of excitement here this afternoon, where the fact that the dictator had retired became known almost as soon as it happened. The news spread quickly. Any inclination on the part of the Carranzista sympathizers to indulge in a public jubilation over Huerta's downfall was checked for fear of conflicting with the strict American regulations forbidding political manifestations.

The only celebration noticeable was staged in a café where the youthful head of the Constitutionalist junta, whose antics have caused keen amusement to the populace here, purchased and dispensed champagne lavishly.

Much more interest was manifested both by Americans and Mexicans as to the route Huerta would take out of the country if he leaves the republic than in his resignation. Information current in this city is that he will depart from the capital tonight with Blanquet to join their respective families at Puerto Mexico.

MAY COME TO VERA CRUZ.

Should he turn his face Europeward, unquestionably he would be guided by circumstances. If he reaches Cordoba safely and the route south to Puerto Named to Succeed President Huerta.

FRANCISCO CARBAJAL

Dictator's Swan Song Charges His Troubles to United States and Its "Puritan" President.

President Huerta late yesterday afternoon appeared before the Chamber of Deputies in the City of Mexico. His address presenting his resignation was as follows:

"Deputies and Senators: Public necessity admitted by the chamber of deputies, by the senate and the supreme court, called me to the supreme magistracy of the republic. Later, when in this same hall I had the honor of addressing you in compliance with the Constitutional precept, I promised at all costs to bring about peace.

"Seventeen months have passed, and in that brief period of time I have formed an army with which to carry out that solemn promise.

"You all know the immense difficulties which my government has encountered owing to a scarcity of funds, as well as to the manifest and decided protection which a great power of this continent has afforded to the rebels—so much so that when the revolution had been broken up, seeing that its chief leaders were and continued to be divided, the power in question sought a pretext to intervene directly in the conflict, and the result of this was the outrage committed at Vera Cruz by the American fleet.

"Success was had, as you know, in adjusting honorably, through our delegates at Niagara Falls, the petty Tampico incident, but the revolution continued with the support of whom we all know.

"Yet, after the highly patriotic work achieved by our delegates at Niagara Falls, there are still some who say that I, come what may, seek my personal interest and not that of the republic. And as I need to rebut this allegation with facts, I tender my formal resignation of the presidency of the republic.

"The national congress must know that the republic, through its government, has labored in entire good faith and with the fullest energy, having succeeded in doing away with the party which in the United States calls itself Democratic, and having shown how the right should be defended.

"To be more explicit, I will say that the action of the government of the republic during its short life has dealt death blows to an unjust Power. Later on, stronger workers will come, using implements that undoubtedly will end that Power, which has done so much harm and committed so many outrages on this continent.

"In conclusion, I will say that I abandon the presidency of the republic, carrying with me the highest sum of human wealth, for I declare that I have arraigned at the bar of Universal Conscience the honor of a puritan, whom I, as a gentleman, challenge to wrest from me that possession.

"May God bless you and me."

Mexico appears safe and clear, he will continue toward the isthmus. Otherwise, he will swallow his pride to save his skin and choose the more direct way, via Vera Cruz, where the chances of harm befalling him are almost infinitely small.

The public expectation here is that conditions will be such that Americans who desire to return to Mexico City can do so almost immediately. But this point of view meets with disagreement from those who think that the Federal army will fall into a complete state of demoralization as a result of Huerta's resignation, that many generals and higher officials will flee for fear of reprisals by the rebels, and that conditions with respect to law and order will approach a chaotic state.

Train service, the military heads are almost sure, will be interrupted until the Mexican railway leading to the capital is completely restored to its owners.

HOPE FOR MEDIATION?

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Gen. Huerta's retirement came just as the Constitutionalists were preparing their formal answer to the South American mediators rejecting the invitation for informal conferences with representatives of Huerta for the discussion of internal Mexican questions. While the Constitutionalists are averse to holding conferences which might recognize the legality of Carbajal's position, as provisional president, hopes were raised today among South American diplomats that nevertheless negotiations might be begun between representatives of Carranza and Carbajal for the speedy transfer of power to the Constitutionalists.

Mediators to Renew Plea.

It is practically certain that Emilio Rabasa, Augustin Rodriguez, and Luis Elguero, who represented Huerta at the Niagara Falls mediation, will be designated by Carbajal to look after his interests in this country. That the mediators now will make another effort to bring the two factions into conference is considered very likely.

To Bring Chiefs Together.

Renewed efforts are being made by Constitutionalists here to persuade Carranza to enter conference with Carbajal. Carranza's objections hitherto have been that he could not agree to any compromise provisional president, but must insist on the plan of Guadalupe. Many diplomats here think that Carbajal would accept the plan of Guadalupe, which calls for the establishment of Carranza as provisional president, provided ample guarantees for life and property were given.

It is believed in some quarters here that Carbajal may make an effort to have Huerta given immunity from arrest if he stays in Mexico City. The Huerta delegates in New York have tried to secure guarantees for him, but even if given, friends of the dictator think he would be safest out of the country. It is not thought he will depart for several days, at least, preferring to offer his services to Carbajal in the field if a final rally of Federal troops is made against the Constitutionalists.

Mediators' Status Same.

New York, July 15.—The change in the presidency will cause no change in their status, the Mexican delegates to the Niagara Falls conference now in this city declared tonight, inasmuch as their credentials are from the Mexican senate and not from the president.

If the secretary of state for Carbajal approves of the delegates waiting here for the expected sending of a Constitutionalist delegation to a conference, their eleven days' sojourn in New York will be prolonged, they stated. No limit had been placed upon it by Esteva Ruiz on behalf of Gen. Huerta, they said.

"We are here for Mexico, not for one man," Emilio Rabasa, head of the delegation said. Francisco Carbajal's name was one of six in a list submitted by the American delegates at Niagara Falls in an attempt to end neutrals who might be acceptable to both parties, the Mexican delegates said.

REBEL GARRISON WIPED OUT.

Columbus, N. M., July 15.—The annihilation today of the Constitutionalist garrison at Palomas, Chihuahua, by Federal filibusters, broke the peace of northern Mexico and revived reports of counter revolutions in the republic. Three hundred guerrillas under Gen. Roque Gomez, attacked the little border town in view of troops of the United States army patrol. Every man of the village garrison was killed, it is reported.

Thirty men under Capt. Topete fought desperately from adobe houses in the town, but were overpowered within a few minutes. Seven men of the garrison kept up a fire from one of the houses which was not subdued by the Federals until several hours later. It is believed these seven survivors were captured and executed.

Won't Hold the Town.

Gomez announced today he would leave during the night, and it is believed he will make no attempt to hold the town against the advance of troops from Juarez or Casas Grandes.

It was learned that 200 men from the Pearson garrison, almost directly to the south, had been sent by Gen. Villa with orders to retake the town.

Roque Gomez was second in command under Gen. Ynez Salazar, when that Federal commander of former anti-Madero rebels took Palomas in November, 1912. His men are Chihuahua ranchmen, who have been in arms since the Madero revolution of 1910. Recently they have been terrorizing residents of the Casas Grandes district.

FEDERALS FLEE GUAYMAS.

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mexico, July 14, via San Diego, July 15.—Evacuation of Guaymas by the Mexican Federal forces was begun today with the arrival of the steamer Benito Juarez, according to reports made to Rear Admiral Howard.

Negotiations between the Federal and Constitutionalist generals at Guaymas relative to the exchange of prisoners have been practically completed, the Federal commander reserving the right to certain exceptions.

The California and the destroyer Preble departed today for La Paz, Lower California, where it is expected the Federals and insurgents will agree on the joint support of Carranza.

Col. Gomez, a Zapatista officer, who has taken charge of Acapulco in the name of the Constitutionalists, has promised protection to all foreigners. His forces there consists of 2,000 men.

CARRANZA TO GO TO FRONT?

Monterey, Mexico, July 14, via Laredo, Tex., July 15.—It was announced here today that Gen. Venustiano Carranza was considering taking personal command of the Constitutionalist troops in the south.

Rebels Get Munitions from U. S.

Tampico, Mex., July 14, via Laredo, Tex., July 15.—The schooner Sunshine from Galveston landed without opposition from American naval authorities 2,000,000 cartridges for the Constitutionalists. The shipment came from the United States.

ENDS ONE YEAR OF "TOTTERING"

Huerta's Resignation Was Demanded by U. S. Just Twelve Months Ago.

KEPT SEAT BY FARCE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Just one year has elapsed since President Wilson announced that his Mexican policy then consisted of the edict that "Huerta must go," and assured the American public that the Mexican president was "tottering," and soon would fall.

For the first four months of President Wilson's administration he was absolutely silent regarding the Mexican situation, though it gradually became known that he did not intend to grant official recognition to the Huerta government. Late in June, 1913, representatives of a number of European powers drew up a letter of protest, in which it was declared that the United States had largely contributed to the anarchical conditions in Mexico and that it ought either to recognize the Huerta government and discourage the revolution or assume responsibility for the pacification of Mexico. This joint document reached the hands of President Wilson, and resulted in action by him.

Lind Sent to Mexico.

Henry Lane Wilson, hold-over ambassador to Mexico, was recalled, and after a scant hearing at the White House was asked to resign. John Lind, former colleague of Secretary Bryan in the house of representatives and former governor of Minnesota, was designated the president's confidential agent and sent to Mexico in an endeavor to get Huerta's sanction to a plan for his elimination. He arrived at the Mexican capital, with Mrs. Lind, whose presence, Secretary Bryan said at the time, was evidence of the peaceful character of his mission, in middle August.

Mr. Lind presented four proposals to President Huerta, through his minister of foreign affairs, the Mexican president declining to receive the American emissary because he had no credentials. These proposals, or rather demands, were for:

The resignation of Huerta.

The establishment of a provisional government, pending the holdings of elections.

The elimination of Huerta as a candidate for the presidency by election.

U. S. Backs Down.

In the correspondence that ensued the United States receded from its proposals one by one until there remained only the demand that Huerta be not a candidate in the elections due to be held in the fall. It was generally conceded that in the Lind correspondence Huerta's foreign minister, Frederico Gamboa, had decidedly the best of it, and the administration was finally left to content itself with Gamboa's statement that certainly Huerta could not be a candidate to succeed himself because of a constitutional prohibition to that effect as the net result of the Lind discussions.

President Wilson addressed congress on the subject immediately upon the failure of the Lind mission, urging a policy of patience, while Lind went to Vera Cruz, where he remained almost continuously, playing the rôle of reporter to the president until April last.

Soon thereafter William Bayard Hale, the president's campaign biographer, who had also been serving in Mexico City, as an unofficial observer for the president, was assigned on another secret mission and went to the Mexican border to ascertain the purpose and character of the Constitutionalists.

U. S. Backs the Rebels.

His reports, combined with other information possessed by the president, are considered to have been chiefly responsible for the president's decision to back the Constitutionalists just as far as possible. This policy of support for the revolutionists was never officially announced, but became increasingly evident.

Meantime Huerta had found, so it was officially asserted in Mexico City, that the congress, consisting largely of Maderistas, was conspiring against him and defeating his governmental projects. He accordingly, in October, arrested a large number of the deputies and put them in prison, where many of them remained for considerable periods. He declared himself a virtual dictator, pending, he said, the elections, at which a new congress was to be chosen and candidates for president voted upon.

This action by Huerta brought an angry response from President Wilson, who notified him that the United States would not consider giving any recognition to the results of elections following such an usurpation of power.

European and South American governments were given to understand that they might expect drastic action by the United States in Mexico if Huerta did not retire. But Huerta did not retire, and the United States took no action.

Huerta Stays on Job.

Though barred from being a candidate, it was announced that Huerta had received the greatest number of votes in the elections held in November, which were admittedly farcical. Felix Diaz was also a candidate, but, fearful of Huerta, did not venture further into Mexico than the port of Vera Cruz.

The elections for president were declared null and void, because not a sufficient number of districts had participated in the voting, and as a result of the farce Huerta remained in power as provisional president.

In December in addressing congress, President Wilson announced that Huerta, the usurper, was near his collapse, and expressed the opinion that it would not be necessary to alter the policy of watchful waiting.

Meanwhile Francisco Villa, former bandit, achieved new fame by capturing Juarez, in December, thus beginning a series of brilliant victories which gave the revolution its momentum which has swept Huerta out of power.

U. S.-Mexican Crisis.

In early April came the incident which precipitated the present phase of the situation; the arrest of an officer and boat crew of the Dolphin by Mexican Federals at Tampico, then besieged by the rebels. After a week of quibbling over Admiral Mayo's demand for a salute to the American flag at Tampico, while the Atlantic fleet was en route to Mexican waters, the approach of the German steamer Ypiranga laden with huge quantities of arms and ammunition for Huerta impelled the president to direct Rear Admiral Fletcher to seize Vera Cruz.

During a few anxious days, when anti-American rioting was in progress in Mexico City, it was feared that Huerta would adopt a policy of war toward the United States. He accepted, however, as promptly as Washington, the offer of the A. B. C. representatives for mediation, and in those conferences offered to resign whenever the pacification of the country was guaranteed. This proposition the United States could not meet.

Huerta's Danger Grows.

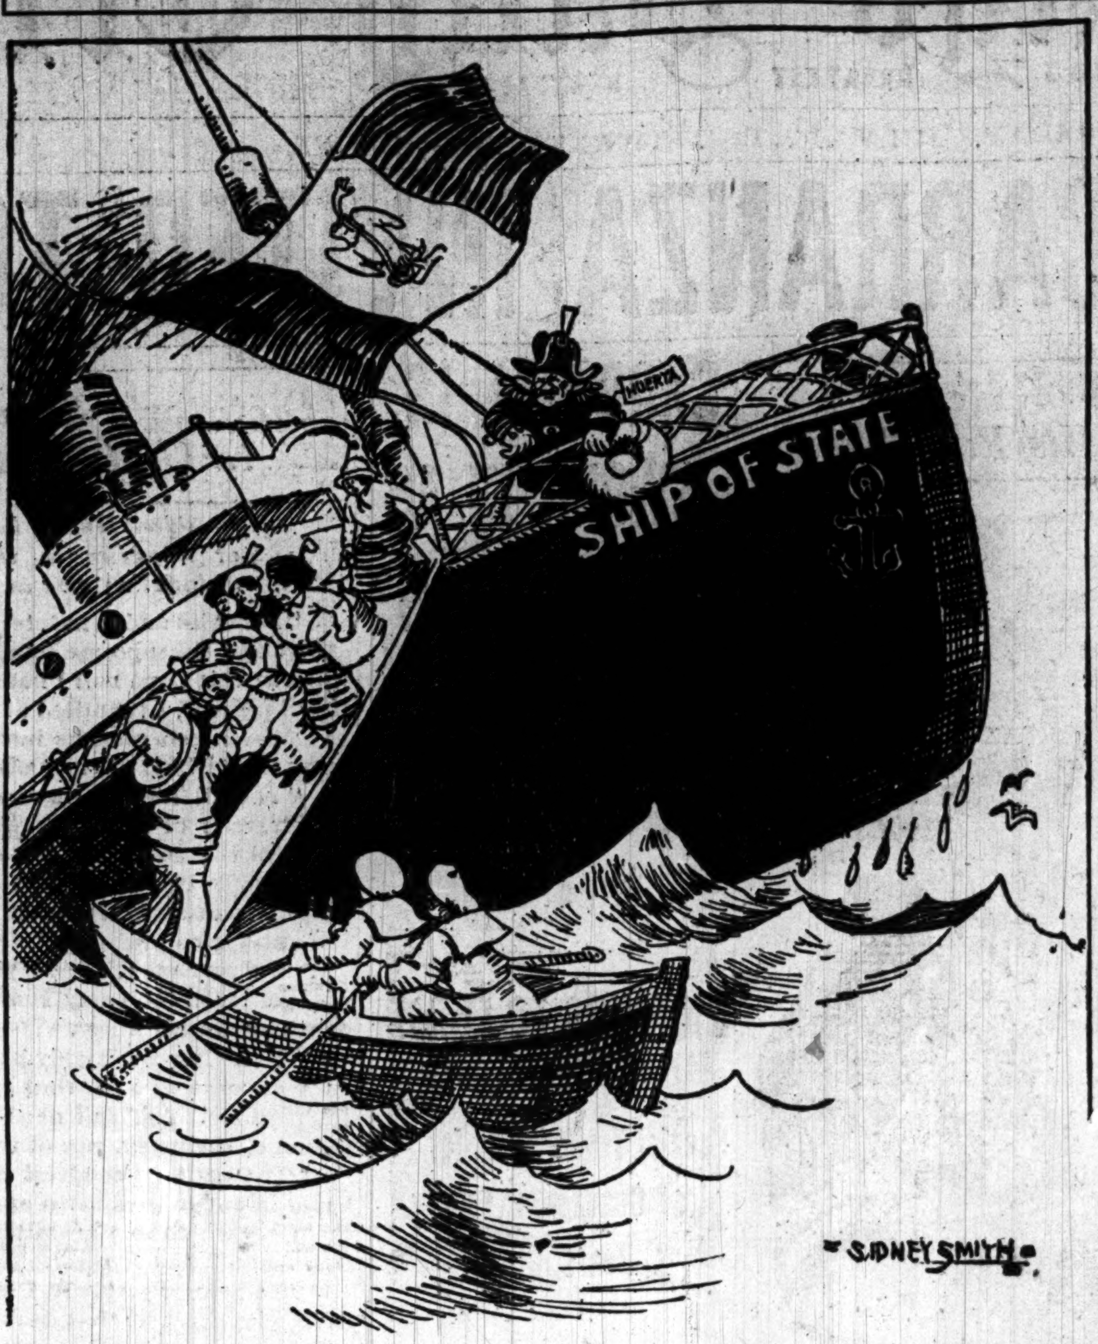
After arranging for the quashing of the quarrel resulting from the Tampico incident the mediators endeavored to arrange with Constitutionalists for a conference on Mexican affairs, to which the Huerta representatives were agreeable.

With the Constitutionalists rapidly advancing southward, taking the principal cities, and the United States holding the principal port and source of revenue, Huerta's position rapidly became desperate.

Yet during the first week in July he went through the farce of holding elections, which were declared null because of the small number voting.

Finally, on July 11, he appointed Chief Justice Carbajal minister of foreign relations, and it was then understood that it was preparatory to his resignation of the presidency, so Carbajal might succeed him and make terms with the Constitutionalists.

HUERTA, THE CHIVALROUS: "WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST."



TELL OF BANISHMENT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, July 15. — Gen. Joaquin Maass and Gen. Mario Maass left with their families aboard the steamer Espagne at noon today for Key West. Joaquin Maass said before sailing that they had been banished. Joaquin was with his brigade at San Luis Potosi and Mario was filling the post of under secretary of commerce in Mexico when Joaquin received a telegram from Gen. Huerta reading:

"I hear disagreeable news about your mother and wife leaving the country. You may go also." Arriving at Mexico City he found a special train with the two families aboard and he was ordered to embark also. Arriving at Puerto Mexico he received telegraphic orders for Gen. Mario Maass to go to Germany and he himself to France on special missions.

Gen. Joaquin Maass said his troops had never been defeated by the revolutionists; that the revolutionists had mutilated their prisoners horribly and that the Federal officers had sworn to commit suicide before they would submit to being taken prisoners.

Querido Moheno, formerly Mexican secretary, who, with his family, also arrived here from Vera Cruz aboard the Espagne yesterday, did not sail today. He remained at the Hotel Moramar resting, but probably will proceed tomorrow.

DROWNED BOY PULLS WEEDS

Chum of John Sepracki, Reported Dead, Bets Police Latter Is "Living" in South Chicago.

Policemen who had been searching in vain for the body of John Sepracki, a 14 year old boy who disappeared from his home at 8300 Mackinaw avenue last Saturday, responded to a "hunch" yesterday and dragged 13 year old Anthony Zabock from a woodshed in the rear of his home at 3325 Buffalo avenue. Anthony had circulated rumors that the Sepracki boy was drowned. He confessed that John was still alive and was living in the alleys in South Chicago by stealing fruit and pulling weeds for farmers along the Calumet river at 25 cents a day.

Husband Who Abandoned Family and Went to Scotland Tells Court He'll Reform.

After deserting his wife and four children and taking a trip to Scotland, only to be arrested upon his return to Chicago, Thomas Graham, 6133 University avenue, believes he can return to his family and be happy. Graham appeared yesterday in the Court of Domestic Relations to answer to a charge of abandonment. It was agreed by Graham and his wife that they would attempt to mend matters, Judge Torrison giving them sixty days in which to do it.

Aged Man Called a Suicide.

John C. Johnson, 74 years old, committed suicide while temporarily insane, according to a coroner's jury, which held an inquest at the Norwegian Old People's home in Norwood Park yesterday. Johnson was found dead in bed on Friday. A gas jet was open.

Career of Victoriano Huerta.

ONCE intended by old Porfirio to be a second Diaz in Mexico, now, like his former chief, a fugitive from the wrath of his compatriots, Victoriano Huerta sees himself at 60 forced to resign the presidency of his country. He will, it is believed, go to Europe, where, like other Latin American presidents, he will end his days with little enjoyment save that of reminiscence.

Huerta was born to wealth. Unlike Diaz, who is of plebeian origin, a mongrel, mostly Indian, Huerta comes of one of the most aristocratic families in Mexico.

He was born in Chihuahua, with which tate the Huertas have long been identified, in 1854, or 1857, reports differ. At the age of 17 the aristocrat was appointed by Diaz, then ruling Mexico with an iron hand, to the military school of Chapultepec.

Huerta served his four school years passably well. He was neither at the head nor the foot of his class. He was graduated with honors, being about the tenth in a class of nearly a hundred, and immediately went to join a regiment on the west coast as a second lieutenant of engineers.

When President Diaz began his reorganization of the Mexican army Huerta was promoted captain of engineers, and while holding this rank devised the plan for a Mexican general staff corps. He was an active member of the military map commission created to draft a staff map of Mexico on a large scale, and he had charge of all the astronomical work of the commission, leading exploring and surveying parties over the wildest regions of the republic.

President Diaz soon after began to place confidence in Huerta. He believed he saw in the lieutenant colonel of engineers, to which rank the soldier had succeeded, traits which would make him a worthy successor in the executive chair. Huerta was placed in charge of a station in Matanzas, far removed from the capital. There plots could easily be hatched, and Diaz was loath to leave in charge any officer in whom he had not implicit trust.

Huerta was barely 35 when this incident occurred. One afternoon while he was riding with an escort of but three men through a mountain pass in the vicinity of his station, six or seven masked men stepped from the roadside and covered his little party. Naturally they threw up their hands.

The highwaymen proved to be members of the band of Flores Zegaza, the bandit who kept the community on the feather edge. It was his habit to descend on the towns along the coast and levy toll whenever hunger or caprice impelled him to do so. Huerta soon stood in front of Zegaza's hut, an adobe dwelling, much dilapidated, far up the mountain.

There Zegaza made the proposition which was not at all unusual in Mexico then, and which is, in fact, quite the vogue today. He proposed that Huerta should keep him informed as to the days when the military force would be marching a direction opposite from the town.

On such days Zegaza would make it a point to call, with his followers, and collect from the natives such stores of money and clothes and food and wine and tobacco as had accumulated since the last visit.

Zegaza was not at all surprised to have Huerta accept his proposition to receive in return for the promised information a share of whatever loot fell to the bandits.

Ten days later Huerta sent word to Zegaza that he would be away from the station on the following Thursday.

Promptly on Thursday the bandits rode into Matanzas, confident there would be no opposition except from the sporadic popguns of the overfrightened storekeepers. As they turned into the main street, discharging their revolvers to frighten every one away, a squad of Huerta's soldiers closed in on their rear and another squad appeared in their front.

A number of Zegaza's men were killed in the street. The remainder, with the bandit chief himself, surrendered. A week later Zagaza was shot in the cuartel of the prison attached to the station.

Huerta is no drawing room soldier. He has seen much active service. In 1901 he took command of the infantry in the campaign against the Yaqui Indians. After this campaign he was again put in charge of the general staff's topographical work in Sonora. He participated in subsequent Yaqui campaigns and also in the campaign in Yucatan against the Maya Indians.

As a reward for his Indian service Huerta was given the rank of brigadier general and once more detailed to the general staff.

Huerta commanded all the detached government forces in the state of Guerrero at the beginning of the Madero revolution. When Madero acceded to the presidency, Gen. Huerta was sent back into Morelos with a force to put down the Zapata rebellion. As a result of ill feeling growing out of this campaign, Huerta was recalled. Subsequently he led the army sent against Orozco, and was in command at the battle of Bachimba. For this service he was promoted to major general.

In the second Felix Diaz revolution, which resulted in the overthrow of the Madero government, Huerta was immediately called to active command as the senior ranking general than in the capital. He escorted Madero from Chapultepec castle to the palace on the first of the ten days' fighting and was placed in entire command of the forces of the government. He directed the government troops during all the subsequent fighting, and the conduct of these operations led to severe criticism on the part of Madero's friends.

It was charged that he did not carry out the operations with any spirt and that he disobeyed the commands of President Madero. It is said that before Blanquet entered the city the generals had a conference at which the fate of the Maderos was sealed.

Huerta was the moving spirit in the consummation of the plot that resulted in the seizure of the person of President Madero, his brother, Gustave, and Vice President José Pino Suarez. The assassinations of the Haderos and Suarez followed, and in the meantime Huerta, with the military behind him, had been recognized as the provisional president.

Huerta at once sought recognition of the United States, for it is understood in Latin-American countries that none of their presidents can hold office long without being recognized by the American government. President Wilson, however, refused to treat Huerta as chief executive of Mexico.

In the meantime Gen. Carranza, the successor of Madero in the dream of a justly governed Mexico, was winning over the north. His military commander, Gen. Villa, repeatedly defeated the federal forces. Practically all of the north came under the Constitutionalist sway. In the south Zapata held out against Huerta.

Then the United States came down upon him, seizing the city of Vera Cruz as a result of an affront to the Stars and Stripes. Mediation at the instance of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile followed with no satisfactory results.

Now Huerta, seeing that his cause is lost, has given up the fight.

CARBAJAL NOTED AS ABLE JURIST

Huerta's Successor Has Engaged Little in Mexican Politics.

REBELS HOLD ALOOF.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Francisco Carbajal, recently appointed minister of foreign relations in the Huerta cabinet, and who, under the Mexican constitution, succeeds to the presidency with the retirement of Gen. Huerta, is one of the most distinguished lawyers and jurists of Mexico.

He has never engaged in political affairs in Mexico, adhering strictly to the practice of his profession and his duties on the bench. At the time of his appointment to the foreign ministry, Señor Carbajal was chief justice of the Supreme court of Mexico, a position which he had held previously, as a new chief justice is chosen from among the members of the Supreme bench every year. He is a native of the state of Campeche.

Acted as Peace Emissary.

In May, 1911, Señor Carbajal was the head of the peace commission sent by President Diaz to confer with Francisco Madero at Juarez for the purpose of arranging for the abdication of Don Porfirio. Now for the second time he is called upon to act as a go-between for the old and the new, the established government and the revolutionaries.

Señor Carbajal is credited with leanings toward the avowed purposes of the Constitutionalist movement. It was because of this reputed sympathy with the revolutionists, it was reported from Mexico City last week, that Carbajal was chosen by Huerta to head the Federal government during the period necessarily elapsing between his own retirement and the taking over of the capital by the Constitutionalists.

Not Acceptable to Rebels.

Agents of the revolutionists here tonight asserted that Carbajal was one of two judges of the Supreme court who refused to sign a report declaring Huerta's accession to the presidency legal.

The Constitutionalists speak favorably of Señor Carbajal as a man of high character, ability, and personal integrity. They refuse to accept him, however, not on personal grounds, but because, they say, they must make a clean sweep in the capital and not build at all on the wreck of the Huerta government. To accept continuity of power from Carbajal, Constitutionalists assert, would imply the legalization of all of Huerta's acts. This is contrary to their intentions.

REPORT CN NEW HAVEN HELD UNFAIR BY MORGAN.

Financier Brands Findings of Commerce Commission "Insinuations" —Declines to Make Defense.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—"O, don't talk to me about apealing to the public. I'm done."

The speaker was J. Pierpont Morgan, head of the old Wall street firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The subject was the New Haven railroad and the report issued on Monday by the interstate commerce commission condemning the policy carried out by Mr. Morgan and Charles S. Mellen in the last decade of that road's history.

The place was the office of Mr. Morgan and his interrogator was a reporter, who suggested that the people of the country might like to hear from the men accused.

"Well, I've no answer to make to it," Mr. Morgan replied.

"Well, Mr. Morgan, won't you briefly survey the record of the New Haven, under the so-called Morgan-Mellen régime, and say why from your standpoint every act was justified? Don't you believe that the people of Massachusetts and New England will make a fair decision?"

"No, I do not," came the quick response. "I've lost all hope of receiving fair consideration from the people of Massachusetts. I don't propose to reply to these insinuations of the commission and the newspapers. I won't undertake to champion my own honesty."

GLEASON FINDS "LEVEE" IS REAL; SAYS IT MUST GO

Chief Asserts Badlands Will Be Raided Until Empty.

HE GETS QUITE CHATTY

It's war to the death between the police and the outlaws of viceland in the old south side levee—also it's a united, harmonious police department.

That was the announcement of Chief James Gleason last night following a series of conferences with Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser, second deputy.

The chief did not come bursting forth with the announcement; he just admitted it. A reporter for THE TRIBUNE called the chief at his home.

The chief economized his words like a man writing a cable home from Singapore at the day rate.

"It is said that you and Maj. Funkhouser had a conference on the south side vice problem today?"

Never Said There Wasn't.

"Yes," said the chief.

"Did you?"

"Yes."

"What did you decide to do?"

"We took up matters that came up."

"What came up, chief?"

"The work on the south side."

"You are quoted in a story sent out by the City News bureau as saying that 'there will be no so-called redlight district in a very short time'—did you?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever admit before that there was a redlight district?"

"I never said there wasn't."

"That being true—either that there is or there wasn't—what is being done now down there?"

"We are cleaning up what there is there."

The chief was beginning to get in the game and enjoy himself, too.

Chief Warms Up.

"Also you are quoted as remarking that Maj. Funkhouser and his men are doing splendid work in wiping out the district. If he needs more men to carry on his work he can have as many as he asks for."

"And he can, too." The chief was growing enthusiastic.

Then a wonderful thing happened. Chief Gleason took the lead and volunteered a few words.

"I have a conference about the affairs of the department every day with the first and second deputies," he remarked with an air of rare patience.

"We are working together as one man, a united department. There are no differences between the chief and his second deputy like the press is trying to make out.

"It would be a good thing if the papers would quit making the policemen believe that their chief and the deputy were not getting along. We are and we are all working together."

The chief paused for breath.

"What is being done in the so-called alleged vice district of the Twenty-second street region?"

Raids? Lots of 'Em.

"Why Maj. Funkhouser has men there and men from my office get down there, too, and then Capt. Ryan and Lieut. Grady are working there too."

"Anything special on in the raid line this evening?"

"There'll be raids just as fast as we find anything to raid, you can depend on that," rejoined the chief. He recited a few names like White's, formerly Roy Jones; the Cadillac, and Jordan's to give force and color to his remarks.

"They can't stand the heavy fines long. It'll beat them out finally.

"I haven't noticed any very heavy reports about Capt. Ryan's vice raids," suggested the reporter.

The "Last Stand."

"Well, they're making them right along," the chief insisted.

"Of course we've got to keep at it."

"I imply that you hold that the vice traffickers are making a sort of 'last stand' in the old Twenty-second street levee district," suggested the reporter.

"That's it."

Chief Asserts Badlands Will Be Raided Until Empty.

HE GETS QUITE CHATTY

It's war to the death between the police and the outlaws of viceland in the old south side levee—also it's a united, harmonious police department.

That was the announcement of Chief James Gleason last night following a series of conferences with Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser, second deputy.

The chief did not come bursting forth with the announcement; he just admitted it. A reporter for THE TRIBUNE called the chief at his home.

The chief economized his words like a man writing a cable home from Singapore at the day rate.

"It is said that you and Maj. Funkhouser had a conference on the south side vice problem today?"

Never Said There Wasn't.

"Yes," said the chief.

"Did you?"

"Yes."

"What did you decide to do?"

"We took up matters that came up."

"What came up, chief?"

"The work on the south side."

"You are quoted in a story sent out by the City News bureau as saying that 'there will be no so-called redlight district in a very short time'—did you?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever admit before that there was a redlight district?"

"I never said there wasn't."

"That being true—either that there is or there wasn't—what is being done now down there?"

"We are cleaning up what there is there."

The chief was beginning to get in the game and enjoy himself, too.

Chief Warms Up.

"Also you are quoted a sremarking that Maj. Funkhouser and his men are doing splendid work in wiping out the district. If he needs more men to carry on his work he can have as many as he asks for."

"And he can, too." The chief was growing enthusiastic.

Then a wonderful thing happened. Chief Gleason took the lead and volunteered a few words.

"I have a conference about the affairs of the department every day with the first and second deputies," he remarked with an air of rare patience.

"We are working together as one man, a united department. There are no differences between the chief and his second deputy like the press is trying to make out.

"It would be a good thing if the papers would quit making the policemen believe that their chief and the deputy were not getting along. We are and we are all working together."

The chief paused for breath.

"What is being done in the so-called, alleged vice district of the Twenty-second street region?"

Raids? Lots of 'Em.

"Why Maj. Funkhouser has men there and men from my office get down there, too, and then Capt. Ryan and Lieut. Grady are working there too."

"Anything special on in the raid line this evening?"

"There'll be raids just as fast as we find anything to raid, you can depend on that," rejoined the chief. He recited a few names like White's, formerly Roy Jones; the Cadillac, and Jordan's to give force and color to his remarks.

"They can't stand the heavy fines long. It'll beat them out finally.

"I haven't noticed any very heavy reports about Capt. Ryan's vice raids," suggested the reporter.

The "Last Stand."

"Well, they're making them right along," the chief insisted.

"Of course we've got to keep at it."

"I imply that you hold that the vice traffickers are making a sort of 'last stand' in the old Twenty-second street levee district," suggested the reporter.

"That's it."

HOYNE GETS INJUNCTION IN FUND TRANSFER FIGHT.

President McCormick of County Board Loses and Is Glad Because All Moneys Will Be Held Intact.

State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne was granted an injunction yesterday against County Treasurer O'Connell by Judge Thomas G. Windes, restraining the diversion of $3,300 from the state's attorney special funds to the board of assessors' extra help fund, as authorized by a county board resolution. President A. A. McCormick of the county board gave Mr. O'Connell his personal check to secure the county treasurer, and he will lose this amount unless the board pays it.

"The effect of the injunction will be," said Hoyne, "to hold intact the special fund which was appropriated for my use. If Mr. McCormick paid out $3,300 of his own money to the clerks in the assessor's office, that's his affair. It's up to him to recover."

BUSSE GAVE AWAY HIS ALL

Went to Grave Poor Man Because of His Generosity.

NEVER SAVED A PENNY.

Farm and Life Insurance Said to Be Incumbered.

Fred A. Busse went to his grave a poor man, according to his close friends. For himself he saved practically nothing out of his income, save the farm out at Fox lake, which is said to be incumbered. His life insurance is said to be incumbered also.

The family yesterday was unable to find a will. Whether he left one they were unable to say at night.

Col. Milton J. Foreman, lifelong friend of the former mayor, has been placed in charge of the estate by the heirs pending the naming of an administrator. Col. Foreman would not talk yesterday. A statement, however, may be prepared and made public today.

He Never Saved.

One of Mr. Busse's closest friends, who enjoyed his confidence perhaps to a greater degree than any other man in Chicago, said he believed the former mayor left virtually nothing.

"Mr. Busse was a good business man," he said. "He was a shrewd manager and knew how to make money. But he never saved. That was not in him. I am not overstating the case when I say he used to give away on an average of $50 a day for days at a time.

"After he was elected mayor this side of his character was disclosed to us almost daily. It was impossible to give everybody a job. Many of those who were left out in the cold were old friends and needed the position for the salary. Busse tried sincerely to name only competent and efficient men for places in the city service, or at least men he so considered. I know that he wanted to give Chicago the best administration possible.

Gave Away Salary.

"I don't believe Busse saved a dollar of his $72,000 of salary during the four years of his term as mayor. I am convinced he gave nearly all of it away to unfortunate and poor people and deserving charities.

"He never seemed to look ahead to his old age or to the possibility of his sudden death. He never seemed to think that one day he might give out, but on the contrary went along each day as if there would be no change, making money for others, making money, for that matter, for himself, but—giving it away.

"He couldn't help it. The man in hard luck whom he thought half way deserving could have had his coat. And that is about all he had left when the summons came.

Was a Poor Boy.

"The farm up at Fox lake is incumbered, perhaps not a great deal. Unless it was fixed up recently, I know that his life insurance was involved."

CLERKS GET HALF HOLIDAY.

South Evanston Merchants Agree to Thursday Afternoon "Off" Throughout Year.

Starting today, twenty-one storekeepers of South Evanston will grant their employés a half holiday each Thursday afternoon throughout the year. Last year Evanston storekeepers agreed to give their employés a half holiday each Thursday in July and August. Several weeks ago W. H. Cook, a south end merchant, started the petition which resulted in the agreement.

Boy Drowned When Swimming.

Edward McNamara, 14 years old, 3337 South Seeley avenue, was drowned yesterday when swimming in a lagoon at McKinley park, West Thirty-seventh and South Robey streets. His body was recovered by Lester Pollock, 3905 Calumet avenue, a life saver stationed at the park.

FORGER GLAD OF ARREST

"Enjoyed My Vacation," Says Parole Violator.

OLD TIME BALL PLAYER.

Albert Gear Asserts Love of Luxury Caused Downfall.

Paroled from the Joliet penitentiary two months ago, where he served seven years for forgery, Albert Gear, alias Bates, again is in custody. He admitted last night to Detective Lieut. Larkin that during his brief liberty he has procured between $1,500 and $2,000 by means of forged checks.

"But I didn't do any work in Chicago," he insisted. "I had too much respect for the man to whom I was paroled to lay down any bum checks here. I was of the impression that my parole was fixed with the prison authorities, but it seems I was mistaken."

Once Famous Ball Player.

When taken to the cellroom at the detective bureau, Bates was recognized by Tony Mullane, lockup keeper, as Albert Gear, a former professional baseball player. Thirty years ago he played shortstop with the Cincinnati Reds, when Mullane was the crack twirler of that period.

"It's no use, lieutenant, trying to be on the square," said the gray haired forger. "I've reached that point in life where my legitimate earning capacity is less than $10 a week. With me it's a case of having a beer income and a champagne appetite.

He Likes the Very Best.

"I like to travel and live at the swell hotels. A cold bottle and a bird is a gentleman's dinner. I like that kind of stuff. It takes money to travel in style, and there is no easier way in the world to get the coin than to lay down bum paper. You've got to stop at first class hotels and wear good togs. If you don't make a front you can't get away with it."

POLICEMAN DISMISSED FOR "BORROWING" CITY AUTO.

Trial Board Finds Patrolman Case Took Car from Repair Shop for Fourteen Hour Spin.

For taking a ride in one of the city's automobiles Policeman Thomas W. Case of the Hudson avenue station was dismissed from the force yesterday by the civil service trial board.

According to the evidence, Case "borrowed" the motor car from the police repair shops at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and returned it at 5 o'clock the next morning. He was accompanied by Policeman Israel S. Morris of the South Englewood station.

Policeman James J. Doyle of the Fillmore street station also was discharged for shooting Patrolman John J. Maly in the shoulder. The two became engaged in a quarrel June 17. Maly was fined fifteen days' pay.

HUBBY SMASHES WIFE'S HAT

And Mrs. Louis A. Kurzman Retaliates with Suit for Divorce and Alimony.

June 1 last was a stormy day in the household of Louis A. Kurzman, western manager of the New York Woolen mills, according to a bill for divorce filed yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Hortense N. Kurzman. On that day, Mrs. Kurzman charges, her husband tore up one of her hats. Not satisfied with having destroyed her favorite millinery creation, she says, he fought a hand to hand battle with her for possession of the key to her closet in order to wreck the rest of her wardrobe. She asks custody of her 4 year old son, and alimony. She asserts that her husband receives $100 a week salary.

O. K.'S GRANT PARK GARAGE

Park Board Agrees to Leaving Autos on Public Space.

WILL RELIEVE TRAFFIC.

New Approaches to I. C. Bridge Will Be Constructed.

Partial solution of the congested automobile traffic in the downtown section of the city was offered yesterday by the South park commissioners at their meeting when they announced that automobiles will be parked in the outer portion of Grant park beyond the new Monroe street viaduct.

The board agreed to have approaches made to the new bridge built by the Illinois Central railroad at Monroe street, and owners of automobiles spending time downtown may drive across the bridge into Grant park and leave their cars there.

Park Police to Patrol "Garage."

Policemen from the south park system will patrol the "garage" and every aid will be extended to automobilists using the place. Capt. Charles C. Healey, in charge of the traffic division of the city police, appeared before the commissioners with a request that the commissioners aid in relieving the congestion in the loop district by allowing automobiles to be parked in Grant park.

Capt. Healey requested that a portion of Grant park be set aside for this purpose, but the tract that he wanted to use is to be improved and plans have already been prepared for it.

New Approach to Be Built.

Capt. Healey was told that the commissioners would see that an approach was made over the Monroe street bridge and his men could direct automobiles to use it and leave their cars in Grant park.

With the Monroe street bridge giving a second entrance into the park, the other being the Van Buren street bridge, the commissioners think that the automobilists can use the portion of Grant park set aside for them to a great advantage.

DRAG LAKE IN VAIN FOR BODIES OF SURF VICTIMS.

Police Unable to Find Miss Florence Jordan or Nathan Marcin, Who Were Drowned on Tuesday.

A police boat dragged the lake off Ainslie beach for hours yesterday in an ineffectual attempt to recover the bodies of Miss Florence Jordan of 4922 Winthrop avenue and Nathan Marcin of 1234 Argyle street, who were drowned while bathing in the heavy surf Tuesday evening.

The heavy sea, in the opinion of the boatmen, may have drifted sand over the bodies, or they may have been carried out into the "down lake" current which sweeps southward along the Illinois coast.

Capt. Charles Carland of the government life saving station at the mouth of the Chicago river yesterday again urged that a station be established at Lincoln park.

RESISTS ARMED ROBBERS AND IS BRUTALLY BEATEN.

Druggist Ordered at Revolver's Point to Give Up Money Fights and Is Knocked Unconscious.

Christof Neubert, a druggist, 1102 West Van Buren street, was beaten and kicked so severely by two of three robbers early last evening while fighting them off after he had been ordered at the point of revolvers to open the cash register that he had to be taken to a hospital.

Neubert knocked down one of the men and was then beaten into unconsciousness and left for dead by the robbers. The two men who had entered the drug store fled after being warned by the whistle of their "lookout" of the approach of Detective Sergeant Michael Garry. The latter fired two shots at them before they escaped into an alley.

THIS IS THE LIFE, SAY BABY CHUMS

Four Year Olds Set Fire to Flat and Cut Off a Cat's Tail.

POUR OIL ON AUTO SEAT.

"Boys will be boys."—Ancient axiomatic adage.

Up in Edgewater, where the lake meets the city and cliff like ranks of apartments rise along the shore, are two 4 year old pals, Joe Bechtol of 828 Lafayette parkway and Emil Vanderbrock, who lives across the street at 841.

This summer the pals have found a great deal to do and they have thought of a great deal yet to be done. What they have achieved thus far leaves the once classic "Peck's Bad Boy" relatively a halo crowned cherub.

Last night they achieved the height of their desire with the prankiest prank of them all. After which they had their baths and went to bed very, very early.

Like every great success, this crowning achievement of Joe and Emil's was accomplished by ascending stages of attainment.

So it may not be amiss to chronicle here that they have found that an armful of rocks, thoughtfully applied, will break a lot of windows, and that a well aimed brick will stop a fight before it starts, and that sticky flypaper on the rug will make even a brave man swear.

Such a Lovely Bang!

One might also mention the time they commandeered an auto truck, found the right lever, and careened down to the water's edge before the driver's flying leap saved the car.

It might not be interpreted as prejudicial to repeat the neighbor's story about the time they poured the oil on the upholstery of the doctor's automobile, or how the chums found that a broken milk bottle under an auto tire produces a lovely bang.

Then there is that matter of the time the black cat's tail was cut off, against the will of the cat, it is said. Also a veracious account calls for mention of the time the fire was pulled from the basement water heater and the coals were strewn on the lawn.

Wriggle with Delight.

That brings up the subject of fire and how the boys have been conducting certain researches with matches and loose paper. The other day they did pretty well with a bonfire in an areaway. It demonstrated that there were greater things yet to be done.

Last night flames flared up in the basement of the three story apartment building at 849 Lafayette parkway. Two little boys scurried up the steps and took up their station across the street.

"Clang, clang." And the fire engines rattled down the street with joyous din. The boys wriggled with delight.

Smoke belched out of the apartment building and flames cut through, illuminating the first floor rooms above the basement. It was the apartment of E. E. Nabinger and nobody was at home.

A woman came tumbling down the stairway and fell on a landing. Mrs. W. P. Blue, occupant of the second floor apartment, was carried out and resuscitated.

"Some fire."

Insurance Just Expired.

When the fire was out and the loss was counted the Nabinger apartment, on which the insurance expired last Monday, was damaged $1,000 worth, and two other flats had been damaged to the extent of about $1,500, covered by insurance.

John O. Seys of 845 Lafayette parkway came upon the two chums.

"Now tell me just how did the fire start—might want to do it again some day, you know," he suggested.

The boys took him into a basement and piled up papers and boxes.

IT'S WHISKY VS. CRAMP CURE

Police Sergeant Says He Bought "Booze" from William Bennett—Medicine, Says William.

William Bennett sells things to drink at East One Hundred and Thirty-first street and Wolf lake. Sergt. Charles Jamison of the East Side station testified in South Chicago court yesterday that he had asked for whisky and got it. Bennett said the policeman asked for cramp medicine and got it. The case was continued.

SUSPECT AX VICTIM'S SON

Stain on Shoe of Jacob Mislich Arouses Suspicion.

HAD BEEN DYED BLACK.

If Proven Blood Mark, Crime May Be Solved.

A ray of sunlight streaming in through the window of the Blue Island council chamber yesterday cast a shadow of suspicion upon Jacob Mislich, son of the aged couple, who, together with their daughter and grandchild, were slain with an ax a week ago Sunday.

The sunlight fell across Jacob Mislich's shoes. Coroner Peter M. Hoffman, who was presiding at the inquest, glanced curiously at a small spot on one of the shoes, whispered to City Attorney Mathews of the suburb, and stopped the inquest. Mislich was summoned into an anteroom.

"We want to look at your shoes," said the coroner.

Mislich started, seemed to hesitate, and then removed his shoes. They were tan shoes and had been dyed recently.

Dyed Last Monday.

"When were they died?" asked the coroner.

"On Monday of last week."

"Why?"

"I didn't want to wear tan shoes at the funeral."

The coroner obtained a microscope and examined a small spot which showed red indistinctly beneath the dye. Attorney Mathews expressed the belief that it was a blood stain. Coroner Hoffman continued the inquest in order that an analysis of the stain might be made by a chemist.

Visit Scene of Crime.

Previous to the inquest the coroner, accompanied by Mayor J. Jones and several detectives, went over the scene of the crime. Then Jacob Mislich and his brother, Valentine, were questioned. Suspicion was first directed at Jacob Mislich when he told a story regarding the ownership of the ax which conflicted with that told by his brother and a neighbor of the Mislichs.

Conflicting statements regarding the ownership of the ax with which Jacob Mislich, his wife, daughter, and grandchild were murdered in Blue Island a week ago last Sunday, yesterday caused a shadow of suspicion to fall upon Jacob Mislich, son of the aged victims.

"WITHIN YEAR" MARRIAGE BLOCKS ANOTHER DIVORCE.

Mrs. Maude Lupe, Who Wed Five Months After Decree from First, Refused Release from Second.

Another case where a divorce is sought on the grounds that the marriage took place within a year after a previous legal separation was thrown out of the Circuit court yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Maude M. Lupe appeared before Judge McGoorty to try her suit against Frank Lupe, to whom she was married on Oct. 3, 1911, in Crown Point, Ind., five months after she had received her decree from Lawrence J. Kirk, her first husband.

"You must come into a court of equity with clean hands," said Judge McGoorty, "and to violate the divorce laws and to seek another divorce by virtue of that violation is not coming into court with clean hands. I shall dismiss this bill."

On similar grounds Mrs. Marjorie Hamilton Kerting Cunningham, the "Calendar girl," was denied a divorce on Tuesday.

Arrested as White Slaver.

Isadore Trendler was arrested yesterday by federal officials on a charge of violating the Mann act by bringing Laura Landis from Pittsburgh to place her in a West Side resort.

MOOSE TO TAKE FIGHT TO ENEMY

Select Champaign, Home of W. B. McKinley, as State Convention City.

NEAR CANNON DISTRICT

The Progressive state committee yesterday took the first step in the "dramatization of the Illinois campaign," as the leaders put it, in selecting Champaign as the place for holding the state convention Sept. 18.

This is the home town of former Congressman William B. McKinley, one of the engineers of the steam roller in the Republican national convention in 1912 and subsequently Mr. Taft's campaign manager. It also is but thirty-seven miles' distant from Danville, home city of "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

McKinley and Cannon have both entered the race for nomination for congress in their respective districts. The Progressive leaders plan to make these two the "horrible examples" of the standpat forces in Illinois.

McKinley's Home to Be Invaded.

Accordingly they will release the first reel in McKinley's home town with a state convention that promises, they assert, to be not only a big demonstration but memorable in Illinois history.

Moose leaders of national prominence are to be imported to help tell the story of McKinley's activities in the 1912 convention. John M. Parker of Louisiana, who has jumped over the old party traces and is now leading the Progressive movement in the far south land, is coming up with a whole train load of spellbinders to report on the "tidal wave" that is sweeping Louisiana.

McCormick Elected Chairman.

Medill McCormick was elected chairman of the state committee to succeed Raymond Robins, who retires from the active management to become the party's candidate for United States senator.

The basis of representation was fixed at one delegates for every 400 votes or major fraction thereof cast for Frank H. Funk in 1912. This will provide approximately 750 delegates and as many more alternates for the state meet.

It was announced in the conference that county, legislative, and congressional tickets will be in the field in every district in the state, as well as a full state ticket. At least one candidate for the general assembly will be nominated in each legislative district, and probably two in the Forty-first district.

Robins to Head Ticket.

Raymond Robins will head the ticket for United States senator. Louis E. Pavey of Mount Vernon, son of the late Gen. C. E. Pavey, a former state auditor of Illinois, will be unopposed in the primary for state treasurer.

There are three candidates now in the field for the nomination for congressmen at large. They are H. L. Herr, Rockford; Dr. George M. Kreider, Springfield, and Fred S. Wilbur, East St. Louis.

Miss Mary Steagall of Carbondale is unopposed for the nomination for state superintendent of public instruction.

All congressional districts of the state were represented yesterday except the Ninth and Twelfth. Those answering to the roll call were:

MORE SLATES NEAR FILING

"Antis" and Moose Tickets for Primaries Nearly Complete.

WILL BE FINISHED TODAY.

"Divorce Politics from Public Funds," Say G. O. P. Insurgents.

Both the Citizens' and the Progressive party county slates will be ready for filing with County Clerk Sweitzer tomorrow.

There are a few places on each slate yet to be filled, and these will be disposed of today, according to the announcement of the slatemakers last night.

The insurgent Republicans will have a complete slate, including candidates for Municipal court judges. These, however, will not be filed until Aug. 10, the first day for filing judicial slates.

These Candidates Already Picked.

Among the candidates already slated by the insurgents are:

PRESIDENT OF COUNTY BOARD—Alexander A. McCormick.

PROBATE JUDGE—Oscar M. Torrison.

COUNTY JUDGE—Henry C. Beitler.

SHERIFF—Earl O'Neil.

COUNTY CLERK—James H. Lawley.

ASSESSOR—Charles D. Richards, former president of the real estate board.

SANITARY DISTRICT TRUSTEES—Representative Edward T. Farrar and Nicholas Auw.

The candidates for treasurer and member of the board of review have not yet been decided upon definitely. These selections will be made today.

Public Funds to Be Big Issue.

"Our slogan will be, 'divorce politics from public funds,'" said Former Ald. Bernard W. Snow, chairman of the subcommittee that is preparing the tentative slate. "We believe that will be the big issue in the coming campaign, and for that reason we will try to present to the voters of Cook county candidates for president of the county board, assessors, county treasurer, and board of review who can be relied upon to represent unselfishly the interests of the taxpayers.

"Our candidate for county treasurer will run on a pledge to return to Cook county not a part of the interest earned on public funds but ALL the interest earned of whatever kind."

The tentative slate will be submitted to the general convention for ratification before being filed.

FIGHT FOR JONES TEST OF WILSON

FOES WIN VICTORY.

plain that they do not like to oppose the president on this question, but that they cannot risk the support of Jones on account of the unpopularity of the harvester corporation in their states.

Mr. Jones' testimony before the senate committee which was made public today was published in THE TRIBUNE last Friday. The adverse report submitted by the majority of the committee reviews the history of the International Harvester company in detail.

It analyzes the formation of the combine, paying particular attention to the circumstances surrounding the acquirement of the Osborne company and dwells on the huge profits of the concern and the $20,000,000 stock dividend which was declared upon one occasion.

Says Jones Approved Acts.

The report asserts that Mr. Jones in his testimony expressed approval of the formation of the company as well as its acts and practices after he became a director in 1909. It quotes from the proceedings in the Harvester dissolution suit in the endeavor to show that the practices of the corporation subsequent to 1909 were as much in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law as were the practices before that time.

In the effort to establish the contention that Mr. Jones acquesced in the continuation of the monopoly after 1909 the report states that the profits of the corporation in 1908 were $4,000,000, in 1909 $8,000,000, and in 1911 $16,000,000. It is argued that these enormous profits were produced by monopoly practices, and that these policies did not reach their full fruition until several years after Mr. Jones became a director. The report also deals with the alleged methods by which the harvester company put its competitors out of business one after another.

"Not Stock, but Principle."

The argument that Mr. Jones had no vital interest in the company because he holds only one share of stock is met by the majority of the committee with the contention that the infinitesimal interest does not affect the moral principle involved in participating in the maintenance of a monopoly in defiance of the law. It is asserted that Mr. Jones is just as much to blame in this respect as are the stockholders owning thousands of share.

Then the report takes up the New Jersey Zinc company, of which Mr. Jones is a director. It states that the appointee and his brother participated in forming this combination, known as the zinc trust, their interest amounting to $900,000, on which 50 per cent dividends are paid.

The report says that Mr. Jones in his testimony admitted this corporation to be a trust, for it controls 85 per cent of the output of oxide of zinc, which is largely used in the manufacture of paints.

Holds He Was No Reformer.

The report criticises Mr. Jones adversely for having taken no steps to reform the character of the corporation following the decision of the Missouri Supreme court ousting the company from that state on the ground that it violated the anti-trust law.

It also scores him severely for opposing a voluntary dissolution of the company, as proposed by Attorney General Wickersham. He is accused of setting his own judgment above that of the officials charged with enforcement of the laws.

The majority of the committee says that it would be decidedly improper for Mr. Jones to assume a federal office while he is one of the directors of a company charged with violation of the law.

It is contended that should the pending civil suit to dissolve the Harvester trust be decided in favor of the government it then would be the duty of the administration to institute criminal prosecutions of the directors. In that event it would be embarrassing for the administration to seek the indictment of a man who is a member of the board managing the banking system.

Declared Not a Proper Person.

The report also presents the argument that it would be improper for a director of the harvester trust, with its ramifying influences in the financial world, to occupy a powerful position in the administration of the new banking law. It would arouse distrust, the majority says. Mr. Jones, it is stated, shows no inclination to resign his connection with the International or with the New Jersey Zinc company.

The currency law is framed, the report says, to put an end to the money trust. But doubt is expressed that Mr. Jones, occupying the position he does, would assist in breaking up the money trust as a member of the federal reserve board any more than he sought to disintegrate the harvester combine.

The banking and currency committee met to put into shape the reports to be submitted to the senate on the nomination. Senator Hitchcock, acting chairman, laid his report before the committee and an uproar ensued. Three of the Democrats who are supporting the president, declared the report written by Senator Hitchcock was too severe on Mr. Jones. These senators insisted that it amounted to a personal attack on him.

Mr. Hitchcock said his report would go into the senate today and that the minority could file their report at their convenience. This led to another disturbance and the suggestion was made that the chairman and majority were not observing the courtesies that usually prevail in committees.

Senator Gronna in Clash.

There were outcroppings of the Jones fight in the open session of the senate. In the morning hour Senator Gronna of North Dakota offered some petitions purporting to be in support of the confirmation of Mr. Jones, but the clerk had not read far before their ironical character became apparent and Senator Swanson raised the point of order that they related to an executive matter and should not be presented in open session.

Vice President Marshall sustained the point of order and Senator Gronna made an outcry, declaring that the plain people of the country had as much right to be heard in petitions to congress as the representatives of "big business," whose telegrams indorsing Jones and Warburg had been read before the senate.

IOWA REPUBLICANS SPURN DRY PLANK FOR PLATFORM.

Indorse Present Liquor Laws, However, and Urge Enforcement—Shaw Picked for Auditor.

Des Moines, Ia., July 15.—[Special.]—The prohibition forces lost their battle for the insertion of a plank favoring the resubmission of the prohibition question to a vote of the people at the Republican state convention here this afternoon. The convention, however, did adopt a plank indorsing the present liquor laws and commending their enforcement.

The feature of the day was the nomination of Frank S. Shaw of Tama for state auditor. Shaw, supported by the progressives, was nominated on the third ballot by a vote of 736 1-5, more than 200 above the majority needed. His nomination was then made unanimous.

Twenty-one planks were carried in the platform presented by the committee and indorsed by the convention. Among the more prominent ones were indorsement of women's suffrage, the equalization of tax burdens, the repeal of the nonpartisan judiciary law, and the shortening of the present state ballot.

COLONEL SHOWS WHITMAN NOTE

Roosevelt Gives Out Letter Which the Prosecutor Denies Writing.

DRAFT FLAILS BARNES.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 15.—[Special.]—Col. Roosevelt made public tonight the mysterious letter said to have been written by District Attorney Whitman, attacking Barnes and Murphy. He included in the letter a long and vehement attack on Mr. Whitman, pointing out that the letter was submitted to him by Charles H. Duell Jr.

The letter was presented to Col. Roosevelt as the rough draft of a letter that Mr. Whitman was to address to the Whitman Non-Partisan league as a means of clearing away all doubt that might exist in the minds of voters, and especially of Col. Roosevelt, that Mr. Whitman was secretly an adherent of Mr. Barnes.

Col. Roosevelt's statement also refers to his conferences with Duell, as the supposed agent of Mr. Whitman, seeking the colonel's indorsement of the district attorney as the non-partisan candidate for governor.

Whitman Denies Writing Letter.

According to Col. Roosevelt, the Whitman letter, signed "C. S. W.," was to be made public if Roosevelt would support Whitman, or at least refrain from attacking him.

Mr. Whitman denied yesterday that he had ever written such a letter. It was explained that the initials were not in Mr. Whitman's handwriting, having been affixed by some other person.

Col. Roosevelt's statement in part follows:

"Shortly after my return from Brazil, the latter part of May, Mr. Duell asked to see me on behalf of Mr. Whitman. Mr. Duell showed me a letter signed by Mr. Whitman and written to Mr. Duell. This letter was in effect as follows:

"'In line with our late talk I agree with you that the time is ripe for an alliance between the progressive Republicans and members of the national Progressive party, as well as of all other good citizens sharing their beliefs to rid the state of that kind of party control which in my opinion is mainly responsible for corrupt conditions. I am in favor of making up a ticket composed of men chosen solely by their fitness to occupy the high offices for which they are candidates.'

Statement Not Satisfactory.

"I told Mr. Duell that the platform outlined by Mr. Whitman in his letter was entirely satisfactory provided Mr. Whitman would state explicitly in writing that he was as hostile to Mr. Barnes as to Mr. Murphy and regarded the Barnes machine as being no less emphatically than the Murphy machine the enemy of decent and honest government in the state of New York. Mr. Duell assured me that he had Mr. Whitman's authority to promise that Mr. Whitman would immediately make his statement."

The statement then explains that Whitman issued a statement which was not satisfactory to Col. Roosevelt as proof of Whitman's hostility to Barnes. He says he expressed this opinion to Duell on his return from Europe, and as a result Duell returned a day or two later, said he had seen Whitman, and that the latter would issue another statement attacking Barnes by name.

Recites Draft of Letter.

"A little later, on July 3 or 4," continues the statement, "Mr. Duell forwarded to me through my son a rough draft copy of the letter to be addressed to Mr. Whitman by the committee of the Whitman Nonpartisan league and a rough draft copy of Mr. Whitman's proposed reply. Mr. Whitman's proposed reply said:

"'July 3, 1914.—To the Executive Committee, Non-Partisan Whitman League, New York.

"'Gentlemen: In answer to your letter of July —, 1914. . . . In order that there may be no further doubt and so that I may dispose once and for all of the absurd question that I am Barnes' choice for governor, I will state that I am and always have been absolutely against him and all that he stands for in politics. . . . I am against Mr. Barnes and shall oppose Mr. Barnes; I am against Mr. Murphy and shall oppose Mr. Murphy—both of them to the bitter end. Decent government in this state must be restored.'"

Says Roosevelt Will "Stick."

Ottawa, Ill., July 15.—Col. Roosevelt will not be the Republican candidate for president in 1916, but will head the Progressive ticket if he lives, according to W. H. Hinebaugh, chairman of the Progressive congressional campaign committee, in an address here today.

"I have talked with him three times since he returned from the South American jungle," said Mr. Hinebaugh. "Two weeks ago he told me he was in the Progressive fight to stay."

BATHERS SEE A SHIPWRECK; SILVER SPRAY ON REEF.

Pleasure Craft Goes Aground and Sticks There Off Fifty-first Street—No Passengers Aboard.

Hundreds of bathers at Chicago beach yesterday witnessed a real shipwreck.

A small pleasure craft, the Silver Spray, which had been chartered to take about 200 students of the University of Chicago to the steel mills at Gary, Ind., ran aground on a sandbar about 500 feet off the foot of East Fifty-first street. There were no passengers on the boat at the time. It turned partly on one side and the Jackson park life saving crew were sent to prevent it from settling.

Two excursion boats and the life savers' large power boat attempted to drag it from the bar, but their efforts were fruitless and it was still fast late last night. A call was sent for tugs to pull it off the reef.

WILSON TO COME TO CHICAGO AS BANKERS' GUEST

President Plans to Attend National Conference on Reserve Act.

BANK BOARD ACCEPTS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—President Wilson tomorrow probably will formally accept the invitation of the Illinois Bankers' association to attend the national conference on the federal reserve act in Chicago Sept. 1 to 4, inclusive.

John Skelton Williams, controller of the currency and ex-officio member of the federal reserve board, today notied R. L. Crampton, secretary of the Illinois association, that the board would be delighted to accept the invitation and attend in a body. He intimated that the president was largely responsible for this decision.

Mr. Crampton has an appointment with the president for tomorrow morning, at which time he will discuss the details of the meeting with Mr. Wilson.

Bankers Approve Conference.

Mr. Crampton returned to Washington today from a brief trip to New York, where he discussed the proposed conference with New York, New Jersey, and New England bankers. All were enthusiastic over the idea and promised their heartiest coöperation. He will leave Washington for Chicago tomarrow and on his arrival there will commence preparations for the reception of the distinguished guests.

The invitations, which will be sent out early in August to all of the directors of class A and class B, now being elected, to the members of the federal reserve board, and to prominent bankers and business men in every community in the country, will be engravures of Washington and Hamilton respectively first president and first secretary of the treasury; Lincoln and McCullough, president and secretary at the time the present law was enacted; and Wilson and McAdoo, president and secretary in charge of the new law.

Wilson to Visit Chicago.

That president Wilson will spend one day and probably two in Chicago now seems assured. He received an invitation from the Chicago Bar association today to be its guest at a luncheon while there. This he likely will accept. Other arrangements also will be made for him, the details of which will be left to Secretary Tumulty.

The president and the members of the reserve board already approved were influenced largely in their decision to attend the Chicago conference by the opportunity it presents them to get on a good working basis with the financial and industrial interests of the country, large and small. Irrespective of the fate of Messrs. Jones and Warburg in the senate, the reserve board will be organized prior to Sept. 1. The attorney general already is considering the law relative to organization prior to the confirmation of all the members.

McReynolds Anxious to Begin.

Mr. McReynolds is said to have reached a conclusion that as there are now enough to constitute a quorum as prescribed by law there are enough to do business.

One of the first acts of the board will be to prescribe rules and regulations for the conduct of the regional banks. The rules and regulations undoubtedly will be deferred until after the Chicago conference so that the ideas of the bankers and business men may be obtained there.

It is not yet definitely decided just when the class C directors will be appointed. If named in August they, too, will attend the conference. If not named until after the Chicago meeting the reserve board will be able to test the sentiment as to what qualifications are needed for class C men.

At the Chicago conference the federal reserve board will get into personal touch with the class A and class B directors of every one of the twelve districts and through the acquaintance formed there a harmonious working agreement undoubtedly will be reached.

Consider Change in Law.

Already there is some discussion in Washington as to the advisability of eliminating from the law the provision that class C directors shall not be bankers. The Illinoisans most prominently suggested for these places are all bankers. George Woodruff of Joliet, president of the First National bank there, is being indorsed by many country banks through the district. William George of Aurora is another whose qualifications are highly appreciated here. It is doubtful if either of these gentlemen could be persuaded to give up his banking connections to serve on the board.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston is enthusiastic about the Chicago conference because of the opportunity it presents to get the views of the country on rural credits legislation, which will be taken up early next session.

'Pop' Williams, Oldest Man in King Home, Celebrates.

"MOVIES" HIS DIVERSION.

Willing to Be Kissed, but Doesn't Want Camera to See It.

"Three blows was all I needed to do it," proudly announced "Pop" Williams, dean of the John C. King Home for Old Men, in telling how he fought the blaze from the ninety-eight candles on top of his birthday cake. "Take it from me," he added, "more as fifty of 'em went at the first crack."

All the men in the home and many of Marquis de La Fayette Williams' friends were on hand last night to help him celebrate his ninety-eighth birthday. From early morning until he went to bed not very many hours before morning again "Pop" received congratulations and gifts.

Oldest Man in the Home.

Mr. Williams is the oldest man in the home, and its first occupant. His favorite diversion, next to feeding his squirrels and birds in the park, is the "movies."

"I know more about Kathlyn than any of the boys around here," he asserted, and the white heads bobbed in assent.

"Pop" is still as popular with the girls as he was away back in Andrew Jackson's administration.

"I ain't goin' to have my picture taken kissin' one of these girls," he declared last night. "It ain't because I wouldn't like to do it. But, you see, all the others would be os blamed jealous." So Pop compromised with the picture man and let the girls crowd around him instead.

Expects to Ride in Subway.

Mr. Williams was born in 1816 in Saratoga, N. Y. He declares that he is going to live twenty-five years more, or until he can ride in the subway in Chicago.

"I've seen all sorts of transportation developed in my day, boy," he said, "and I'm goin' to ride under the ground yet. I hope they don't hurry that subway too much, 'cause I want to have something big to live for for a long time yet. I'm 98 years young."

"Since the failure of the Lorimer banks many people are investing their money in city securities," said Mr. Traeger.

EDITORS' ROW TO CAUSE FRENCH-GERMAN BREAK?

Cassagnac-Fuchs Duel Fails and Kaiser's Envoys Will Uphold Leipsic Correspondent's Rights.

PARIS, July 15.—An acrimonious controversy which is going on between Paul and Guy Cassagnac, editors of Autorite, and I. Fuchs, correspondent of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, and Carl Lahm, correspondent of the Leipsic Tageblatt, appears likely to cause diplomatic tension between France and Germany.

Guy Cassagnac recently challenged Fuchs to a duel, which the seconds decided need not take place because Fuchs had nothing to do personally with an article, which was the original cause of the controversy, approving a sentence of one year imprisonment imposed by the Leipsic court on the Alsatian cartoonist, Hansi.

Paul Cassagnac challenged Lahm because he did not leave the country in forty-eight hours, as had been demanded by Autorite.

It is understood that the German embassy in Paris is prepared to uphold what it conceives to be the rights of German correspondents.

AGED MOTHER GETS OUTING

"Tribune" Readers Send Her to Algonquin Camp.

WORKING GIRL HELPS OUT.

Sends $1 from Her Mite to Aid in Care for Supplicant.

The aged mother, who begged for a breath of the fields and a good rest at THE TRIBUNE'S open air hospital at Algonquin, is assured of an outing. Sufficient funds have been subscribed by THE TRIBUNE'S generous family of readers to keep her at the camp all summer, or as long as Mrs. L. J. Collar, in charge of the hospital, deems advisable in justice to the many other aged women and tired mothers who need recreations.

Approximately $50 has been received from subscribers who said they wished to aid the unfortunate old woman or others whose cases are brought to the attention of the United Charities field workers. Mrs. Collar said that $4.50 would pay the woman's expenses for one week.

Working Girl Sends $1.

One reader sent $18 to defray the expenses of the aged woman and three others for a week. A working girl, who lives in Oak Park, inclosed $1 in the following letter:

"Dear Sir: Inclosed please find a little towards the help of the dear old lady who longs to spend a week at Camp Algonquin. I wish I were able to pay it all, but, being a working girl, I have to be careful, but rejoice I can help a wee bit. I shall anxiously wait to see who can supply the rest, which I would love to do were I able. May you be blessed and prospered in your good work of relieving poverty through your paper. Here's hoping the dear old soul may find her wish granted and new strength to live again."

Ice Fund Gains $20.80.

Twenty dollars and eighty cents were added to the ice fund. The 80 cents was donated by Leslie Bezark, Josie Landfield, and "Billy" Schahn, who earned it by selling lemonade on Monday.

"We will try to do more in the near future," they wrote.

TRUST BOARD PLAN BOOSTED

Business Men Tell Local Commerce Body of Visit to Washington.

VIEWS WELL RECEIVED.

The formation of a special trust commission for the regulation of big business was recommended as the most helpful and necessary program of national business legislation by Joseph H. Defrees, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Cornelius Lynde, chairman of the association's special committee on trust legislation, who have just returned from their conferences with President Wilson.

They told of the local association's work in promoting sentiment at Washington for business legislation along business lines at the weekly luncheon of the Chicago commerce body in the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

Trouble Not in Basic Law.

"After careful study of the situation," said Mr. Defrees, "your committee concluded that the nation's trouble does not exist in the lack of basic law, as the Sherman law is broad and comprehensive enough, but the trouble is that there is no machinery adequate to operate the Sherman law."

"What is needed is a commission to investigate business that is complained of or that seems to need looking into. This commission would determine what business methods are or are not against the principles of the Sherman law, and be a forum where business could present its side of the case, and be fairly and intelligently heard, and where information could be interchanged freely.

Business Body Is Needed.

"If after full and impartial investigation and publicity this body should find any concern guilty or believe it implicated, then it would turn the lawbreakers over to the legal officers of the government. But let the business men feel that they have a body to go to which will understand business methods and principles better than a group of lawyers."

Mr Lynde said that their ideas and criticisms were encouraged and welcomed at Washington, and that the senate and President Wilson are eager to coöperate with business men in the promulgation of satisfactory business legislation.

Meeting with President Cordial.

"Things are much more hopeful than we believed before making the trip," said Mr. Lynde, "and our interviews with President Wilson were both cordial and extremely helpful.

"We left Washington feeling that the senate will give proper consideration to what we and other business men of the country have put forward, and that business legislation will be accomplished which will probably be along the lines we have described, and which will do much toward establishing greater confidence in the business world and insuring our national prosperity."

Dr. Evans Talks on Vacations.

Dr. W. A. Evans spoke on "How to Spend a Vacation."

"If you people want to know what my frivolous and unbelievable views are," said Dr. Evans, "you may find them set forth daily on the editorial sheet of the World's Greatest Newspaper in the space recently vacated by the chigger champ, Mr. B. L. T., who has moved into the effete east."

Dr. Evans urged the necessity of a yearly vacation, and stated that men should go into training two weeks before going on their vacations in order to be physically fit to get the most out of two weeks of back to nature life.

SUFFRAGISTS TRY TO LASH MEMBER OF THE CABINET.

Two Sent Up for Assailing Secretary of State for Scotland, Who Is Saved by Butler.

LONDON, July 15.—Half a dozen policemen were required to remove from the Marlborough street police court today two kicking, clawing, screaming suffragists who earlier in the day had attempted to horsewhip the Rt. Hon. Thomas McKinnon Wood, secretary of state for Scotland, just as he was leaving his residence.

But for the timely intervention of his stalwart butler it is probable the secretary would have been soundly thrashed.

In the court the women gave their names as Janette Wallace and Bertha Watson. They were fined 20 shillings each, but refused to pay and were sent to jail for fourteen days.

"HALIBUT TRUST" INDICTED

Companies in Alleged Fishing Combine Face Prosecution.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

Government Attacks Monopoly in Restraint of Trade.

Seattle, Wash., July 15.—The federal grand jury today returned indictments under the Sherman anti-trust law against the member of the so-called halibut trust, which controls most of the halibut caught in the north Atlantic, north Pacific, and Bering seas, and sold in the United States.

Indictments were returned against the Booth Fisheries company of Maryland, the Booth Fisheries company of Washington, the Chlopeck Fish company of Seattle, the International Fisheries company, the San Juan Fishing and Packing company, the Occidental Fish company, A. B. Carpenter, president of the Booth Fisheries company of Maryland; W. C. Chutter, president of the Booth Fisheries company of Washington; William Calvert Jr., president of the San Juan Fishing and Packing company, and W. J. Maddock, a buyer for the Booth interests.

Trade Conspiracy Charged.

The indictments allege conspiracy to control and limit the supply and price of halibut taken from the waters of the north Pacific and north Atlantic oceans and Bering sea and shipped through the markets of Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, and Prince Rupert, B. C., and Boston; to control the price paid to independent dealers for fish by making exorbitant and unreasonable bids against them; to control the distribution of halibut through the markets by pretended competition against one another; to control prices by refraining from good faith competition in markets allotted by agreement among the indicted firms, and to control the markets and prices by intimidation and coercion of independent dealers.

The grand jury began its investigation here May 12 last under instructions sent to United States District Attorney Clay Allen by Attorney General Reynolds.

The Booth Fisheries company has headquarters in Chicago and operates extensively throughout the middle west, maintaining large cold storage warehouses.

CHICAGO OFFICIALS SILENT.

Officials at the Chicago headquarters of the Booth Fisheries company in the Majestic building declined yesterday to make any statement concerning the indictments.

A. B. Carpenter, indicted as president of the Booth Fisheries company of Maryland, also is president of the Booth Fisheries company of Illinois. The other officers are P. L. Smithers, vice president, and W. G. Weil, secretary. Mr. Carpenter combines the duties of treasurer with those of president.

ELOPEMENT OUT; TROUBLES BEGIN

Parents Active as Wedding of Prep School Athlete and Girl Is Known.

FIBBED ABOUT AGES.

"Why, she is only 17."

"Yes, and he is only 19."

"And just to think of those two kids being married."

While this gossip was going the rounds of youthful bathers at the Wilson avenue beach yesterday Mrs. C. B. Nichols of 919 Margate terrace took her 17 year old daughter—the former Miss Judith Carey Kliessendorff—on a hurried visit to her stepfather, who is fishing in Wisconsin.

And at the same time Carl J. Wietz of 925 Glengyle place, a department advertising manager for Marshall Field & Co., has ordered his 19 year old son, Louis Koebel Wietz, to come home from the summer school of the Kewaatin academy at Mercersburg, Wis., and explain his elopement with Miss Kliessendorff two weeks ago.

Comes Home for Vacation.

Despite the efforts of the boy's parents to dampen the ardor of his affection for Miss Kliessendorff by keeping him away at a summer school in the east last year and up in Wisconsin again this summer Louis obtained their consent to come home for a July vacation.

Miss Kliessendorff is known as one of the prettiest girls along the north shore. Louis has gained prominence as a prep school football player. Both are good swimmers and have many friends among the youthful bathers at the Wilson avenue beach.

On July 2 they slipped off to Michigan City, Ind. To the license clerk Miss Kliessendorff gave her age as 21, while Louis said he was born in 1892. He told the clerk he had no occupation, but had a private income which would satisfy the Indiana law.

The couple went first to Dean Walter S. Trowbridge of the Episcopal cathedral, but he refused to marry them. Justice of the Peace James Gleason was appealed to and performed the ceremony.

The girl returned home and Louis went back to school, but some one told.

Wants Boy to Tell Truth.

"I have sent for the boy and hope to get at the truth of this matter," said Mr. Wietz. "Then we shall decide what to do. The only information I have received of the marriage has come through friends. I understand, however, that Judith admitted to her mother that they were married."

Young Mrs. Wietz is a sister of Mrs. Gene Greene, who figured in a romantic marriage with the vaudeville singer last July. Her stepfather, C. B. Nichols, is advertising manager for the Leslie-Judge company.

AFTER HUERTA, WHAT?

Fortified privilege in Mexico became alarmed by the success of a radical military revolution in Spain. To protect its power and wealth it feigned sympathy with its own revolutionary countrymen. Iturbide became emperor of Mexico. Iturbide was executed. Guerrero took the government. Guerrero was executed. Santa Anna took the government. Santa Anna retired to private life.

Bustamente became president and was allowed to leave the country. Santa Anna returned from private life and then was exiled. Herrera became chief executive and was displaced by Peredes. Peredes was displaced by Bravo. Bravo was displaced by Santa Anna. Santa Anna again was thrown out. Herrera came back and gave way to Arista, who saw a storm coming and resigned. Santa Anna was recalled and then fled again.

Carrera was replaced by Alvarez, Alvarez by Comonfort, Comonfort by Zuloaga. Zuloaga was thrown out by Pezuela and Pezuela by Miramon. Miramon was kicked out by Juarez and Diaz. Maximilian came in with the French. Maximilian was executed. Miramon was executed. Diaz fought Juarez until the latter's death. Lerdo de Tejada was overthrown by Diaz. Diaz ruled and there was a long breathing spell.

Diaz took an early morning train out of Mexico, and, with an ulcerated tooth, sailed from Vera Cruz to Europe. Madero ruled. Madero was shot, with Suarez, and Huerta ruled.

They started this with scythes and clubs, pitchforks, arrows, and flint locks. Now they use Krags, Mausers, and Springfields, aeroplanes, dynamite mines, rapid fire guns, and heavy artillery. Otherwise what progress in ninety years?

Huerta is going. Who next?

A MEDICAL ATTACK ON RUM.

The committee on alcoholism of the convention of alienists and neurologists includes in its report a resolution which it is to be hoped will be taken up seriously by the medical profession throughout the country. It was, "Resolved, That organized medicine should initiate and carry on a systematic, persistent propaganda for the education of the public regarding the deleterious effects of alcohol."

It was "further resolved" that the medical profession should take the lead in securing adequate legislation against the evils of alcohol.

The battle against the Demon Rum, begun a generation ago as a religious and moral crusade, is increasing in vigor all over the world and of late especial consideration is given to the pathological aspects of the problem. The relation of alcoholism to disease of body and mind is being more and more discussed, and to this attack the medical profession can bring tremendous reserves of influence. If the doctors will preach the wastes and dangers of alcoholic abuse they will do more than laws and moral lectures have yet accomplished, and they will greatly aid intelligent legislation to boot.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

The state of things on the Lusitania when it sailed with our pilgrimaging worthies was incomprehensible. We understand the mood of Ald. W. J. Healy who found himself in a cabin by the engines, but what ails the others passes the comprehension.

As nearly as can be gathered from the feverish outbreaks the chairman of the railway terminal commission, Ald. Ellis Geiger, is endeavoring to protect the pilgrims from the suspicion that Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton are attached to the party.

Possibly the aldermen do not want chaperons. Possibly they fear they will be sent to bed and locked in their rooms at 9 o'clock in Paris, or have their movies censored for them. Are the honorable gentlemen afraid that they will not be allowed to have as many ice cream sodas as their reveling natures demand? What sort of high jinks are in prospect that the corrective presence of Mrs. Young and Mrs. Britton is objected to so strongly? We advise Mayor Harrison to cable the authorities to have the police watch them.

THE CONVENTION IS INEVITABLE.

It is a pity that Mr. George E. Cole's resolution for a constitutional convention could not be acted upon by the charter commission because of the small number present at Tuesday's meeting. But we hope Mr. Cole will not fail to present it again at the earliest possible moment. The commission must see that its work, to be really consistent and thorough, requires constitutional changes not to be gained in years if we are to continue to rely upon piecemeal revision. The commission must also see that the convention is gaining steadily and rapidly. Only two Chicago papers have opposed the convention, and one of these lately has passed into hands from which aid for this constructive movement may be hoped. At the same time politicians are realizing more clearly, or, at any rate, admitting more frankly, the necessity of a convention in view of the many amendments blocking one another at the narrow gateway of the amending clause.

Just now the evil that is forcing itself upon public attention with accumulated force is the blanket ballot. The coming primaries offer already a swarm of obscure candidates which would confuse and baffle the most conscientious voter. No intelligent choice is possible in such a scramble and the result will be the triumph of slates as in the old days of the machine ruled convention, with here and there a political accident more than likely to be unfortunate.

The condition points the urgent need of the short ballot, the reduction of election officials in the interest of intelligent popular choice, and of official responsibility. And the short ballot means a constitutional convention.

To establish the short ballot in Illinois would require the amendment at the least of four articles of the constitution, V., VI., VIII., and X., and these reforms would have to be postponed in view of present political sentiment toward I. and R. and tax reform amendments and perhaps equal suffrage and minority representation amendments. If the rate of amendment is to be accelerated the amending clause would have to be passed first. Only theorists who shut their eyes to the facts of our constitutional history can hope that we can accomplish short ballot reform by the piecemeal method without a struggle of many years, if at all.

Practical men throughout the state should demand a convention without further waste of time.

THIS WAR SHOULD NOT BE.

If the western railroads are tied up by a strike on the threshold of the crop moving season it will be nothing less than a national calamity. It not only will involve heavy loss to the combatants, but its effects will be felt by every man and woman of moderate means in the country. In the midst of the radical readjustment required by a new tariff law, with much unemployment, with capital and business enterprise uncertain and even fearful, with important legislation pending, a paralysis of the transportation of half the continent, deplorable at any time, would at this time prove disastrous.

The public ought not to be helpless in such a pass. The nation, whose widest material interests are involved, ought not to be without representation in such a controversy. The same situation has arisen before, but we have not dealt with it effectively or prepared for its costly repetition.

The railroads are recognized to be quasi-public in their character. We regulate their charges and to some extent their operation and equipment. Why do we stand helplessly without defense when a difference over pay is about to reach the stage of war? For months this difference has been thrashed over in conference between two of the parties involved. The third party, the public, has been absent and now his interest is ignored.

THE TRIBUNE does not blame the men for trying to get more pay, nor the managers for refusing the advance if they believe the roads cannot afford to pay it. The men may show the advance in the cost of living and the managers the increased cost of operation and the uncertainty of a grant of higher rates to meet new expenditure. There is much to be said on both sides, but certainly there also is something to be said on the third side, the side of the public, and it is not being said.

The Erdmann act needs overhauling. It evidently is not strong enough for such a case as the present and measures adequate to deal with it should no longer be delayed.

War is not a sensible way to settle the differences between the railroads and their employés. It ought not to be even a tolerable way.

AFTER THE BISCUIT MAN.

Mr. Lawrence B. Stringer, Democratic congressman at large for the state of Illinois, a veteran candidate, seems to have been chosen to be the young David of the Jeffersonians against the Philistines, to take a fall out of the mammoth biscuit man, the Hon. Roger C. Sullivan, who has been having things all his own way in the great endeavor for the nomination for the United States senate.

Mr. Stringer is young in enthusiasm but old in experience. Roger cannot complain that they send no worthy person out against him. Lawrence is no amateur. Let him be watched or he'll slip a dornick by Roger's shield and bean him. He'll have the biscuit maker down and be stripping off his coat of mail.

CANADA NEEDS A NEW VISION.

[From the Toronto Globe.]

Canada is in need of a new vision and a clarifying of national ideals. The shameless sacrifice of the simple moralities to a group of public plunderers witnessed in parliament last session, involving men in both political parties, would be as disheartening as it is humiliating were it not that the national conscience is not yet quite seared. There is a public conscience to which appeal can be made. The conspicuous triumph of the whisky trust in Ontario last week might discourage were it not that such success carries in itself the irrepressible impulse of inevitable failure. After the first surprise and disappointment are over there will come to the great body of the people such a squaring of the shoulders and setting of the teeth as will mean, not a preliminary skirmish, but a no-surrender war. This young nation never before was pulled up suddenly by defeat and shame at the hands of a national enemy nurtured and privileged within the nation itself. Men who today, because of one rebuff, talk about quitting the field, will tomorrow spit on their hands and set their faces with a new resoluteness. For Canada as for the United States a new day has dawned, with new ideals and new motives. The fight is on for the new democracy. It is not a skirmish. It is a war.

Dayton's City Manager.

[From the Review of Reviews.]

The city of Dayton, O., is felicitating itself on its new method of municipal administration. It is what is known as the "city manager" plan, and is an innovation which was in a manner forced upon the municipality by the disastrous flood of last year. Thousands were left homeless, many without food, half of the city in ruins, and the city administration of ordinary type found itself utterly unable to cope with the situation. Under such circumstances powers passed naturally from the weak city administration to those by nature better fitted to command, and who by ruling with military absolutism quickly brought order from chaos.

The results obtained so pleased Dayton that on the first day of January this year it adopted as a permanent feature of its government a scheme which centers power in one man, giving him almost absolute control of city affairs. Prior to the flood Dayton had been troubled with too much division of authority. The board of safety was continually fighting the board of public works, with the net result that streets went unsprinkled and necessary improvements were neglected. Each of the other departments assumed authority in what it considered its own field, and the result was incessant turmoil. Now all this is changed. In the city manager Dayton now has a boss who is a boss. Board of works and board of safety are subordinate. Streets are sprinkled and improvements are made.

THE TERROR BY NIGHT.

O' summer nights, aslant the western skies,
At sinuous length the venomed Scorpion lies,
Agleam, with old Antares' ruddy glow,
And tipped with Shomlek blazing far below.
In fierce pursuit he threats the Pleiades,
And keeps the lovely bevy ill at ease.
With Libra, balanced 'twixt his claws, he toys,
His dreadful, death-dipped sting as e'er apoise.
Yet soon, as through his twice two thousand years,
He'll take his way to distant southern spheres;
But vengeful still, still threatening the Seven,
He'll by and by remount the northern heaven.
ARIES.

ALTHOUGH a member of the human race, we feel under no obligation to boost it. Indeed, it is the poorest race we know of, and we never have a lower opinion of it than when we see a crowd hanging around a policeman who, with a prisoner, is waiting for the wagon. The ring of stupid faces, the morbid curiosity of the crowd, staring vacuously at the wretch of a captive, give us an unpleasant sensation in the pit of the stomach.

WE read in the esteemed Journal that Ira Nelson Morris will leave presently for Copenhagen, there to take up his duties as minister to Sweden. Copenhagen has certain advantages over Batavia, N. Y., and Naples, Italy. It is nearer to Sweden, and Mr. Morris will hear more Swedish talked in Copenhagen than in either of the other great centers.

WHAT REMBRANDT MIGHT OF DONE.

Golf and the Caddie Question.

(From the English Review.)

If you want to find out the temper of a man, play golf with him. I have seen cultivated men, men of learning and high intelligence, men in responsible public positions, behave like savages or lunatics, and sometimes I behave like it myself. Indeed, the pompous silliness generated by golf is one of the phenomena of the game, and apparent to all. It is a game of awe and religious silence. You must not speak or move while a fellow plays his shot. It is a common sight to see men swear frightfully at their caddies because the lad stood a little behind, too much forward, too near, because he moved a foot, his head, his hand. The way some men conduct themselves on the links—often good golfers—is astounding. They regard the whole links as their property. Any one who plays knows the awful solemnity, the ludicrous pompousness, the business-like silliness, the important fussiness of golfers who appear to have no sense of humour, no generosity, no kindliness, no manners left. And it is especially the gentry who suffer from this form of self-importance. The "pros" are, as a rule, gentlemen on the course. They don't "waggle," as we do; they don't enforce the rules with the fuming exactitude of the gentleman golfer; as sportsmen in the game they are head and shoulders above us.

"INASMUCH," writes a tailoring company of Butte, Montana, to a Chicago colortype company, "inasmuch as we are receiving no service from you, kindly discontinue the same."

WE SUPPOSED THAT PLATO WROTE THE DECALOGUE.

[From the invaluable Examiner.]

Mr. Jones declared that business morals have changed, surprising Senator Nelson, one of his inquisitors, who insisted that the Decalogue and the principles of the Christian religion have remained the same for 100 years.

Senator Nelson—Mr. Jones, you surprise me. I always thought the Decalogue and principles of Christian religion were immutable, and not subject to change. They are the same now as they were 1,800 years ago.

CHEAP ICE BOX WASTEFUL.

AN icebox may be a failure in either of two ways. It may permit the food to spoil or it may eat ice. If food spoils it is because the interior of the icebox is too warm or too dirty. The nearer the temperature to freezing the better the food will keep. The effort is to keep the food around 40. Forty-five is fairly satisfactory; 50 is too high, and above 50 much too high. Bacteria will grow at any temperature above 45. Milk will sour and meat will rot above that temperature.

Ten minutes' trial with a thermometer will tell the story. Have you tried your icebox? It is safe to say you have not. Dr. Williams of Rochester tried 300 ordinary refrigerators such as are found in the general run of homes. In 123 the temperature was below 50; in 177 it was above it.

The next point of importance is: Is the icebox an ice eater? In a properly regulated icebox the temperature of the inside is 30 degrees or more lower than that of the outside air. If the wall is properly insulated the amount of ice required to hold the inside temperature down is not great. A poor wall allows the heat of the room to cross the refrigerator wall and melt the ice.

A poor grade $15 icebox will use about 158 pounds of ice a week, at a cost for the summer of $14.45 for ice. A better grade icebox with two inches of cork board in the wall, set in the same place, will keep the same temperature on sixty-five pounds a week. The saving in the ice bill for the summer will be $8.65. It does not pay to buy a cheap refrigerator.

However, it does not pay to buy fancy trimmings on an icebox. What counts most of all is the insulation. Do not buy until you know that the insulation is good—cork board, paper and air space, or their equivalent. If a substance is used that is less efficient than cork board, demand that the thickness be increased to compensate.

Next in importance is a hard, smooth lining. The shelves and compartments must lend themselves readily to periodical cleaning and sunning.

As to arguments about the points where the water precipitates out of the air and how the air circulates, listen to them all; give to each its proper weight, but don't let anybody talk you away from that insulation. Some philosopher has enjoined us to always keep one foot on a fact. The insulation is the one overshadowing factor. Always keep one foot on that.

CAUSES OF PILES.

C. E. W. writes: "Please state the main cause of piles, and if all varieties are caused from the same trouble. How can they be prevented? Is there any medicinal virtue in the best grade of whisky for strengthening weak old persons? I find that about one-half pint a week helps me, but many contend that any quantity is poisonous. Is pure whisky the juice or strength of the grains used? If so, where does the poison come in? Is it true that tomatoes and asparagus are injurious to those with kidney troubles?"

REPLY.

1. The main causes of piles are:
   - [a] [Most important] The upright posture. Animals which travel on all fours do not have piles.
   - [b] Constipation.
   - [c] Straining at stool.
   - [d] Full living—eating too much food and drinking whisky.

The best way to prevent piles is to prevent causes b, c, d.

2. If an old, feeble person is accustomed to taking his whisky he had better keep it up. It poisons him; but it is his staff, and he cannot do without it.

3. Whisky is neither the juice nor the strength of the grain. In the process of making whisky mixed germs are allowed to get into the grain. These decompose the starch into different kinds of alcohol and allied substances. The making of mash is a decay process. Next in the process is the evaporation of the alcohols and all other volatile substances. What evaporates is not the juice of the grain; it is that into which decomposition bacteria have changed the starch.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1914: By the Brentwood Co.]

KING GEORGE is one of the principal exhibitors at the exposition which is now in progress in the hall of the Royal College of Surgeons in Lincolns Inn fields in London, and his exhibits, which hail from Sandringham, are arousing an extraordinary amount of interest and discussion in the scientific world, especially among biologists.

The exhibits comprise several so-called "mule" pheasants. While some of these mule pheasants are of uncertain sex and tolerably familiar to sportsmen, there are several others the like of which never have been seen or heard of before.

The birds in question, five in number, are hen pheasants, which after laying for several years in succession in a perfectly normal fashion and hatching many successive broods of chicken pheasants, suddenly stopped laying and assumed in their old age all the plumage, appearance, manner, and characterizations of the male bird.

The only instance of anything of the kind previously heard of is that of a peacock, which was stuffed and placed in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons by its founder, Dr. John Hunter, in the year of the declaration of American independence, when the bird succumbed to hard frost.

Its history, as given by Dr. Hunter at the time, was that it was originally a favorite pea hen belonging to a Lady Tynte, and having laid eggs and produced chickens up till its eleventh year, suddenly ceased laying and assumed the plumage and feathers peculiar to the other sex, appearing as a full fledged peacock, even developing the spurs.

Naturally these wonderful exhibits of King George are giving rise to all sorts of comment and speculation of an exceedingly interesting nature among scientists, since the question naturally arises as to why these strange phenomena and this development of masculinity among the weaker sex in old age should be restricted to pheasants and peacocks.

Princess Katsura, widow of the celebrated Japanese statesman and military commander who died in office as prime minister, and who concluded the first and second treaties of alliance between his country and Great Britain, has retired from the world, has taken the vows of a Buddhist nun, and has become the inmate of a convent at Setagaja, a little to the south of Tokio, a convent which, together with its adjoining temple, she recently built and endowed close to the tomb of her distinguished husband.

Her eldest son died a few weeks after his celebrated father, and the present Prince Katsura, heir to the family honors and estates, is her 6 year old grandson, for whose education and guardianship she has made due provision.

It is quite frequent for women of rank in Japan, when they have completed what they believe to have been their life mission, to retire from the world in order to spend the remainder of their days in religious devotions and meditation. With the men of Japan it is different, and it is to these that I wish to draw attention.

Here in the new world, as well as in Europe, men are accustomed to sow their wild oats in the days of their youth. In Japan they have a greater sense of what they owe to their family, to their name, to the state, and to society, especially when they happen to be the heads of houses of note.

They lead, until their fiftieth year, or even later, the most orderly of lives with full sense of their responsibilities, caring for their poor relatives in a manner that might serve as an example to the people of western nations.

However, when his eldest son has attained manhood and full years of discretion, when he has married and has children of his own, the head of the house is apt to surrender to him the chieftaincy of the family, the administration of the family property, and the fulfillment of all the duties and obligations that have until then rested upon his shoulders.

Thereupon he feels himself free to devote the remainder of his days to pleasure, to gayety, and to the sowing of a belated crop of wild oats.

Nor does the spectacle of an old man indulging in all sorts of frivolities, not to say dissipation, shock his fellow citizens. They realize that he has fulfilled all his duties to the state and to his family and that, having completed his task, it is only fair that he should be left free to amuse himself in any manner that he sees fit in the eventide of an otherwise extremely well spent and useful life.

Russia's diplomatic service has sustained a severe loss through the sudden death of N. von Hartwig, whose office of minister plenipotentiary at Belgrade conveyed no idea to the uninitiated of his importance or of the weighty rôle which he has played during the last five years in the southeast of Europe.

Indeed, it was he, rather than the czar's minister at Bucharest or the ambassador at Constantinople, woh controlled all Muscovite diplomatic, consular, and secret agent activities in the various Balkan states and even in Turkey.

In the official circles of the various capitals of Europe he is regarded as having been the initiator and organizer of the Balkan coalition against Turkey and as responsible for bringing not only Servia but also all the other Balkan states and even Roumania under the immediate influence of the czar to such an extent that their military forces, embracing near 2,000,000 seasoned soldiers, are now at the service of Russia's policies.

When he was appointed to Belgrade in 1909, Russia's prestige was at a low ebb in Servia and elsewhere in the Balkans. After it had encouraged Servia to adopt an aggressive attitude towards Austria in connection with the latter's annexation of Herzegovina and Bosnia, it was compelled by a threat of a German-Austrian invasion, for which it was not then militarily prepared, to intimate to Servia that it could not accord any support just then, and that under the circumstances Servia would do well to back down in its relations with Austria.

This was a sore blow to Muscovite prestige in that part of the world. But all memories thereof have been obliterated by the clever diplomacy of M. von Hartwig, who died suddenly from an aneurism of the heart last week, while discussing matters with the Austrian envoy at the Austrian legation at Belgrade.

M. von Hartwig was for a long time chief of the first section of the ministry of foreign affairs at St. Petersburg under Count Lamsdorff and used to be described in those days as the brain of the department and as the power behind the throne.

After representing the czar with much Slavophile energy at Cettinje he became envoy at Teheran in 1906 and was from thenceforth the soul of that forward policy which brought about the Russian occupation of Tabriz and of Kasvin, the ruin of the then shah, and the virtual division of Persia between Russia and England.

BLOCKED BY OBJECTORS.

Chicago, July 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am a property owner of two places on Ohio street between Monticello avenue and Springfield avenue. This street is in a bad condition between Sacramento avenue and Crawford avenue.

F. SAVAGLIO.

At a public hearing held May 20, 1913, it was ordered to pave with asphalt West Ohio street, between North Kedzie and Crawford avenues. At that time a majority protest was filed by the property owners, which expired May 20 of this year. It is not likely that we can have the assessment confirmed in time to have the work go in this year.

ANOTHER SMALL WEST PARK.

Chicago, July 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly tell if the city has purchased the property north of Harrison street and east of Austin avenue for the purpose of making a park. Is the Harrison street car line to be extended to Austin avenue in the near future?

J. GUNDERSON.

The West Chicago park commissioners have purchased the site bounded by Austin avenue, the Metropolitan railroad right of way, Central avenue, and Adams street for a park. The matter of Harrison street car line extension is now before the council for consideration.

T. CRUISE,
Secretary West Chicago Park Board.

ASPHALTIC MACADAM ON EBERHART AVENUE.

Chicago, July 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly ascertain with what material and when Eberhart avenue, between Seventy-first and Seventy-fifth streets, will be paved.

F. A. S.

Eberhart avenue between Seventy-first and Seventy-fifth streets is included in a system of streets to be paved with asphaltic macadam. The assessment roll was filed June 8th, 1914, under docket No. 38147, but has not yet been confirmed, as some of the property owners have filed objections. The street will not be paved until late this year or next year, as it will be necessary to have the case placed on a calendar and tried before the assessment will be confirmed.

CARE OF DOUGLAS BOULEVARD.

Chicago, July 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The lawns at the end of the sidewalks and in the driveway of Douglas boulevard are very much neglected. I have noticed other boulevards and the care that is given them far exceeds that of the above boulevard. I have also noticed that the park south of Ogden avenue is given more care than that section north of the preceding avenue. Hoping this will have an influence on the commission in charge, beg to remain,

DAVID LASKEY,
3338 Douglas boulevard.

This boulevard is given the same attention as are all the other boulevards under the control of the West Chicago park commissioners; in fact, great expenditures were made on this boulevard two years ago, when the lawns were all re-sodded, placing them in perfect condition. The lawns were re-seeded this last spring wherever required. Many of the people who live on this boulevard have given the lawns such rough usage in failing to make an effort to preserve the beauty of the same or allowing the grass to grow, that it is one of the contributing causes; and in front of certain houses of people who live directly on the boulevard the lawns are given very hard usage. In fact, the park board would be justified in making complaint against various residents who willfully trample the lawns.

The criticism that the lawns south of Ogden avenue in Douglas park are cared for in a better manner than those in the portion north of Ogden avenue is untrue. It is under the charge of the same foreman, and there is no discrimination. In the portion north of Ogden avenue are located some thirty-four or thirty-five tennis courts. It is easily understood that the areas covered by these courts are very heavily used, and it is impossible to maintain a perfect lawn throughout the season, and the portion north of Ogden avenue is used by the people much more heavily than the portion south of Ogden avenue.

A. C. SCHRADER,
Superintendent and Engineer.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT ACT.

Chicago, July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The gentleman from China who decries the British parliament act in your issue of a few days ago must be a thoroughgoing politician. He conceives that the British constitution is undermined and the empire on the brink of ruin by the operation of this act. Every one who knows anything about English history during the last fifty years will wonder at his strange pertinacity. How notorious it is that during that time whenever the Tories were in power government was always practically by one house.

No dread of revolution or of anarchy ever moved the patriots then. Everything was as it ought to be. As the lords were non-elective and so irresponsible to the people, all liberal and progressive legislation could always be successfully blocked when the Tories were not in power. But now, when after passing the house of commons three times and the lapse of two years, the aristocratic irresponsibles are shorn of power, the empire totters! It is a splendid idea to appeal to the American people for sympathy. "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people" versus shades of the house of lords. MARTIN J. MAGOR.

THINKS WILSON DISCREDITED.

Aurora, Ill., July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The amusing communication by J. Howard Moore does not call for a reply, so far as a defense of Roosevelt is concerned, because his record is a sufficient answer to any criticisms made of him. His opponents never point to an administrative act or any policy advocated by him, which was not in accord with the best interests of the whole country. He may have made a big noise while president, but his messages and speeches were appeals to the people, by which he carried needed measures through a hostile congress. He never resorted to the caucus or patronage to carry his point, as Mr. Wilson is doing. Mr. Wilson's high-mindedness has been proclaimed so often that he has come to believe it himself, and his opponents even have excused his blunders with the statement that his intentions were good. But the public has been gradually revising its opinion as to his high ideals and now have considerable doubt on that point.

I might instance the manner in which he upheld his attorney general in the white slave and customs fraud cases in San Francisco. He has destroyed in a great measure the usefulness of our consular service by replacing men of experience with untrained Democrats appointed largely because of their liberal campaign contributions, and has made numerous unfit appointments to other positions. His handling of our foreign relations certainly has convinced a large proportion of the people of his incompetency and has lowered the United States in the estimation of the whole world and his lack of a definite policy and of Americanism has caused us to be held in contempt by the very nations whose good opinion we most need. M. W.

THAT SEX FENCE.

Chicago, July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wish to enter my protest against the abominable rule that has been forced upon the public at the Diversey bathing beach—the segregation of the sexes.

My husband and I, with our children, are in the habit of visiting the beach, taking lunch along, that the little ones may enjoy the water and the fresh air. We ask nothing of the beach but the use of the lake, as we dress at home and do not monopolize the lockers. Our beneficial outings, the only vacation we are able to arrange for, are now at an end.

The fact that my swimming lessons must now end because it has become immoral for my husband to be with me to teach me, perhaps does not matter, as the superintendent of the beach will no doubt provide respectable female instructors for the now lonely wives who wish to use the beach.

The idea that all this protects women is a ridiculous fallacy. No woman is annoyed unless she wants to be—on a crowded public beach—and if she is spoken to, a word to the officer would be sufficient. Thousands of people should not be made to suffer for the sake of one lone woman here and there who could be well protected in a much simpler way.

IDA PFENDER, 2415 Diana court.

Chicago, July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Jerry O'Conner in his show, "September Morn," made Chicago the laughing stock of the country. His act, however, was eclipsed by the "Sex Fence," staged at Diversey bathing beach last Sunday by the Lincoln park commissioners.

People entertaining out of town company can no longer take them down to the beach for an evening swim together. Chicago, according to the Lincoln park commissioners, has reached a point where it cannot allow the opposite sexes to associate with each other at public beaches. This "sex fence" is an insult to the intelligence and morality of every man and woman who patronizes Diversey beach.

ENIES CRIME IS SOLELY DUE TO MENTAL ILLS

llienist Holds Morons Are Easily Caught and Bright Culprits Escape.

CITES COURT RECORDS

A view regarding the mental capabiliies of criminals exactly opposite to a umber of opinions previously expressed t the meeting of alienists at the Hotel a Salle was given yesterday by Dr.
William Healy of the pathological la-oratory of the Juvenile court.
Dr. Healy outlined the results of a tudy of 1,000 cases at the Juvenile court.
He said the study proved to him that all riminals are not mentally defective. He aid the reason many physicians believed he mass of criminals to be subnormal mentally is because the bright criminals re not caught so often.
"Because the mentally deficient are caught," said Dr. Healy, "is no reason o believe that all criminals have mental efects. The bright, capable one may have committed fifty crimes before he is caught once. The moron is easily apprehended. It almost invariably requires he effect of environmental influences to reate a criminal out of even a mental efective.

Must Study His History.

"Those who undertake to study ofenders should get the background of the amily circle, the history of the offender, is heredity, and his early habits, as well s his present environment and companons.
"In a study of 1,000 cases at the Juven-le court it was found that 65 per cent had o mental defects whatever. Seven per ent were epileptics, and there were fiftyhree additional cases in which relatives were epileptics; 7 per cent had tendencies oward insanity, and 15 per cent were eeble minded.
"At least one parent of 31 per cent of he cases made a more than moderate use f alcohol. Immorality, quarreling, and overty broke up the families of 67 per ent of the cases studied. In one-third of he cases there was some physical deect.

Precocity Peril in Girls.

"Premature development among girls was a great cause of moral instability.
The lack of healthy, mental interests was he source of an astonishingly large amount of trouble. Bad companions were another important source of trouble.
"A significant class of defectives are he mental defectives, but even among hem are found great differences in capabilities. When we see a feeble-minded burglar with great manual dexterity, who has had a long criminal record, become an honest laborer with country ife, we are a little less sure about many dicta.
"The best illustration probably anywhere of the modern therapeutic endeavor of the courts is the remarkable organization of the Juvenile court of Chicago.

Jurist Questions Legal Values.

"Nowadays it is not the anarchists who are questioning the legal values in dealing with offenders, but it is some of the most experienced jurists who watch the alarming number of offenders repeatedly ent back to prison. It is a remarkable fact that one may look almost in vain for jurists who study the data of success or failure of measures carried out."
There was a heated discussion concerning prenatal influences. The discussion followed the reading of a paper on "Segregation or Sterilization," by Dr. Mary Pogue of Lake Geneva, Wis.
Dr. Russell Price asserted the responsibility for the character of a child depends upon the thoughts and actions of its father at the time of conception. He cited an instance in which an acquaintance of his had had a son who was a thief born after the father, a preacher, had stolen from the contribution box set aside for foreign missions. Another son, born after he had successfully built and paid for a new church, became a successful and honest architect.

Prenatal Influence Denied.

Dr. Saul A. Koppnagle of Chicago sought to controvert this by citing a personal experience in his own family. Dr.
Pogue recommended absolute segregation of mental defectives rather than sterilization.
The morning session was held in the new psychopathic hospital of Cook county. Dr. A. L. Singer of Kankakee held a clinic in which a pat'ent suffering from depressive insanity was examined.

DENIES CRIME IS SOLELY DUE TO MENTAL ILLS

Alienist Holds Morons Are Easily Caught and Bright Culprits Escape.

CITES COURT RECORDS

A view regarding the mental capabilities of criminals exactly opposite to a number of opinions previously expressed at the meeting of alienists at the Hotel La Salle was given yesterday by Dr. William Healy of the pathological laboratory of the Juvenile court.

Dr. Healy outlined the results of a study of 1,000 cases at the Juvenile court. He said the study proved to him that all criminals are not mentally defective. He said the reason many physicians believed the mass of criminals to be subnormal mentally is because the bright criminals are not caught so often.

"Because the mentally deficient are caught," said Dr. Healy, "is no reason to believe that all criminals have mental defects. The bright, capable one may have committed fifty crimes before he is caught once. The moron is easily apprehended. It almost invariably requires the effect of environmental influences to create a criminal out of even a mental defective.

Must Study His History.

"Those who undertake to study offenders should get the background of the family circle, the history of the offender, his heredity, and his early habits, as well as his present environment and companions.

"In a study of 1,000 cases at the Juvenile court it was found that 65 per cent had no mental defects whatever. Seven per cent were epileptics, and there were fifty-three additional cases in which relatives were epileptics; 7 per cent had tendencies toward insanity, and 15 per cent were feeble minded.

"At least one parent of 31 per cent of the cases made a more than moderate use of alcohol. Immorality, quarreling, and poverty broke up the families of 67 per cent of the cases studied. In one-third of the cases there was some physical defect.

Precocity Peril in Girls.

"Premature development among girls was a great cause of moral instability. The lack of healthy, mental interests was the source of an astonishingly large amount of trouble. Bad companions were another important source of trouble.

"A significant class of defectives are the mental defectives, but even among them are found great differences in capabilities. When we see a feeble-minded burglar with great manual dexterity, who has had a long criminal record, become an honest laborer with country life, we are a little less sure about many dicta.

"The best illustration probably anywhere of the modern therapeutic endeavor of the courts is the remarkable organization of the Juvenile court of Chicago.

Jurist Questions Legal Values.

"Nowadays it is not the anarchists who are questioning the legal values in dealing with offenders, but it is some of the most experienced jurists who watch the alarming number of offenders repeatedly sent back to prison. It is a remarkable fact that one may look almost in vain for jurists who study the data of success or failure of measures carried out."

There was a heated discussion concerning prenatal influences. The discussion followed the reading of a paper on "Segregation or Sterilization," by Dr. Mary Pogue of Lake Geneva, Wis.

Dr. Russell Price asserted the responsibility for the character of a child depends upon the thoughts and actions of its father at the time of conception. He cited an instance in which an acquaintance of his had had a son who was a thief born after the father, a preacher, had stolen from the contribution box set aside for foreign missions. Another son, born after he had successfully built and paid for a new church, became a successful and honest architect.

Prenatal Influence Denied.

Dr. Saul A. Koppnagle of Chicago sought to controvert this by citing a personal experience in his own family. Dr. Pogue recommended absolute segregation of mental defectives rather than sterilization.

The morning session was held in the new psychopathic hospital of Cook county. Dr. A. L. Singer of Kankakee held a clinic in which a patient suffering from depressive insanity was examined.

NINE ARE FOUND GUILTY IN $1,000,000 SWINDLE.

Barr and Widen Mercantile Agency Officials Convicted of Using Mails to Defraud.

Nine defendants in the Barr and Widen Mercantile agency $1,000,000 postal swindle case were found guilty of using the mails to defraud yesterday by a jury in Judge Landis' court. The convicted men are:

ABRAM H. PREEMAN, superintendent of the company.
FREDERICK L. WENDLER, general manager of the main office in St. Louis.
CHARLES F. DAY of Chicago, a contract man.
JAMES T. MINEHART of Chicago, a former Methodist minister and a contract man.
ROBERT B. PENDER of Pittsburgh.
JOSEPH G. STEVENS of Kansas City, son of Barney Stevens, a retired capitalist.
W. W. FELLOWS of Kansas City.
J. H. WORMAN of St. Louis.
JOSEPH B. FINKLEMAN of Kansas City.

The jury reached its verdict after four hours' deliberation. Wendler and Preeman were the chief defendants. The scheme used by the agency was the most productive "get-rich-quick" enterprise the Chicago postoffice inspectors ever investigated.

Attorney for the defendants asked for a new trial. Arguments will be heard today.

WIFE OF SENATOR FORST NAMES MATE'S AFFINITY.

Charges Politician Keeps "Other Woman" in Cottage by Lake in Plea for Alimony.

Mrs. Rosa Forst yesterday sued State Senator Edward J. Forst for separate maintenance. The bill filed in the Circuit court names Mrs. Theresa Bolde as co-respondent.

State Senator Forst is a candidate for renomination. He formerly held political offices in Chicago and ultimately went to the house as a representative. Four years ago he was elected to the state senate from the Fifteenth senatorial district on the West Side. His home is at 1539 West Eighteenth street. The senator is classed as a "Lorimer Democrat."

Mrs. Forst asks for separate maintenance and the custody of their four children—Lillian, 20 years old; Marguerite, 19; Agnes, 17; and George, 12.

The Forsts were married Oct. 29, 1893, and they lived together, according to the bill, until July, 1910.

Mrs. Forst charges that at a Springfield hotel he registered himself and Mrs. Bolde as husband and wife.

The wife says Forst and Mrs. Bolde now are living at Pistakee lake, McHenry county, in a cottage known as "Venice."

BOND MAY BE FREE TODAY, PREDICTION OF LAWYERS.

State Has Failed to Identify Defendant of Leegson Murder, Defense Say.

Isaac Bond may go free today because, the defense asserts, the state failed in his identification yesterday. For six days the copper colored negro has been on trial before Judge Charles A. McDonald for the murder of Miss Ida G. Leegson, artist and sculptor, on a lonely prairie near Argo, Ill., a year ago last October.

Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for the defense, produced fifteen witnesses who were quite certain that Ike Bond was in Gary, Ind., on the night that Miss Leegson met her fate on the prairie. The alibi remained unshaken to the end, and counsel for Bond looked confident.

Assistant State's Attorney Malato exhibited the torn garments of Miss Leegson to the jury and he tried to exhibit the pin attached to her watch, but this was made impossible by the disappearance of this piece of evidence after the five minute rest period yesterday.

Bond denied ever seeing the watch that belonged to Miss Leegson.

"I never murdered that woman," Bond shouted. "I am an honest colored man. Capt. Halpin would call witnesses into his office to look at my picture and then he would call me in for identification. That's the way the witnesses identified an honest colored man."

THERE is more than mildness in the Robert Burns.

It has satisfying mildness!

That is one of several reasons why millions of men prefer the Robert Burns.

Smoke the Robert Burns because you like it. You will continue to smoke the Robert Burns because you'll find every one as uniformly good as the first one you try. Every Robert Burns has the same generous measure of mellow smoothness and satisfying mildness.

Have you tried the new "Invincible" shape? A little more slender than a perfecto—it is especially recommended for its handsome appearance and free-smoking quality.

U. S. JURY HEARS OF LABOR GRAFT

John J. McLaughlin Begins His Story of Blackmail.

WILL EXHIBIT CHECKS.

Federal investigation of the operations of "get-rich-quick" business agents in Chicago was launched formally yesterday when John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, state representative, and the first contractor to come into the open with charges against the so-called "labor pirates," told his story to a special grand jury.

The scope of the federal inquiry is limited, since only those charges which pertain to the halting of interstate shipments can be heard, but attachés of the United States district attorney's office believe sufficient ground exists for a number of indictments.

Gravel Shipments Halted.

When McLaughlin went into the grand jury room to repeat his sensational accusations against John Haley and Michael Norris, business agents, he was accompanied by Assistant District Attorney Albert L. Hopkins, who is in charge of the government's inquiry.

McLaughlin is said to have testified that interstate shipments of sand and gravel lay idle at his Balmoral avenue yards for several days because of a teamster's strike. That strike, according to the original complaint made by the state representative to United States District Attorney Wilkerson, was called by Norris and Haley following his refusal to pay further backsheesh to them.

"Boss" McLaughlin had a great deal to tell the inquisitors—so much that in several hours he was able only to give them a sketchy outline of what he intended to testify. When he came from the grand jury room he asserted it would probably be two weeks before his entire story had gone into the records.

Throws Down Gauntlet.

It was on June 24 that McLaughlin threw down the gauntlet to the labor men. On that day, tired, he said, of yielding tribute to the "labor pirates," he issued a public statement in which he asserted he would name at least three business agents whose grafting operations were making them wealthy.

One of them mentioned by McLaughlin was George Hammond, business agent for the Excavators' union. That very day Hammond was shot and killed by Patrick Dignan, a contractor. The same day, too, Hammond had called a strike on the McLaughlin plant.

"If you don't like it, kick in," was the hint attributed by McLaughlin to Hammond.

Will Examine Checks.

Before McLaughlin has finished his story the grand jurors will have an opportunity to examine a number of checks drawn by him and made payable to "currency." These checks, according to McLaughlin, represent payments aggregating $2,000 to Haley and Norris.

Wife Dead, Husband Held.

Mrs. Anna Deukowski of 3325 South Racine avenue, died yesterday in the county hospital after being struck by her husband. The husband, Joseph Deukowski, is held by the police awaiting the coroner's inquest.

LETTERS FAIL IN RAIL CRISIS

Written Interchange of Views Leaves Peace Far Off.

NO CONFERENCES HELD.

Workmen Refuse to Give Out Details of Strike Vote.

Negotiations between the brotherhoods of locomotive engineers and firemen and the general managers' committee of the western railroads in regard to the employés' demands for shorter hours, more pay, and changed working conditions yesterday took the form of an exchange of letters. No joint conferences between the employers and employés were held.

Managers' Request Is Denied.

The letter, which was addressed to A. W. Trenholm, chairman of the conference committee of managers, is as follows:

Dear Sir: Acknowledging receipt of your letter of July 15, which was reply to our letter of July 14.

Your request that the joint committee furnish you with an official copy of our statement and ballot on which the vote of engineers, firemen, and hostlers was taken and a statement of the vote by roads and by classes on each road, instead of the grand total as contained in our communication of the 14th, has been considered by the joint committee and has been respectfully declined.

We are further instructed to advise you that if your committee has nothing further to offer them than that contained in your letter of this date negotiations will be immediately discontinued and you will be notified of the time on which the men will leave the service in accordance with their wish as expressed in their referendum strike ballot. Yours truly,

W. S. STONE,
Grand Chief Engineer, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.
W. S. CARTER,
President Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

May Confer Again Today.

It is expected that the railway managers will offer to meet the men in a joint conference today to request new suggestions for a peaceful settlement of the wage controversy. The railway officials state that the roads cannot afford to meet the demands of the engineers and firemen, and unless some unlooked for means of settlement turns up today it is feared that the engineers and firemen will serve an ultimatum on the roads.

Society and Entertainments

Society Folk Busy with Motor Tours.

THERE are numerous auto tours being planned for the mid-summer, but most of the ardent followers of the diverting sport who live in the west find it necessary to ship their cars east of Buffalo, at least, before they can make the start eastward with the comforting assurance of good roads ahead. Consequently, there are being added more and more advocates of the Lincoln highway, that is destined to bridge the gap between Chicago and Buffalo, as well as the strenuous difficulties of the great divide.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, who are now at their summer home at the Huron Mountain club, are planning to make an auto tour of the White mountains, and will leave about the first week in August, taking their car with them. They will tour the vicinity of Bretton Woods and Littleton, N. H., where the large and far famed estate of the John G. Glessners is located, and will arrive at Trenton, N. J., in time for the wedding of Carter Harrison Jr. and Miss Lucy Brady Cook, that is set for Aug. 19.

Mrs. Edward Sylvester Smith of 4541 Woodlawn avenue, who has been spending the summer with her son on their ranch near Duval, in the Canadian wheat country, is planning to leave soon with a party of friends, who will motor to Banff, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer Jr., who left on Monday for their cottage at Bideford Pool, Me., took their car with them, intending to make a number of tours of New England.

Mrs. Edmund P. Russell of 19 East Goethe street and Misses Dorothy and Mary Russell, who have been abroad for some months, are now in Paris. They will not return home until the late fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rutter of 743 Lincoln parkway are leaving on July 27 for East Hampton, where they will spend the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Cobb Coleman of 53 East Division street will spend the autumn in the Berkshire hills. They will take possession of their estate near Pittsfield, Mass., which they have just purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cobb of Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mrs. Rockwell King of 156 East Superior street has returned from Stockbridge, Mass. Later she will go to York Harbor, Me., for the autumn.

Miss Amy Walker of 1128 La Salle avenue left yesterday to join her parents, Judge and Mrs. Charles M. Walker at Ephraim, Wis. Miss Walker's marriage to James A. Field of the University of Chicago will take place in September.

Miss Belle Woodcock of Calais, Me., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay T. Woodcock of 439 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park. Mr. and Mrs. Woodcock will not open their summer place at Douglas, Mich., this season, but will spend the summer in Oak Park.

Mrs. Charles Bishop of South Grove avenue, Oak Park, will give a bridge luncheon on Tuesday, July 21.

Mrs. Henry B. Brown and daughter, Lyda, of 1255 East Fifty-third street are at Mount Clemens, Mich.

Mrs. James Burke and daughter, Mildred, of 5142 Ellis avenue will sail today for Ireland. They will visit the European countries before returning home in September.

Mrs. David Kahn will receive informally on Sunday afternoon and evening in honor of her seventy-fifth birthday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. W. Mayer of 4323 Champlain avenue. Mrs. Kahn has been a resident of Chicago since 1857.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Riley of 4404 Magnolia avenue have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. John T. Bennison of Los Angeles, Cal., who have been making a tour of the world during the last year.

Federal Industrial Body to Meet Here.

THE United States commission on industrial relations will meet in Chicago next Tuesday at the Hotel La Salle, when witnesses representing capital, labor, and the general public will lay before the commission specialized information.

An executive session of the commission was set for today, but owing to the absence of John B. Lennon and James O'Connell, members of the commission, at a labor conference in Washington, the date was placed one week later.

William O. Thompson, counsel for the commission, has been summoning witnesses, who will make reports at the hearings to be held next week. Among those who will testify are:

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association; John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Dudley Taylor, counsel for the Employers' association of Chicago; Duncan McDonald, secretary of the Illinois Mine Workers, and Edward T. Bent, a coal operator. These witnesses will testify on Wednesday, July 22, the first day of the public hearings. The commission has arranged for representatives of labor and capital to appear in pairs, so that full data on both sides of each question under consideration can be obtained.

Other witnesses who will appear at later days of the conference are:

John G. Shedd, president of Marshall Field & Co.; John D. Hibbard, commissioner of the National Metal Trades association; C. W. Gindele, president of the Building Construction Employers' association; Mary McDowell, head of the University of Chicago settlement; Prof. Graham Taylor, president of Chicago commons; James Mullenbach, superintendent of the Oak Forest infirmary; Prof. F. Home Circle at Hotel La Salle.

Permanent headquarters were established yesterday at the Hotel La Salle for the Home Circle, with which many of the large organizations and woman's clubs have affiliated for the purpose of raising money for their respective philanthropies during the Home exposition to be held at the Coliseum from Sept. 16 to 26 inclusive.

Miss Rose Marks, general chairman of the circle, will have charge of the daily meetings, when arrangements for the various features will be perfected.

The first business meeting will be held next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in room 212 Hotel La Salle.

Says Christianity Is Founded on Facts.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

THE experience of a man who lost one-half of his vocabulary when he was converted and found difficulty in expressing himself until he had acquired a new list of words was described by the Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, who preached last night at the Desplaines camp ground.

The man, who said he was a Chicago business man, later confirmed the statement of Dr. Mitchell.

"It was this way," the man said. "Before I was converted I had acquired the habit of constant profanity. When I was converted I found that the vocabulary which remained after all of the profane words had been taken from me was so small that I could hardly express myself. I found that I had to begin to get a new list of words."

Dr. Mitchell preached about Christianity's observance of the scientific method.

"Christianity," he said, "is founded on facts. It can be demonstrated by experiment as the facts of science can. It is a method of experience and observation.

"The test of the Christian life is not a theological one. A candidate is not to be laid upon a bed and stretched to its length or have his feet amputated if his feet protrude beyond its edge.

"To reject Christianity because there are hypocrites in the church is as sensible as refusing to go to college because there are some wild young men there, or refusing to employ a physician because some people die, or denying that Raphael could paint because there are daubers who do not know how to handle the brush."

The meeting was said by the leaders to have been the most impressive religiously of any since the camp meeting began a week ago. There were a large number of persons who came forward for prayer.

The characteristics of a true minister was the subject of an address by the Rev. Victor W. Thrall, pastor of Wesley church, Chicago, at the preachers' hour.

"The character of a minister ought to be peculiar," he said. "Not odd or freakish, but peculiar in being radiant.

"Sermons are like bullets, the distance and accuracy with which they travel depends on the force of the projector, which in the case of the sermon is the minister. Many a sermon is ruined outside of the pulpit."

"Horace Greeley might have been president of the United States if he had kept his spectacles on his nose straight and had creased his trousers," said the Rev L. H. Sweetland of Zion City, who followed in the discussion.

"A minister to succeed ought not to be a Beau Brummel and be the first to have cuffs put on his trousers after it becomes the style to wear them that way, nor ought he to be slovenly. He ought to be so dressed that he will not call attention to himself, but only to his message."

Mr. Sweetland described his work in Zion City, where he is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, which, he said, had been located there for fifty years, many years before Zion City was established.

He said that the Methodist church had doubled its membership in the last year and that 400 were enrolled in the Sunday school.

He stated that the followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva constituted one-half of the population of Zion City.

The Rev. Ernest Wray Oneal, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago, will preach today at 10:30 o'clock.

The Swedish encampment will observe today the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of Scandinavian work at the camp meeting. The Norwegians and Danes will unite in the service because at the beginning of the camp meeting all three nationalities met together. At the present time the nationalities worship in separate tabernacles which they have built.

Pioneer at Camp Meeting.

One of the Swedish pioneers on the camp ground was Capt. C. M. Lindgren, father of John R. Lindgren, for years cashier of the State Bank of Chicago. Capt. Lindgren furnished canvas from his sail boats to make the first tents that were used. The Rev. N. O. Westergreen will be the oldest Swedish minister present at the celebration. He was present on the Desplaines camp ground the year before the Swedish work was established and one year after the work was begun, but happened to be away on the exact date of its founding. He will be 90 years of age next week Saturday.

Girl Sculptor Wins Fair Frieze Prize.

MISS KATHLEEN BEVERLEY ROBINSON, a young Canadian girl sculptor, who adopted Chicago for her home six years ago, and George E. Ganiere, also a Chicagoan, are the winners of the principal prizes in the competition conducted by the Illinois commission to the Panama-Pacific International exposition to obtain suitable designs for the ornamentation of the frieze of the Illinois state building now being constructed at the exposition.

The names of the winners were announced yesterday by the state art commission, which held a special meeting Tuesday for the purpose of inspecting the designs submitted.

Miss Agnes V. Fromen of 6056 Kenwood avenue won two of the prizes—one second and one third prize, while Ganiere not only won one of the first prizes, but one second prize and one third prize, as well, winning three out of the six offered.

Ganiere will probably not know until today of his good fortune, as he is fishing at Bass lake, in Indiana.

The close of the contest has served to considerably clarify the air at the studio of Lorado Taft, the sculptor, at 6016 Ellis avenue, because, through an odd coincidence, all three of the prize winners are students at Mr. Taft's studio and are protégés of his.

Neither Mr. Taft nor any of the other members of the art commission who viewed the designs were aware of the identity of the contestants until the six prize winning designs had been chosen.

The first prize was for $100, while Mr. Ganiere will receive $225 for his three designs, and Miss Fromen will receive $125 for her two successful designs. The competition was extensively advertised, and was open to all artists and sculptors in Illinois. The three winners are sculptors.

Miss Robinson, who with Mr. Ganiere shares the two first prizes, is a young girl. She is a native of Aurora, Ont., and is a granddaughter of John B. Robinson, who was lieutenant governor of Ontario.

She came to Chicago in 1908 and has been a student of Mr. Taft, first at the Art institute, then at his studio since.

Miss Robinson is now engaged upon a memorial to Mrs. Milward Adams to be placed in the Art institute, and is the sculptress of a group entitled "Inspiration," for which she received the Shaffer prize for sculpture in 1913. She lives at 7338 Crandon avenue.

Mr. Ganiere for several years has made a specialty of modeling heads and busts of Lincoln.

Miss Robinson's winning design shows the Jesuits who discovered Illinois, then La Salle and the French, and then the settlers. The young "Illinois" sits enthroned in the center of the piece, while about her are grouped a boy and a girl, representing the youth of the state. Two men, one on each side, represent the guardian and the builder of the state. In another part of the drawing are the Indians at peace, and in another the red men hostile, while yet another group shows the whites defending themselves.

Physicians Watch Self-Denial Plan.

WOMEN physicians in Chicago are watching with interest and some degree of apprehension the suggestions of women for measures of self-denial to be practiced in order to raise the $50,000 fund to be given to help the seven states campaigning for suffrage.

It is feared some of the women, in their enthusiasm, may deny themselves in such a way as to imperil their health in order to contribute to the sum being raised by the Illinois Equal Suffrage association.

Means of self-denial which will improve rather than impair the suffragists' health have been suggested by two physicians.

"It is not wise to indulge in candies, heavy meats and gravies and rich creams during the hot summer months," says Dr. Effa V. Davis, a member of the Chicago Political Equality league. "It would be a wise measure of self-denial for the women who wish to contribute to the fund to give up meats and sweets until Aug. 15. Both tend to overheat the body, and people are much better without them. As meats and sweets are expensive, this method of self-denial would prove both helpful and hygienic.

"I intend to save the money for my own contribution by washing my own blouses. They can be easily dried on the back porch, where the sun will thoroughly sterilize them, and then ironed in the kitchen. This will save my cleaner's bills, which would amount to a generous sum. Any woman who has the time might wash out her own undervests and stockings in order to save at least a part of the launderer's bill."

Dr. Anna Dwyer, physician for the Morals court, says one of the best means of saving for the fund is for women to deny themselves a few sodas, sundaes, and boxes of candy.

"Women are healthier and better if they do not indulge in too many sodas in extremely hot weather. Trips to summer parks are rather expensive and quite fatiguing. A few excursions of this sort might be abandoned with advantage, both financially and physically, by the women."

Mrs. Henry Jaffrey, chairman of the Seventh ward Civic league, agrees with the doctors.

"It would also be a wise plan if women were to give up unnecessary street car rides. I know many women who take a street car when they have only three blocks to ride. It would be much better for them to walk and a neat little sum would be saved."

At Camp Good Will.

One hundred and sixty-one children arrived in Camp Good Will, Evanston, yesterday, and 182 went back to the city. The reason for the decrease is that the camp was badly crowded last week and it is thought that with the restricted room at the command of the officials of the camp this week's crowd of children will be handled much more easily.

The First Presbyterian church of Evanston has charge of the camp for this week, and Mrs. F. A. Hesler, 1612 Oak avenue, is president of the committee which is in charge of the camp.

The Evanston branch of the W. C. T. U. has offered to take charge of the children tomorrow afternoon and a program is being prepared for them.

Pimples in Clusters. Kept Getting Worse. Clothing Irritated. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed in Two Weeks.

P. O. Box 13, Kimball, Neb.—"My right limb began itching in several places. Then the eczema came in the form of pimples in clusters and after I would scratch them they would form one lump. It kept getting worse. The itching was intense. My clothing irritated the eruption, also the air. I could not sleep.

"I sent to the drug store and got a bottle of so-called ———— which did no good. I tried everything recommended for it but it kept getting worse. A year after the beginning of the itching I was covered with big itching blotches and the itching was terrible. I could do nothing but scratch and the more I scratched the worse it would itch and burn. I saw a testimonial someone had written about being healed of eczema with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. Then I sent to the drug store and got some more. In two days I was better, in a week the itching had stopped and in two weeks the eczema was all gone." (Signed) Mrs. Henry H. Prouty, Apr. 21, 1914.

"SNAKEVILLE'S NEW WAITRESS."

Essanay.

Sophie	Margaret Joslin
Slippery Slim	Victor Potel
Mustang Pete	Harry Todd
Cook	Bud Jerome

THE consistently funny Snaxevilliens are funnier than ever in this amusing film in which Sophie varies her usual career by "going out to service," with very happy results for a lone lady she finds. Mustang Pete, appearing as mine host of the Snakeville inn, has such difficulties with the incumbent waitress as lead to the sudden severing of their relationship. Her departure leaves him submerged in the glums, for a waitressless hotel is almost worse than a cookless one. Across the darkness of his mood shines the sudden smiles of Sophie Clutts, just arrived on the stage, who announces that she is looking for a job as waitress.

Mustang Pete embraces the offer of her services instantly, and wishes to embrace herself, considering her rather in the light of an angel than a waitress. And so does Sophie appeal to all the hotel's guests, who are chiefly the cowboys on the Bar Q ranch. Everybody prefers a smile from Sophie to a hot potato, and all bid for her favor, from the cook to mine host.

More enterprising than any one, however, is Slippery Slim, who approaches Sophie with an invitation to go horseback riding. Sophie accepts with smiles mantling the whole of her generous facial layout, and Slim, fairly oozing bliss, brings up the horses, while all the boys look enviously on. But Slim was to learn that a horse and the lady's consent are not the only essentials to a pleasant ride. One of the most important necessities is to get the lady on the horse, a difficult feat Slim discovers when he endeavors to hoist the avoirdupoisic Sophie hitherwards, to the amused observation of the ring of cowboy observers.

After futile strugglings, Slim enlists a derrick depending from the haymow, and after fastening Sophie securely lifts her to the height requisite to approach the horses from the upper level. At this critical moment a pistol shot from one of the cowboys incites the restless steed to winged flight, and Slim pursues him, leaving Sophie a-dangle. She is rescued from her aerial suspense by Mustang Pete, who soothes her ruffled spirits by a ride in his buggy. While they ride, Slim pursues his errant horse, finally getting hold of his tail and traveling long miles—apparently—thus convoyed.

Then he pursues the riders, and when a roadside stop is necessitated by some matter of the harness repair, he attaches the buggy's back wheel to a post and frightens the horse into a bolt, which makes it Mustang Pete's turn to chase his horse, and Slim's to rescue the lady. In triumph he returns her to the starting place, personally conducting the buggy while riding his horse.

This film deserves to be starred as one of the clearest streaks of fun in motion picturedom.

Fresh Air in Big Theaters.

A recent item in The Movies department criticised the state of the air on a recent hot day in Orchestra hall and the Studebaker, theaters that are occupied during these moving picture days for a greater number of hours than is customary. The managers of both theaters protest they are furnishing abundant fresh air.

Frederick J. Wessels, manager of Orchestra hall, says that room receives 52,000 cubic feet of fresh air every minute by way of its big air pumping machine, and that tab is kept on the prevailing climatic conditions of the interior by means of thermometers consulted and recorded every half hour.

Sam Lederer, manager of the Studebaker, says that theater is provided with a ventilating system costing several thousand dollars, installed only this year and bearing the approval of the city health authorities, which is kept in constant operation during the performances.

Traveling by Travelette.

The Travelette offering for this week at the Studebaker takes the observer on a hike through Luzon island, over the excellent highways that under Uncle Sam's administration have replaced the old time carabao trails of fifteen years ago. There is much scenery and a deal of native life, the ways of the Igorots occupying much of the interest. Howard Huse is the lecturer for this wek, coming from Cleveland, where the Luzon lecture was satisfyingly received. The "New Manila" lecture has moved on for a week at the Wilson Avenue theater.

Economical Housekeeping

By Jane Eddington

Salad Ideas.

A COOK book, sold at one of the great vegetarian restaurants in London, has the title, "Meatless Cookery," and despite the fact that it indorses so much that is vegetarian, it says: "As many people confound meatless cooking with vegetarian cooking, it may be as well to emphasize the fact that this is not a vegetarian recipe book, but it does contain many vegetarian recipes."

The author gives as a reason a good reason as far as it goes, for the growing popularity of meatless food, economy. She finds that for various reasons of health, convenience, economy, humanity, religion, and fashion, it has come about that there is today a large and increasing demand for instruction in the preparation of meatless foods.

History has brought this about as follows:

"In days when the Roman Catholic faith was general, the results of a heavy meat diet were modified by frequent fast days; but when England became a Protestant country, then, indeed, the roast beef of old England and its accompanying beer reigned supreme, and plenty of beef and plenty of beer seems to have been the ambition of every man. Slowly surely, however, the condition of life changed; trade increased; people traveled and brought home new ideas; life became more and more strenuous, and the great exodus from country to town took place.

"With the introduction of quick and cheap modes of traveling and all that it implied, sweeping changes resulted in the life of the people, until today we arrive at the necessity of considering the diet of a gigantic population of hard working men and women, recruited from all classes, who can take but little physical exercise, and whose life is spent chiefly in the more or less vitiated air of large cities; people, too, who have to pay for the hard drinking habits of their forefathers."

Reasons for economy and a meatless diet blend. Many people would like to be economical in this way, but it requires a good deal of intelligence about foods to be a successful vegetarian. It requires just as much intelligence to be a rational meat eater, but people mostly eat the meat and pay somebody else to supply intelligent treatment of the results.

Vegetable salads are something that all can accept, as meat salads are an anomaly. The first of the following contains distinct economy for this season and some of the others have ideas a little out of the ordinary. They are all from "Meatless Cookery."

LETTUCE STALK SALAD.—"Take the stalks from lettuces running to seed and tie them in bundles, cutting them more or less the same size. Place in a saucepan and boil until tender, ten to fifteen minutes. Take out and drain them and allow them to get quite cold. Then cut up into slices of the same size, place in a salad bowl, and cover with a mayonnaise sauce."

BEET ROOT AND CUCUMBER SALAD.—"Make a center of slices beet root and then a ring of the cucumber, which should be sliced but not peeled; then add a ring of beet root, another of cucumber. Cover with mayonnaise sauce and decorate with slices of cucumber and little shapes cut out of beet root."

This salad would be more digestible for most people if served with French dressing. Of course the cucumber should no be old if the skin is to be eaten, but, if young, it is an excellent idea to eat it."

LETTUCE SALAD.—"Choose crisp lettuces, cut off the stalk, and remove the outer leaves—when well washed these may be used for lettuce purée—tear the lettuce in pieces, on no account cut it, and wash it in a bowl of cold water. Place it in a clean cloth and swing it round until dry. This method of drying by centrifugal force gets rid of the moisture and does not bruise the lettuce. Rub the salad bowl with a slice of onion, and, if a strong flavor is liked, place half a small peeled onion in the center of the bowl, or use a chapon. Mix in the bowl one dessertspoonful of the best wine vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of oil, and add a little salt and a good dusting of freshly ground black pepper. Stir the lettuces round lightly in the mixture and serve. This quantity of oil and vinegar is sufficient for about two medium lettuces, but only experience teaches the exact quantity to use. The leaves should merely be coated with dressing, and no remains of it should be left in the bottom of the bowl, when the salad is mixed."

Garlic should never be added directly to a salad, but those who like the flavor to be pronounced not only rub the bowl with it, but always use the chapon.

Fashions Direct from Paris

Popularity of Lace Increasing.

PARIS.—[Special correspondence.]—Laces have come into their own again. Deep flounces of heavy, wonderfully embroidered laces adorn frocks of the soft taffeta that is so popular with the designers. I have sketched an afternoon frock of taffeta in the palest biscuit shade.

A word about this new shade seems timely. It has become so popular that it threatens to supersede white. The tone is soft and most becoming. It has the charm of "age" that parchment has. A soft, creamy, lovely shade it is, which won its way into the hearts of Parisiennes the moment it was seen.

When Madame Paquin had her private view of the gowns she was sending to the exposition at Lyons laces were conspicuous by their absence. In spite of that fact the popularity of lace has become increasingly great. Just now Callot, Doucet, and Premet are its most enthusiastic sponsors.

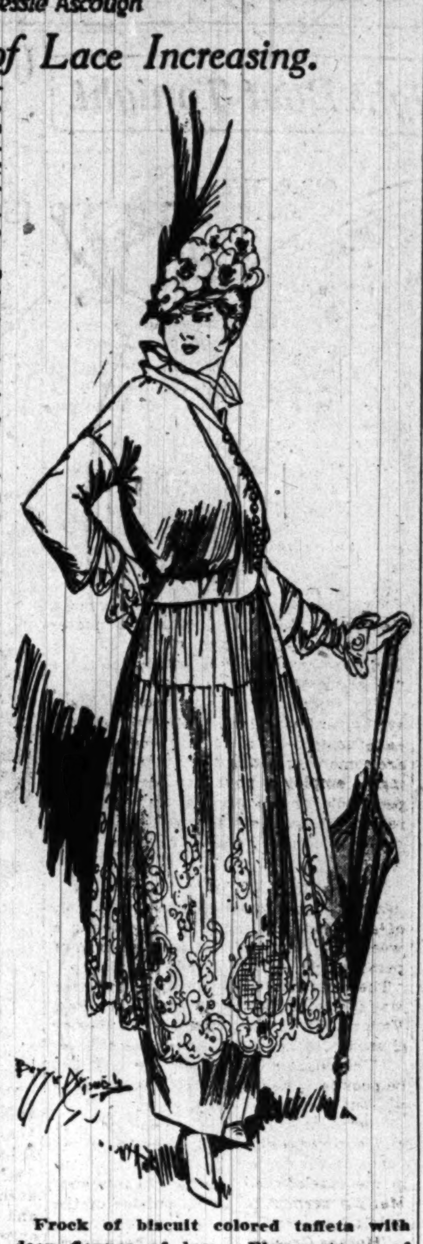
Flouncings in black and white combinations are seen on Callot creations. White and delicate cream laces adorn the frocks which Doucet brings forth. Delicate metallic tracings are seen on some of the laces for evening wear.

One of the most interesting facts about the vogue of laces is that Premet has fostered dyed laces. That may mean the popularity of dyed laces for autumn.

The lace flounce was not the only distinguishing feature of the attractive little frock I sketched. A rather deep outstanding collar of the sheerest of sheer organdies in the soft creamy shade was a novelty. The pretty little maid who wore it looked charming, but I do not recommend it to every one. A neck of "length and beauty" as the French are wont to say would be most attractive framed about with one of these collars, but I shudder to think of the short plump neck encased in one.

The waist of the dainty frock was a basque with the quaintest of tiny peplums. Undersleeves of handsome lace in the same pattern as the flounce on the skirt fell in deep frills over the hands.

Blue buttons of the beauty of the sky on a bright summer's day gave a touch of color to the frock. A parasol of the same indescribable color was carried. The smart toque of biscuit colored tulle in the new flower design with a sheaf of the same brilliant blue feathers at the side was a crowning work of art.



Frock of biscuit colored taffeta with deep flounce of lace. Flower toque of biscuit colored tulle with sheaf of brilliant blue feathers.

Doris Blake Says

"Obtaining the vote doesn't make women masculine any more than it does some men."

Confirmed Bachelor Girl.

"I CAN'T give up my jolly, independent life for any man," Miss Business writes. "I feel sure that housekeeping would be a sorry exchange for the office work which I like so much. Two men want to marry me—one is young, handsome, and charming, the other is rich. But I have declined them both. I am not 'in love with love'—as so many girls seem to be. Give me the battle of life and the money I earn myself! Don't you think I have done right to refuse these two proposals and to settle down into a confirmed bachelor girl?"

I must say, little Miss Business, that a "confirmed bachelor girl" isn't the happiest lot in the world. It is very natural to object to marrying a certain man, but to object to marrying any one at all—well, I'm old fashioned enough to think that all girls should have their share of pretty daydreams about the fairy prince who will appear one day. A girl who is anxious to crush all romance out of her life loses charm. A little air of sentiment should hang around every woman—just as perfume clings to a rose.

Independence is a precious gift when one is young! It is good to order a sweet and sticky (and thoroughly unwholesome) luncheon, and then buy a new hat or go to a matinee. Pay day is a fête day if you are a bachelor girl and you have only yourself to take care of.

When your married sister puts on her last year's coat and skirt and goes out shopping it is to buy the children shoes or curtains for the house. A few years ago she was like you are today—a smartly dressed girl with a keen affection for pretty things. You thank Providence that you are independent, earning your own money and spending it, too. You feel sorry for the shabby little married woman!

Wasted pity, my dear little Miss Business! She is probably saying to her husband: "Poor Mary! Isn't it a shame she does not get married?"

She doesn't complain about her last year's clothes. So, you see, there must be some advantages about married life!

Whenever I see a clever, capable business girl I like to think that she is "in training." I don't like to fancy that she is going to end her life in an office. I like to imagine her becoming a happy wife and mother, all the more methodical and self-reliant for the years in which she fended for herself.

I don't say that it is impossible to be happy single. But I do say that it is easier to be happy married.

Don't let your chance for happiness go by, Miss Business!

Doesn't Want to Marry.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am very much in love with a young lady 20. I am 21. I have been going with her for a year but have never asked her to marry me. I love her, yet I do not want to marry her, as I have another friend I think as much of as I do her. I believe she thinks I intend marrying her. How must I let her know that I don't intend marrying her, yet I want to keep going with her? I don't want to tell her, as she is very tender hearted and I know she loves me dearly. "U."

If you feel that the girl is in love with you and if you know that you do not want to marry her, the best thing for you to do is simply to stop seeing her altogether. It is most unjust of you to monopolize her time when you know that you will never marry her.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand

By Marion Harland

Burns the Ashes.

"A REQUEST for a coal burning formula must be this: Common salt, one pound; oxalic acid, two ounces; water, one gallon. Stir together and moisten with a mixture composed of one part coal and three parts ashes. I suggest that the coal be slack and ashes free from clinkers, etc.; ashes and coal should be mixed well before the addition of the liquid mixture. Complete, they should show a fairly well moistened condition. "S. O. E."

Ways of Cooking.

"Somebody asked some little time ago for various ways of cooking rhubarb. You suggested one or two. I am taking the liberty of sending a couple we have found excellent and wholesome. As you say truly, rhubarb is highly remedial. I am surprised to see how few women ever think of varying methods of cooking it.

"Rhubarb Butter: Scrape the stalks, but do not peel. The skin gives flavor and color to the 'butter.' Cut into inch lengths and cook them tender in just enough water to cover them. Stir often, and when they are soft, drain and run through the colander. Do not press in draining, as the rhubarb must not be dry. Weigh the pulp when it has passed the colander and return to the fire with an equal amount of sugar. Cook to a smooth compote. It should be a rich wine color. My children prefer it to any other sweet with bread and butter.

"Rhubarb Jelly: Cut the rhubarb into inch lengths, and to two quarts add a scant cup of water. Simmer until it is soft. Squeeze through a cheese cloth jelly bag, a cup at a time, as the fibers will clog the bag if a large quantity is put in. Measure the juice and return to the fire. Allow a pound of sugar to each pint of the liquid. Heat the sugar in pans in the oven. Add the juice of a lemon to each quart of the rhubarb liquid when it has cooked ten minutes. Boil fast for ten minutes longer and add the heated sugar slowly, stirring all the time. After the sugar is all in, boil hard one minute and pour the jelly into glasses that have been rolled in hot water. When the jelly is cold, cover with melted parafin. "ISABEL J. A."

Hot Water Cake.

"Mrs. J. A. S. asks for a recipe for hot water cake. I am sending one I have used for years and it always turns out well. It is good and economical. Six eggs, two cups sugar, two cups of flour, half cup of boiling water, the grated rind of half a lemon, and a teaspoon of the juice. Beat the yolks and sugar to a froth; also beat the whites to a froth, as stiff as possible. Add the lemon to the yolks and sugar; then the boiling water; next the stiff whites; then the flour last of all. REBECCA M."

Salt Rising Bread.

"Seeing a call two or three weeks ago for a recipe for salt rising bread with cornmeal, I am sending a recipe I have been most successful with. I hope it is the one wanted: Bring to the boiling point half pint of new milk and one and one-half pints of water. Pour this, boiling hot, over three tablespoons of cornmeal; add a pinch of salt; let it stand overnight in a covered vessel. In the morning stir in flour enough to make a stiff batter and beat hard; place vessel in warm water and let it rise. In making up the bread put a little lard, salt, and sugar to taste in it. Mold into loaves; let it rise again. Bake forty-five minutes. I have tried many recipes for salt rising bread and find this the only sure one. It makes four fine, white loaves of delicious, wholesome bread. MRS. D. T. McI."

Would Join Camp Fire Girls.

"I am 18 years old and would like to join the Camp Fire Girls. Kindly forward my address to any one who would care to correspond with me with regard to the same, and any information I may get I shall be grateful for, I assure you. "STENOGRAPHER."

I sent out what may be called a "hurry call" to our Camp Fire Girls some days ago, asking them to tell another correspondent what you and she wish to know of the methods of getting into touch with their admirable organization. Watch the Corner for the information they will surely send in for both of you.

Sough Long and Vainly.

"Will you tell H. B. C. that I owe her many thanks for the copy of 'No Sect in Heaven' for which I had sought long and vainly? I had it in my girlhood days and I am charmed to get it again. I wish I could reciprocate the favor in some way, and I will when opportunity offers. "GRATEFUL CORNERITE."

In acknowledging the kindness and wishing that you can, in your turn, shed a sparkle into a dark corner or kick a pebble out of a cripple's path, you make all the return we could desire.

Baby Has Few Toys.

"I am employed constantly and my baby has few playthings. I am unable to buy her any, but could manage to pay postage on a doll, if I might have it. "MARGARET H."

We see it all in the few lines penned by the busy mother. Our juniorest members must take the matter in hand. Who has outgrown a doll that is too good to throw away? And toys that will go into the ash cart before they are worn out—what better use can they be put to than by packing a case to be sent by parcel post to the toy-less and doll-less baby?

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

By Lillian Russell

Summer Girls.

[Copyright: 1914: By Lillian Russell.]

IF YOU appreciate your fine, even hair, do not be deceived by curling fluids. There is nothing manufactured that can make straight hair curl permanently, nor will anything applied to the hair, before curling, keep the hair in curl for long.

Curling fluids are made of quince seed, which by a process of boiling and straining forms into a mucilage. That liquid is applied to the hair, then hot irons are used to curl the hair. If the process does cause the hair to remain in curl, it soon appears like straw and in a short time will break off.

Imagine how unclean a nice head of hair would become after a week of curling with hot irons, while saturated with mucilage. I cannot imagine anything less sanitary. The application of the mucilage alone would collect dust and microbes. The curls could not look natural. They would always look stiff and woodeny.

There are but two ways to keep naturally straight hair, which has been curled, in curl. One is to frizz it up with a comb after curling, then wear a net to keep it in place. Another is to curl the hair, then after it is arranged in place just as you want it, sprinkle a good hair tonic over it until it becomes quite wet and tie a wide ribbon or cloth tightly over it, leaving it there until it is thoroughly dry. The latter process has a decided tendency to make the hair curl almost naturally in time.

I know many girls who dress their hair just as they want it, then wet it with a quinine tonic, tie it up, and leave it until they go out, and they tell me they never have any trouble wih their hair in damp weather. It keeps in curl beautifully. One girl assured me she made her hair naturally wavy by persisting in that habit. She does not have to wave the hair any more; she simply places it just as she wants it, then sprinkles on the tonic, and it remains that way for days.

In any case the mucilage fluids should never be used. Your hair is a crown to your face and should be prized as a crown.

Remember, the hair is not only invaluable as a covering to the head, but when cared for gives grace to the features which it surrounds.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

M. S.: I am sorry, but I cannot give formulas for hair dyes or bleaches. I do not advise any one to change the color of her hair. Bleaches and dyes may ruin the hair. It is almost impossible to keep hair that has been dyed one shade. The roots always turn back to their natural color, while the rest of the hair becomes streaked. Once the hair is dyed you are forever a slave to the dyeing process. The hair becomes dry and brittle, and breaks off easily after a dye is used a short time.

A. B.: I am sorry I cannot send you a formula for face powder. They are difficult to make, as it is almost impossible for any one to get them as fine as they should be. There are many good face powders on the market. Be sure when buying powder that you get a good one and that it agrees with your skin.

ANNA: I cannot give you a remedy for removing moles. Don't tamper with them in any way; they are dangerous. Often when irritated they cause growths. It is best to leave them as they are. I would not advise you to attempt to remove them in any way.

MRS. E. W. J.: If you will send me the required stamped, addressed envelope I shall be glad to send you the formula for reducing flesh, also the dietary.

GERTRUDE: I am sorry, but I cannot give you a cure for goiter. This needs the attention of a good physician. Consult one immediately before the goiter becomes larger.

EXPOSE JOHNSON AS FIGHT FIXER; LONDON AROUSED

Negro Agrees to Give Moran 40 Per Cent of Receipts to Lay Down.

SMITH A BIG FAVORITE

Boxers Chaff Over Phone

LONDON, July 15.—During the morning Carpentier called up Smith on the telephone and exchanged chaff with him in broken English

"How do you feel?" asked Carpentier.

"I'm fine, thanks," responded Smith.

"I hope I knock you out in ten rounds," said the Frenchman.

"I hope you don't," said "Gunboat."

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 15.—A bombshell was hurled among the thousands of sporting men and fight fans who have gathered here from all parts of Europe and America for the "Gunboat" Smith-Georges Carpentier international bout for the white championship in the Olympia tomorrow night when publicity was given to the complete correspondence and contracts whereby Jack Johnson, who recently defeated Frank Moran in Paris for the heavyweight title, agreed on the morning of the fight to give Moran 40 per cent of the receipts if Moran would lay down in the eighth round.

Moran, with his manager, McKettrick, double crossed Johnson. McKettrick, in order that there might be no mistake or doubt about the matter, produced the documents in person.

Return of Agreement Demanded.

Moran fought his best throughout the twenty rounds and completely nonplused the big negro fighter, who by his skill, ring generalship, and experience was enabled to stay to the limit, McKettrick declared. Furthermore, McKettrick says, Johnson demanded after the fight that he and Moran return the agreement.

As a result of his exposure, which is the sole topic of discussion tonight, even to the exclusion of the probable outcome of tomorrow's battle, public sentiment is at white heat against Johnson and Europe is possessed with only one desire—to drive Johnson from the ring.

Smith Topheavy Favorite.

Smith is the topheavy favorite in the betting on the Olympia contest against Carpentier and American money is going begging everywhere for the lack of sufficient bets to cover offers.

The Strand is ablaze with American sailors tonight. Two United States battleships, the Missouri and the Illinois, which belong to the practice squadron, dropped anchor at Gravesend this afternoon. The American commodore called on Ambassador Page and subsequently a large percentage of the American jackies were given shore leave. No formal entertainment was suggested or desired. Every American sailor's heart is beating hard tonight for Smith.

Many Sailors to See Bout.

Of the 620 men aboard the two ships, about 500 may see the big fight, and this in spite of the fact that more than 1,000 Frenchmen and other Carpentier partisans have been unable to obtain reservations in the Olympia. Buckley, Smith's manager, declares he will take care of the sailor boys if he has to put them all in Smith's corner.

Smith, his backers and manager say, will fight the battle of his career. The sailor boys are willing to hypothecate everything on Gunboat's chances. The Metropole, Carpentier's headquarters, is besieged with frantic Frenchmen who are bewildered at the American's daring.

Nobility Reserves Seats.

European nobility is numbered among those who have reserved seats for the fight. Such names as these are among the list: Grand Duke Michael of Russia, Lord Lonsdale, Lord Abercrombie, Lord Faber, Lord Vivian, Marquis Litchfield, Lord FitzWilliam, and the Hon. Walter Maxwell. A great many actors and actresses, and sporting men and sporting writers by the hundreds also will be seated about the ring.

KING SHOWS INTEREST.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, July 15.—King George evinced his interest in the Smith-Carpentier match by graciously replying to a telegram sent to him by those in charge of the affair today. That there will be an extraordinary attendance of women is evidenced by the fact that tickets have been sold to 700 of them, comprising English, French, and Americans.

Fired by the example of the Rev. John Hervey Boudier, who acted as master of ceremonies at the Welsh-Ritchie match, and of the Rev. Everard Digby, who occupied a similar position at the Wells-Bell match, many clergymen have obtained seats around the arena and are said to intend to bring their wives with them.

According to the announced weights, Smith tips the balance at 182 and Carpentier at 170 pounds. Smith spent a quiet day and went to bed early. Carpentier went motoring and visited the theater in the evening.

COME ON, WILLARD: JOHNSON

Manager Jones Receives Message from London Showing Attitude of Champion.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—[Special.]—Tom Jones, manager of Jess Willard, received a telegram from Bob Vernon in London today that he had at last received the consent of Jack Johnson to meet Willard for the championship of the world at any place and date suitable to Jones. Jim Jeffries says that if the match is held in Paris or London he will accompany the big fighter and second him. Jeffries says: "Anything to restore the title to the white race."

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Eddie Kane, manager of Chuck Larson, yesterday matched his protégé with Pal Brown, the Hibbing, Minn., lightweight, for a ten round bout at Superior, Wis., July 31.

"Bat" White, a brother of Charley White, was matched to box Dick Hammer eight rounds at Hammond July 28. White and Hammer have met before and each man claimed a victory after ten rounds.

WHITE UNMARKED BY FIGHT; PREPARES FOR AZEVEDO GO.

Chicagoan, Without Scratch from Yoakum Mill, Will Leave for the Coast in Short Time.

Denver, Colo., July 15.—[Special.]—Charley White, who last night knocked out Stanley Yoakum in the nineteenth round of a scheduled twenty round fight, was around town today with not a scratch on his features to show that he had been engaged in a fistic encounter.

White will leave tomorrow at noon with his wife and Manager Nate Lewis for Glenwood Springs, Colo., where the fighter will rest for a few days. From there he will go to San Francisco to train for his go with Joe Azevedo, scheduled for Aug. 7. This also will be a twenty round bout.

Coloradoans are not yet over their surprise at the manner in which White stayed nineteen rounds with the "toughest nut of the Rockies," and yet came out as strong at the finish as when he entered the ring. They had thought the altitude would get the Chicagoan, but he was not in the least affected by it. Cal Shears, who promoted the White-Yoakum fight, is doing all in his power to bring White and Freddie Welsh together in Denver. The total receipts last night were $11,000.

Yoakum remained in seclusion today. He's nursing a badly battered face.

Jeanette Wins After Foul.

New York, July 15.—Joe Jeanette, the Hoboken heavyweight, fell to the floor of the ring after being fouled in the first round of his ten round bout with Battling Jim Johnson of Philadelphia tonight, but he came back and outpointed and outpunched Johnson before the final bell. The referee decided that Johnson's low blow to Jeanette's body was unintentional, but gave Jeanette time to recuperate.

WOMEN FUSS HURLER MATTY

GRANTLAND RICE VICTOR.

Giants' Star Attributes His Defeat to Too Much Excitement.

BY HANDY ANDY.

Christy Mathewson played eighteen holes of golf with Grantland Rice at the South Shore Country club yesterday under what he termed the "most trying conditions" of his entire athletic career. Matty said that also explained why Grant Rice came in with an 83, while he took six more strokes in making the round.

Matty started out with Will Booth, old time ball player and member of the board of trade. There was a woman's tourney in full swing and few recognized the star twirler of the Giants. The first round went to Matty, 3 and 2.

When the pair returned to the clubhouse, however, the news had spread that the great Mathewson was to play Grant Rice. The tourney was forgotten for the moment and the women crowded about the players. A large gallery composed almost entirely of women trudged all the way around the course.

"I've played in many exciting games and have heard the stands roar in an effort to rattle me in a world's series game, but I never was more embarrassed than I was today," said Christy.

"I don't believe I ever was so fussed and upset. If any one should ask me what is the most nerve shattering ordeal I'd tell him it is an attempt to hole out with a ten foot putt with a gallery of women hanging about your heels."

EIGHT IN CLAY COURT PLAY.

Four Californians Survive Matches at Cincinnati After Fourth Round of Tourney.

Cincinnati, O., July 15.—With all the matches in the fourth round of the fifth clay court championship tennis tourney completed, four Californians, one Minnesotan, and three Ohioans remain tonight to contest for championship honors in the men's singles.

Ella Fottrell and Clarence Griffin of San Francisco, Nat Browne and Claude Wayne of Los Angeles, J. J. Armstrong of St. Paul, and R. A. Holden Jr., Clifford Lockhorn, and H. T. Emerson of Cincinnati, won their way into the fifth round here today.

In the women's singles both Miss Mary Browne of Chicago, national woman champion, and her sister, Mrs. R. H. Williams of Chicago, won their way into the fourth round, as did also the Misses Madelle and Mary Lyons of Louisville.

BUNDY LOSES IN NET PLAY.

Californian, Complaining of Hot, Moist Weather, Drops Two Sets to Prentice.

Seabright, N. J., July 15.—The sensation on the courts of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club in the Davis cup test matches today was the elimination of Thomas C. Bundy of California, who was beaten by B. S. Prentice, 6—0, 2—6, 6—3. The partner of Maurice F. McLoughlin declared that the hot, moist weather had taken every bit of energy out of him.

R. Norris Williams II. of last year's cup team, and R. Lindley Murray, the young Californian, were the only consistent performers.

Williams defeated F. C. Inman, 6—3, 6—4. Murray was right on his toes against W. F. Johnson of Philadelphia, and won, 6—2, 6—3.

Coon and Steiner Victors.

Prof. R. H. Coon and Jesse F. Steiner, a missionary taking a graduate course, won the doubles finals of the University of Chicago tournament in straight sets yesterday, defeating Prof. Walter E. Clark and Paul Chinappa, 6—1, 6—6, and 6—2.

GARDNER EQUALS RAVISLOE MARK

Hinsdale Star Covers Course in 71 in District Tournament.

C. EVANS LEADS FIELD.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

"Chick" Evans and Bob Gardner monopolized most of the attention and furnished the majority of the thrills in the first annual tournament of the Chicago District Golf association, which started yesterday at the Ravisloe Country club.

Playing in his first tournament of the year, Gardner, the national champion of 1909, equaled the professional record for the course, held by Lawrence Auchterlonie, at 71, and took three strokes off the amateur mark. He went out in thirty-four and came home in thirty-seven. This was a little too fast for Evans, who was paired with him, and the Hinsdale star led the former western champion by four strokes at the end of the morning round.

Evans Improves in P. M.

In the afternoon positions were reversed, as Evans was in his best scoring mood, while aGrdner was unable to sustain his clocklike work of the morning. "Chick" began to make up his lost ground at the first hole, where he sunk a twenty-five foot putt for a three, and after he had taken three shots to hole out from five feet on the second green he began to overhaul Gardner.

Reaching the turn in thirty-five, it was evident Evans had a chance to duplicate the performance of Gardner, or perhaps beat it. He made few mistakes except missing a few chances on the putting greens, and that is one of his best tricks. At the home green he had a chance for a two on a fairly long putt, but had to be satisfied with a three, which gave him a total of 146 for the day and left him three strokes ahead of Gardner, who scored 78 in the afternoon and secured a total of 149.

Brisk Breeze Helps Drives.

With a brisk breeze behind them on some of the holes, the players were able to get some great distances. Gardner picked off the third hole, 575 yards, with a 4 in the morning, and in the afternoon Evans got well over 300 yards on his tee shot.

In the Wake of the News.

BY RING W. LARDNER.

A NATURAL QUESTION.

J. Miller, a St. Louis Card
  Of credit and renown,
Strolled out into the baseball yard
  In old St. Louis town.

His manager ran up to J.
  And said to him, said he:
"Third base is where you ought to play
  Today, it seems to me."

And J. responded: "As you wish;
  I'll play wher'er you say.
But why give me the same posish
  You gave me yesterday?"

Jack Miller doesn't see how any one can call life in St. Louis monotonous.

The difference between Miller and Josh Devore is that the former walks from place to place instead of taking the train.

Every night our new deskmate leaves on the desk, for our perusal, a thot (his spelling) or a bit of verse. It was a thot last night. "Why is it, if any one wants to find out where the western city limits are or whether the moon or sun affects the tides, he calls up the sporting department?"

Jakey Atz's many friends in this city will be interested in the news that he has accepted a lucrative position as manager of the Fort Worth Panthers. We, for one, would like to be a Fort Worth Panther.

Says Brother Rocap: "In order to settle disputes and put an end to considerable controversy which has arisen recently, Smith was born in Philadelphia and baptised in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Eighteenth and Catherine streets." That's as harmless a way as any of ending all arguments.

We're in favor of a match between Bat Nelson and Freddie Welsh on condition that Freddie be permitted to carry a brick in each glove.

A New York correspondent tells us that C. P. Taft refused an offer of $800,000 for the Cubs last spring, but we have it on good authority that approximately $775,000 of the $800,000 was invisible.

CEDAR LAKE DEPARTMENT.

Let those who will with you abide;
Yes, let them stay in Riverside
With you and John and little Jim.
But let me keep my Paul and Tim
In what's a darn sight better place;
I tell you this with pretty grace.
If you from me a tip will take,
Come meet us all at Cedar Lake.

J. T. U. R.

The fact that Lefty Baumgartner held Cincinnati to one hit in five innings leads his Maroon friends to hope that some day he will be able to fool a big league team.

FABLE.

Once upon a time a baseball game, nine innings in length, was played at the West Side park in less than four hours.

GOOF DEPARTMENT.

HE'S A MARRIED MAN.

Mr. Weeghman, you should know,
We ladies all do love you so,
Because you did not care to slight us,
But to your ball yard did invite us.
We cheered the home team through a game
That lessened much the Hoosier fame.
The White Sox call our day a jinx.
But we, methinx, assist the Tinx.

E. C. B.

IT SOUNDS LIKE IT.

I'm not one of these knockers,
Or one of these hammering dubs,
But, strictly speaking, I've got no use
For Heine Zim or the Cubs.

P. S.—This is not taken from B. L. T., G. R., R. W. L., or any of them punk column conductors. It's pure south side stuff.

SMITH BESTS BIG TESREAU

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

By means of a rousing and dramatic ninth inning rally the Cubs won the final combat of the series from the Giants yesterday with such pomp and gusto that 20,000 persons went into spasms of joy. With the bases filled, one man out, one run needed to tie and two to win, Frank Schulte of clouting fame turned one of his characteristic drives to the right wall. Two runners sprinted home before the frantic New York outfielders had overtaken the ball, and the game was over. Score: Chicago, 5; New York, 4.

It was a wonderful finish to a grand and gallant uphill fight by the Cubs, who had outplayed their rivals in all except one round, but up to the ninth always had lacked the final punch needed to produce the necessary tallies. Charley Smith had outpitched the massive Jeff Tesreau, but a wabbly defense, along with three hits, one a scratch, had given the New Yorkers a cluster of three runs in the third.

Giants Score in Ninth.

Playing desperately at all times, the Cubs had been able to scrape only two men around in eight innings. When the Giants lammed another home in the first of the ninth they seemed secure with two runs to the good.

The dramatic stuff began with the first batter for the Cubs in the final attack, and for the next five minutes or more the stands rang with the cheers of the rooters, ending with a spasmodic scream when Schulte landed the knockout punch. Cy Williams, batting for Smith, led off in that gladsome inning. After two strikes were called on him he smashed one fiercely down the third base line. The ball hit the bag with a thud and fell dead two feet away. Cy's long legs carried him safely to first on what should have been a two bagger.

Stock Loses Ball in Sun.

Jimmy Johnston, a champion at base running, was sent out to run for Cy, and in a moment a bit of luck helped the Cubs. Tommy Leach bounded one down third base way, and when Stock was about to snatch it the sun shone right in his eyes. He turned his head and pawed the air blindly, but the ball bounded over his noddle.

Big Tesreau drew upon all his reserve power in hurling to Wilbur Good, who already had belted three hits. A low spitter fooled the speedy west sider for the third strike. Then came the play that perhaps caused Big Jeff's downfall, and he had no one but himself to blame. With two strikes called, Vic Saier pulled a hot one down the first base line. Merkle stabbed it nicely away out back of first base, but Big Jeff didn't cover the bag, or at least he loafed so that there was no chance for him to beat the sprinting west sider. Merkle attempted the out unassisted, but Saier beat him there, both hitting the dirt in frantic slides.

Tesreau Forces Run Home.

That play filled the bases and made a swell stage setting for the great Heine Zim. Everybody, including Tesreau, expected to see Heine try to hit the ball out of the lot, but Heine fooled 'em. He simply assumed a desperate and threatening poise and then refused to swing. Big Jeff hurled three wild ones at him, just the kind that Heine usually tried to clout, but, much to his surprise, the great Zim only backed away and grinned. Jeff shot one over for a strike, then bent another down over the plate, but the umpire called it the fourth ball and Heine walked, forcing Johnston to score.

It did look as if Mr. Rigler might have called the last one a strike, which would have made the count three and two, and Big Jeff and all his mates ran furiously at the ump and protested in most pronounced language. Of course, the ump wouldn't listen to such wrangles and Heine Zim sat on first base and laughed.

Perhaps the fuss upset Big Jeff a bit, for he undoubtedly was burning with rage when he resumed his position on the slab to battle Mr. Schulte, who was twirling his bat with all his customary composure. Frank took two on the outside for balls and fouled off a couple of strikes, and with the call two and two the big crash came.

Schulte's Double Scores Tallies.

Big Jeff shot one over, perhaps nearer the groove than he meant to, and Schulte met it squarely. It went sailing midway between Bescher and Murray and both entered the maddening chase, but neither got near the ball. It hit the fence in right center on about the second bound and Bescher and Murray just kept on going to the clubhouse, for both Leach and Saier were legging it over the plate. Schulte ran as far as second, while Heine Zim trotted only over the middle bag and turned off to the shower bath. He could have scored, too, but there was no use.

Singles by Leach and Good with one out in the third made the opening for the Cubs' first run. Saier walked, filling the bases, and Heine Zim was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Leach home. Schulte fanned in that pinch and Sweeney ended it with a fly. The second run came in the fourth when, with one out, Bresnahan walked, went to third on Smith's single, and scored on Leach's sacrifice fly.

Two singles, a base on balls, Sweeney's error, and a double steal by Burns and Robertson accounted for the cluster of three runs made by the Giants in the third. Their other run came in the ninth when, with two out, [illegible] singled, stole second, and scored when [illegible] singled. Score:

Notes of the Cubs.

The dramatic victory gave the Cubs an even break in the series of four games and left them three and a half combats from first place.

A big crowd waited at the clubhouse door to give three cheers for our Mr. Schulte when he came out in his street togs. Charley Smith also got a round of applause.

Charley Smith allowed the champions only six hits. Three of them came in the third, when three runs counted. Two came in the ninth and the other happened in the fifth.

Close to 50,000 persons attended the series of four games with the New Yorkers, which is pretty good proof that the public doesn't give a rip who owns the team as long as it's up.

No game is scheduled on the west side today. After the crucial series with the Giants the Cubs are to enjoy a full day of rest. Brooklyn comes tomorrow for a series of three games.

Besides making the heroic hit which won the game in the ninth, the famed Mr. Schulte executed three sparkling catches in left field. His capture of Burns' drive close to the foul line in the sixth was a thriller.

Roger Bresnahan limped perceptibly from the injury to his knee of the previous day. Nevertheless he hobbled from first to third on Smith's single, and then dragged himself from third home on a sacrifice fly. Bates batted for Roger in the eighth and Hargrave finished the backstopping.

HAVE YOU SEEN PAY CHECK BELONGING TO CUB PIERCE?

Southpaw Pitcher with Control Loses Valuable Paper and Starts a City-Wide Search.

Any one who finds half a month's pay around the streets in the vicinity of the west side ball park will confer a great favor by bringing the same to George "Filbert" Pierce, the Cubs' southpaw spitball pitcher with control.

The pay is in the form of a check signed by President Thomas of the club and couldn't possibly do any good to any one except Mr. Pierce, because he telephoned the Cubs' boss last night to have payment stopped on it the first thing this morning, and besides it couldn't be cashed without forging the southpaw's name.

Yesterday was pay day for the Cubs, and in the excitement which followed the rousing victory Pierce's check disappeared. He thinks he gave it to Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Pierce thinks he didn't.

REDS SCORE VICTORY, 6 TO 4

Rally in Eighth Inning Results in Runs Crossing Plate That Defeat Philadelphia.

Cincinnati, O., July 15.—Cincinnati rallied in the eighth inning and, assisted by Mattison's wildness and an error by Byrne, scored enough runs to win from Philadelphia, 6 to 4. Mollwitz's single started the rally. Killifer and Groh were banished for disputing decisions of the umpires. Scores:

Break of the Game.

CUBS.

IN the ninth inning, with the Giants leading, 4 to 2, Pitcher Tesreau failed to cover first base on a critical play, and it proved the break which gave the Cubs the victory. Cub runners were on first and second, with one out, When Vic Saier hit to Merkle back of first base. Tesreau didn't cover, and Saier beat Merkle to the bag. With the bases filled, Heine Zim waited 'em out and drew a base on balls, forcing one run over. Then Schulte slammed a double to right center, driving in the two needed to win.

WHITE SOX.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Cree was hit. Mullen bunted with one out in the sixth round of the opener. Breton's throw pulled Fournier off first, but Umpire Hildebrand "missed one" and called Mullen out. The slip robbed the Yankees of a chance for two runs, for Cook followed with a roller which would have moved the runners to second and third. Instead, the play on Cook retired the side.

Perhaps Hildebrand remembered that blow to the Yankees when he called Blackburne out at third in the eighth round of the second game. The decision on Lena kept the Sox from tying the score at least, as Collins delivered a long fly immediately after.

TINX.

With two gone in the visitors' third and not a run in sight on either side, Tobin hit a medium boiled bounder toward short. Tinker acted as if he were going to fumble it as soon as it was hit, and he did. A pass and a single converted that slip into a run. In the next inning Bridwell, with two out, stole second. Wilson's throw beat him but hit the ground and bounded away from Tinker, otherwise the side would have been retired without the second run.

Blue Laws for Feds.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 15.—A set of blue laws intended to increase the efficiency of the St. Louis Federal team was announced here today by President E. A. Steininger. The rules which Manager Mordecai Brown will be ordered to enforce immediately follow:

Players must retire at 11 o'clock each night.

Excessive card playing or gambling of any kind prohibited.

Players must report for practice at specified time; if absent good excuse must be given.

All players "laying down" or failing to perform the plays called for will be subject to fine, to be decided by the manager or President Steininger.

Players making inexcusable errors will be subject to fine and suspension.

Fed Sydelights.

St. Louis again today—twice.

The defeat, combined with Indianapolis' victory, cut the Tinx's lead down to two and a half games over the Hoosiers.

The Tinx will wind up their home work for the present with a double bill against the Terriers. "Ladies' day" will be observed, as there will be no game tomorrow.

Tonight Manager Tinker will lead his team to Kansas City for a series of three games, then make the longest jump in the league, to Brooklyn, to begin the second invasion of the east next week.

An intermittent fog kept blowing in off the lake in the early innings, threatening to obscure some of the performers at times, but it did not live up to its threats and merely served to lower the temperature.

The fans cheered Manager Brown when he stalked out to the slab in the first inning, and again when he came to bat for the first time in the third round. These cheers were complimentary, but toward the end the rooters were in earnest in pulling for a shutout.

JOHNNY EVERS OUT OF GAME.

Wound Caused by Spiking Causes Player Trouble—Trainer Advises a Short Layoff.

St. Louis, Mo., July 15.—Second Baseman Johnny Evers of the Boston Nationals probably will be out of the game for several days because of an injury he received in Monday's game. In the seventh inning he was spiked by Cruise when the latter slid into second base. Evers played yesterday, but today the wound was inflamed and the club trainer advised a layoff of several days.

Macks' Flag Raised in Rain.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 15.—While thunder endeavored to drown out the music of two bands the world's championship flag which the Philadelphia Americans won last fall was raised at Shibe park this afternoon. Through miniature lakes and ankle deep mud the visiting St. Louis Americans and the champion Athletics paraded the field. During a momentary letup in the almost continuous thundershowers which fell all day the pennant was hoisted to the top of the pole. Both games of the scheduled double header were postponed.

BROWN DEFEATS TINX WITH HOOK

Former Cub Star Baffles Local Feds and Blanks Them by 2-0 Score.

WALKS BEAT HENDRIX.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Mordecai Peter Centennial Brown, lion hearted warrior of many campaigns, was himself again and pitched with all his old time mastery yesterday, which is equivalent to stating that his St. Louis Terriers were victors in the fourth game of their congested series with Chicago's Tinx. The score was 2 to 0.

Claude Hendrix, who was assigned the task of opposing Brown, pitched a lot of baseball and broke fairly even with his illustrious opponent in actual deeds, but he was not Mordecai's equal in the pinches and was not given as perfect support as his hurling deserved.

Up to the last half of the ninth inning Brown held the Tinx down to two singles and was in trouble only once. Then he was not in a deep hole, as he had only one opponent to retire in order to shut off the runs which were waiting to score from second and third. In the ninth the home fellows lumped two hits on Brownie, doubling their output, but again there were two gone when this happened, and the veteran slabman disposed of Pinch Puncher Block easily.

Brown Works Famous Hook.

The famous old hook was working and Brown pitched the game through without apparent exertion and without calling on his hirelings for anything difficult in the way of support. There was only one hard chance offered a Terrier fielder, and that one was missed, giving Beck his second hit. Only one strikeout was registered to Brown's credit, and that was against his slab rival, when it didn't matter, but the Tinx found themselves completely baffled by the consummate skill with which Mordecai P. C. handed up the ball, in such a way that they could not hit it on the nose with anything which listened like frequency.

Four bases on balls indicated that Brown lacked some of his old time command of the sphere. In addition, he let one batsman walk by grazing his shirt with a stray curve, but he apparently had recovered most of his confidence in the bum knee that has been bothering him since the palmy Cub days, and not only pitched but fielded his position with all the assurance in the world.

Crowd Roots for T. F. S.

The crowd of 3,000 north siders was divided in its sentiments at the outset, but before the battle was over rooted for Brown to go through with the shutout he started.

Each pitcher issued a pass in the first inning, but not until after two were out in each half and there was nothing doing. The second saw the Tinx come closer to scoring than at any other time during the game. Beck was punctured in the shirt bosom after one was gone. Flack popped out, but Farrell singled to right and Beck moseyed around to third on inside information regarding Ward Miller's wing. Hendrix faced Brown in that situation and, after Farrell had stolen second, bounded out via Misse.

St. Louis won the game in the third. Two were out when Tobin hit a grounder to Tinker, who bobbled it long enough to lose the third out. Ward Miller worked Hendrix for a walk, pushing Tobin to second, and Kommers combed a single through to right far enough to score Tobin. Tinker disposed of H. Miller. Wilson walked after two were gone in the home half, but got no farther.

Clinch It in Fourth.

The clinching tally came over in the fourth. Bridwell was passed with one salted down and watched Misse line a drive to Zwilling, then stole second. Chapman pulled a fast bounder out of Farrell's reach into right and Bridwell sneaked home safely. Brown followed with a single, but Tobin skied.

Only in the seventh did the Terriers have another chance to score. Chapman opened that with his second hit, but was forced at second on Brown's bunt to Zeider. Tobin singled, but Hendrix pounced on W. Miller's rap in time to force Brown at third and Kommers flied out.

The Tinx did not get a man as far as second base from the second round until the ninth. Then Beck scratched a hit with one out, but was forced by Flack. Farrell made his second single, putting Flack on the keystone, but Block, batting for Hendrix, rolled the game over. Score:

White Sox Add Recruits.

CAL ENTERS PROTEST.

BY SAM WELLER.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Red Faber saved the first game of today's double header for the White Sox, but Umpire Hildebrand called off the second battle after a doubtful decision had prevented the Sox from tying the score in the eighth inning. Manager Callahan immediately protested the second game and there was every reason for the protest. It was 6:15 o'clock when Hildebrand called quits. For forty minutes thereafter it was light enough for play.

With only one inning to be completed, unless the Sox tied matters in the ninth, it seemed unjust, in the opinion of the Sox, that a team contending for the championship be robbed of a final chance to drag a game out of the fire. In the opener the score was 3 to 2, and the Yankees had the big share of a 2 to 1 count when Hildebrand suddenly terminated the contest.

Sox Pole Three Homers.

Three of the Chicago tallies were the product of home run clouts. Fournier and Demmitt won the first fray with drives into the right field bleacher and a smash by Bodie into the left field seats gave the Sox their only run in the protested combat.

Hildebrand averted one White Sox run in the eighth by calling Blackburne out on a hair line decision at third base. A long fly, which followed, should have sent Lena home and tied the score. Blackburne kicked himself out of the game protesting to Hildebrand, but the Sox hurried along and started for their fielding positions in the second half of the round before any of them realized the umpire in charge had terminated the battle.

Decision Costs Cal Run.

When Hildebrand started for his dressing room Callahan grabbed him and protested the game in most violent fashion. Instead of winning his protest, it is possible Cal may draw a suspension for his strenuous efforts to keep the arbiter from escaping from the field.

Both battles were thrillers, and the 7,000 fans who turned out for the bargain bill certainly got their money's worth. Jim Scott traveled until two were out in the ninth of the opener, then a blister on the second finger of his pitching hand broke, and he went wild. Cicotte come in and passed one batter, with one ball, and forced home a runner by walking another Yank. Red Faber entered in the crisis, and a pop by Peck ended the round and the fray.

A triple and an infield out gave the Yankees their first run in round one. Jack Warhop opposed Scott at the start. In seven innings Jack was nicked for nine hits and two runs. Cy Pieh relieved him in the eighth. Fournier, the first visitor to face Pieh, connected for a homer, which produced the winning run.

Score Two Runs Off Benz.

Benz started the second game, but was yanked after three hits had produced two runs in the third inning. Cicotte sat in for the Butcher Boy, and in the remaining four innings the Yankees got only one hit. The Sox poked out a hit a round against Cole, but not until Bodie drove one out of the park did a run develop.

Maisel cracked out a triple at the start of the day's entertainment. Fritz scored on Peck's infield out after Hartzell walked, Bodie dropped Cree's fly but caught Birdie trying for second, and Mullen fanned.

Weaver singled to begin the Sox third. Blackburne sacrificed. Demmitt popped and Collins walked. Fournier's single sent home Weaver. Demmitt dropped the ball into the stands for his homer in the sixth and Fournier's four bagger off Custard Pieh netted the last Sox marker in the eighth.

A bum guess by Hildebrand stopped the Yanks in the sixth, the only real chance they had until the ninth. Cook singled in the final round. Scott fanned Nunamaker and also whiffed Caldwell, who batted for Pieh. Then Scott passed Truesdale and had three balls served to Maisel when Cicotte relieved him. Eddie signed Maisel's pass, filling the sacks. A walk to Hartzell forced Cook across, but Faber appeared and Peck popped to second.

Pass Starts Trouble.

Benz started his trouble by passing Hartzell with one out in the third stanza of the second encounter. Peck singled to right and Hartzell scored when Cree beat a hit to short. Mullen singled and Peck counted. Cook forced Cree. Benz started to pass Sweeney and Cicotte went to the slab and completed the walk, filling all the corners. Breton's good stop and throw retired Maisel. Not a Yankee reached second after that.

SAM WELLERISMS.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Callahan took his players to Philadelphia tonight to get a good night's sleep before tackling the world's champions tomorrow.

Hartzell is a patient party. He drew five passes in the two battles.

Trainer Buckner made three trips to the press box to get certificates for some Sox from the official scorer. Each home run hitter gets a box, said to contain three socks.

Before Hartzell walked in the ninth round thriller of game No. 1 he popped a low foul into the Yankee coop. Mayer made a flying dive for the ball but escaped injury. His leap was a duplicate of the daring attempt which resulted in Jimmy Archer breaking his elbow when the Cubs were in Brooklyn.

SEIZE RECORDS OF DOWNSTATE MUNDAY ALLIES

U. S. and State Attorneys Find Affairs Worse than Expected.

LARGE SUMS TAKEN

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Litchfield, Ill., July 15.—[Special.]—Evidence that may lead to proof of misapplication of funds of the Lorimer-Munday bank when that institution operated under a national charter and later when it became a state bank, was discovered here and in Springfield today by emissaries of the government and of State's Attorney Hoyne.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph B. Fleming and Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case Jr., who are in charge of the federal and state grand jury investigations, respectively, are here gathering evidence, seizing books and records of the bankrupt Litchfield Mill and Elevator company and of C. B. Munday's string of banks in this part of the state. All the books, certified copies of receivership proceedings, and other documentary evidence will be taken to Chicago for submission to the grand juries.

Gets Light on Lorimer Loan.

Hiram B. Kadish, government bank accountant, arrived here tonight with documentary evidence regarding William Lorimer's loan of $100,000 from the Mercantile National bank of St. Louis in May, 1910. The loan was secured by 1,000 shares of the capital stock of the La Salle Street National bank. In March, 1911, Lorimer paid $10,000 on the loan. The balance of $90,000 was paid in April, 1911.

How this was paid and where the funds came from now is a subject of inquiry by the government. The inquiry shows that the loan was made for the purpose of paying for the 1,000 shares of La Salle Street bank stock. In other words, Lorimer didn't have the money to enter upon the career of a banker without borrowing.

Conditions Much Worse.

The condition of the Lorimer-Munday financial tangle, as revealed by documents and other information gathered here and in Springfield, indicates a much worse state of affairs than anticipated by District Attorney Wilkerson and the prosecutors for the state. The bankruptcy proceedings against the Munday concerns, the Litchfield Mill and Elevator company, C. B. Munday & Co., the Bank of Smithboro, and the People's bank of East Alton, revealed to Mr. Fleming and Mr. Case a condition of financial chaos such as only months of patient labor by expert accountants will be able to clear up.

A mass of evidence was obtained by the two prosecutors tending to prove the charges made to the government that the Munday concerns were insolvent at the time the La Salle street bank loaned them large sums of money. Should this be verified before the federal grand jury it would be sufficient to result in indictments of the bank's officials for misappropriation of funds.

Liability Schedules Inspected.

Out of the maze of figures disclosed to the two prosecutors in documents at Springfield the schedules of liabilities of Munday's bank of Smithboro and the People's bank of East Alton furnished a rich field for the investigators.

The schedule of the East Alton bank shows Munday as a prolific "borrower" of the bank's funds. Munday's demand notes in that institution alone total $306,000, according to his own figures. Mr. Fleming and Mr. Case learned in Springfield that the amount Munday took out of the bank on demand notes was raised to $250,000.

It was found also that William Lorimer is indebted to Munday to the tune of $168,000. This is set up as one of Munday's assets. Munday also claims $13,500 from R. C. Keller, a Chicago banker and once "talked of" as an aspirant for controller of the currency.

A total of $46,000 in notes against William Lorimer was found in the Munday bank schedules. No dates were given on these notes.

List of Sums Munday Took.

Here is the list of the sums Munday "took" out of the bank of East Alton, Ill., all on demand notes: Oct. 30, 1911, C. B. Munday & Co., $15,000; Nov. 1 and 2, 1911, $35,000; Nov. 22, 1912, C. B. Munday, $50,000; Aug. 22, 1912, C. B. Munday & Co., $5,000; Jan. 3, 1913, C. B. Munday & Co., $60,000; Jan. 3, 1913, J. G. Munday, a son, $15,000; Jan. 30, 1913, C. B. Munday & Co., $25,000. Total, $205,000.

The schedule of the Bank of Smithboro revealed to the investigators equally astounding financial manipulations. In that bank the certificates of deposit formed the most significant figures to the two prosecutors. The Rosehill Cemetery company, C. B. Munday, and the La Salle Street bank figure conspicuously in this list.

Certificates of deposit of the Rosehill Cemetery association total $71,575.

WITNESSES TAKE FLIGHT.

The federal inquiry into the Lorimer-Munday bank crash was not resumed because several important witnesses, for whom subpoenas had been issued, suddenly left the city. According to federal agents, the men are believed to have fled to avoid testifying before the grand jury.

One man is said to have left for Los Angeles and two others are believed to have gone downstate. District Attorney Wilkerson notified federal agents in other cities to intercept the missing witnesses.

It was admitted that several are prominent in financial circles.

START HUNT IN LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—[Special.]—The authorities here today began a secret hunt for one of the officials of the La Salle street bank who quit Chicago just as the federal grand jury began its inquiry into the reasons for the failure.

Nearly a hundred little "make believe mothers" met yesterday at the annual doll contest of the Chicago Hebrew institute playgrounds. The doll dresses were the handiwork of the young exhibiters.

FLIER PROBLEM FINALLY SOLVED

Porte Will Reconstruct America to Get "Sea Sled" Bottom.

FLIGHT ABOUT AUG. 10.

Porte's story are controlled by the New York World in the territory east of Cleveland and north of Washington. Hammondsport, N. Y., July 15.—[Special.]—We are satisfied tonight that the America is on the right road to perfection. The sea sled type of bottom, which was tried twice today, gave very satisfactory results. A definite program of reconstruction was agreed upon forthwith between Rodman Wanamaker's representative, Will Gash, Mr. Curtiss, the builder of the America, and myself.

Will Ship Boat Aug. 1.

Aug. 1 was set as the day for shipping the airboat from New York to Newfoundland. Arriving there Aug. 5, we expect to start the transatlantic flight as nearly as possible to Aug. 10.

It looks now as though it might be physically possible to complete the America in time for shipment on July 25, but it seems better to allow an extra week fo Mr. Curtiss to make the construction perfect. Aug. 1, however, is the latest date on which we should start in order to get away before the unsettled weather. A delay beyond that might put the flight over into October.

Porte Leaves for New York.

I am leaving for New York tonight with Mr. Gash to finish up some details of sailing preparations and to await completion of the sea sled bottom. As it was tried today, the new bottom of the America was only fastened on to supports and was not built watertight. When completed, it should give even better results than today, when water rushed over the top of the supporting surface.

Even in this condition, the America planed the surface of the lake with a load of 1,300 pounds, which was about all we dared attempt carrying with the roughly constructed experimental bottom. An encouraging feature of today's trials was the ease with which the airboat came to the surface. It was planing perfectly at a speed of twenty miles an hour. The best we have been able to do heretofore has been thirty miles.

I. C. ASKS RATE RAISE WITHOUT GIVING REASON.

Agent Requests State Utilities Commission to Increase Tariffs Within Maximum Limit.

J. H. Cherry, assistant general freight agent of the Illinois Central railroad, acting as chairman for the railway committee, appeared before Commissioners Thompson, Quan, and Yates yesterday and asked for the right to increase freight rates within the maximum limit allowed by the commission without giving any reason for the increase to the commission.

Other railroads which were represented were the Burlington, the Vandalia, the Baltimore and Ohio system, and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

John Drennan, attorney for the Illinois Central, argued that since the railroads were not obliged to give any reason to the interstate commerce commission for increases in their freight rates, as long as the rates did not exceed the maximum fixed by the commission, they should not be obliged to give a reason to a state commission.

HAROLD HOOPS, OUT, WEDS

Here from Asylum for Suit, He Gets Brunette Instead.

GOES SHOPPING ALONE.

Leaves Bride at Wedding Supper and Returns to Elgin.

The next time Harold Fabyan Hoops is given an afternoon's vacation from the asylum at Elgin he probably will be kept from within reach of the marriage license window. The story of the young man's latest escapade leaked out yesterday. It occurred on June 29 last when he was permitted to come to Chicago in care of a physician for the purpose of purchasing a suit of clothes.

He obtained $25 for this purpose from his father, William H. Hoops, wealthy fireplace manufacturer. He went downtown to do his shopping unaccompanied by the physician. His eight months' sojourn in the asylum had not curbed his adventurous spirit and when he met a tall and attractive brunette in the loop he decided to forsake the formality of an introduction.

Gets License to Wed.

A short while later the couple appeared at the marriage license bureau and obtained a permit to be married. Then they went to the court of Judge Richard F. Burke.

"We wish to be married," said young Hoops, producing the license. "I am Harold A. Hoops and this is Miss Hortense Carson."

"Are you the son of William H. Hoops?" inquired the judge.

"No," replied Hoops. "I'm a practicing physician of Elgin."

The young woman said she met young Hoops in Kansas City two years ago.

The ceremony was performed and the couple went over to the Planters hotel, where a wedding supper was ordered. When the dessert was reached, young Hoops had the bill charged to his room, and when it was found he had no room at the hostelry the waiter returned with the check.

"I'm going over to the Congress hotel and get a check cashed," Hoops explained to the young woman. Instead of getting a check cashed he returned to his father's home and a few hours later was back in the asylum at Elgin.

Bride Becomes Anxious.

In the meanwhile the "bride" became anxious. Judge Burke was narrating the episode to some friends at the Bismarck and they ventured to wager that the young man was the son of the fireplace manufacturer. Judge Burke made inquiries and sent two deputies to the Planters hotel to take the young man into custody, but he had left.

Miss Carson refused to believe that young Hoops was insane. She protested that she would wait until he was released from the asylum and marry him again. After thinking the matter over, however, she visited Attorney Gale Blocki with a view to taking steps toward having the marriage annulled. The attorney now has the case under advisement.

WILL INDICT MRS. CARMAN?

Murder Grand Jury Expected to Report Today.

"HOBO" IS STAR WITNESS.

Saw Kimono Clad Figure Go from Back Door to Window.

Mineola, N. Y., July 15.—When the grand jury investigating the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey in Freeport on June 30 and the alleged complicity of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, adjourned today, but three more witnesses remained to be heard. District Attorney Smith said he believed the inquisitors would dispose of the case by noon tomorrow.

Whether Mrs. Carman will be brought from the Nassau county jail to tell her story is a problem only the grand jurors themselves can solve. Their decision is expected tomorrow morning.

District Attorney Smith stated positively that he would refuse the physician's wife permission to testify, even though she should sign a waiver of immunity, as she offered to do today through her attorney, George M. Levy.

The most important witness today was Frank J. Farrell, whose story, as he told it to District Attorney Smith, was that on the night of June 30, being out of a job and hungry, he started for the back door of the Carman home to ask for food. He was rounding one of the rear corners of the house, he said, when he saw a tall woman dressed either in a long cloak or a kimono come from the back door, go directly to a window in what he now knows to be the doctor's office, and break the glass.

Farrell said he did not know whether the woman had a revolver or not. If she did, he did not see it. Farrell's story continued that he heard a shot and quickly hurried off.

When he read about the murder in the newspapers, Farrell was quoted as saying he went to the district attorney. His story furnishes corroboration for Celia Coleman, a negro maid in the Carman residence, whose amplified story told yesterday was to the effect that her mistress, dressed in a kimono, rushed through the kitchen directly after the shot was fired.

Admiral Conceives Idea While Watching Dancers—Assured He's Not Too Old.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Admiral Dewey wants to learn to tango. He made the announcement today while watching Miss Emily Semple and her partner dancing at a hotel at Manhattan Beach. When the admiral's blue four starred flag was run up over the hotel two weeks ago he walked and used a cane.

"I guess I'll have to learn to tango myself. I'm not too old, am I, Johnny?"

"Sure not," replied Johnny, who has been an elevator boy for fifteen years. "Most of 'em on the floor looks twice your age."

STOP "L" TRAINS AT CROSSINGS?

Public Utilities Body May Force Oak Park Line to Terms.

ROAD FAILS TO ACT.

An extra twenty minutes may be tacked onto the running time of Chicago and Oak Park "L" trains between the loop and the western suburb next fall as the result of the failure of the road's receiver to file plans for elevation of tracks west of the city limits.

The plans, by order of the Illinois public utilities commission, were to have been filed by midnight last night. Having failed to comply, the road will face two alternatives in September.

Either it must suspend operation of trains on surface tracks or trains so operating must come to a full stop at the near side of each crossing. Gilbert Porter, attorney for Samuel Insull, the receiver, estimated that the extra stops would consume at least twenty minutes.

No Elevation Plans.

"The commission's order against us was dated May 6," said Mr. Porter last night. "In it we were directed to file elevation plans, together with the rules and regulations of the road, by July 15. The order provided that were the plans for elevation not filed trains should be brought to a dead stop at each crossing. This scheme, however, was not to be put into operation until September.

"We filed our rules and regulations at Springfield this afternoon, but we have not filed and will not file elevation plans.

"The receiver believes with the commission that the tracks should be elevated. But the $1,500,000 which the change would cost is not available. Not having the money he cannot well contract to spend it."

Might Be Tieup.

Had the receiver filed plans for elevation, according to Mr. Porter, work would not have had to be begun until sixty days after approval by the commission. Two years was to have been allowed for the complete elevation of the road.

Commissioner Walter A. Shaw could not remember just what provisions were made in the order. He said he believed that were there to be a clash of authority, the commission might find its police powers sweeping enough to tie up operation of the Oak Park "L" altogether.

The attitude of the road's receiver and the future actions of the state body will be considered tomorrow, when the commission will meet at Springfield.

THAW AWARDED $160,773, FATHER'S ESTATE INCOME.

Stanford White's Slayer Gets Sum Long Denied Him Because of "Dangerous Exaggerated Ego."

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15.—After six months of legal battle, Harry K. Thaw, in a decision handed down by Judge James W. Over in Orphans' court today, is awarded the income from his father's estate which has been denied him by the trustees since he was adjudged insane for the slaying of Stanford White.

By the decision Thaw gets $160,773.

Judge Over says Thaw is legally entitled to the money despite the fact that alienists declare Thaw is suffering from an exaggerated sense of self, which would make it unwise to commit any large sums of money into his personal charge.

STRINGER GIVEN O. K. OF HARRISON, DUNNE, AND LEWIS

Congressman Made Official Candidate for Senate Against Sullivan.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Springfield, Ill., July 15.—[Special.]—Congressman at Large Lawrence B. Stringer is the "official" anti-Sullivan candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

His candidacy has received the indorsement of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Gov. Edward F. Dunne, and Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago. In a signed statement, given to the public today, they advise the Illinois Democracy to nominate him.

Congressman Stringer, says his sponsors, "possesses most prominently the qualifications that will gather to his support the Democrats of the state who are in hearty accord with the principles of progressive Democracy as typified in the person of President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan."

Result of Many Conferences.

Indorsement of Stringer's candidacy is the culmination of a long series of conferences and consultations in Springfield and much letter writing on the part of officials in Washington, Springfield, and Chicago. Informal gatherings of anti-Sullivan candidates and their supporters and pilgrimages of aspirants to the state and national capitals have figured in the negotiations. It required no end of political maneuvering to bring about the selection of the "official" candidate.

As late as June 1, Gov. Dunne and Senator Lewis were undecided as to what they would do. Efforts to force them to name a candidate for their faction of the Democracy elicited nothing more definite than a statement from the governor declaring for the nomination of some downstate man. When that statement was issued, it was commonly assumed that this was as far as the executive would go.

Stringer Helped by Bryan.

Secretary of State Bryan is credited with bringing about the indorsement of Stringer. He has insisted all the while that the anti-Sullivan people get together on a single candidate and he has regarded Stringer as the most available man. Self-elimination of several prospective progressive Democratic candidates, whose ambition embarrassed the administration leaders, is likewise credited to Bryan. The national administration probably will reward the sacrificial spirit shown by those who withdraw with substantial recognition of some sort.

SULLIVAN MEN REPLY.

Sullivan's campaign manager declared last night that the Dunne-Harrison-Lewis ukase would have no effect on the present situation.

Charles Boeschenstein of Edwardsville, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois and director of the Sullivan campaign, last night gave out the following formal statement:

"The belated Dunne-Harrison-Lewis statement has been anticipated for some time and therefore contributes no new element to the campaign.

"The inconsistency of these three Chicago office holders in attempting to dictate to the rank and file of the Democratic party of the state of Illinois the party's candidate for United States senator in the face of the direct primary law, is apparent to every one. For the first time in the history of this state a United States senator is to be nominated and elected by the direct vote of the people of Illinois. Why not leave the nomination of the Democratic candidate for United States senator to the Democratic voters as the law contemplates?

"The attempted dictation by these residents of Chicago to downstate Democrats will not carry any weight. The situation is not affected one iota by the attitude of these men. Mr. Sullivan is adhering to the spirit of the direct election law. He has carried his candidacy to the people in an open and square manner, and is ready to abide by the verdict of the Democratic voters of Illinois."

Democratic Race Narrows.

Stringer's indorsement will automatically eliminate from the field of Democratic candidates all the early anti-Sullivan starters except Secretary of State Harry Woods, Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara, and possibly Frank D. Comerford. James C. McShane quit last night. The four aspirants, however, who will probably be in at the finish are Sullivan, Stringer, Woods, and O'Hara.

WANT LEWIS BACK HOME.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Senator Lewis is being urged by the anti-Sullivan forces in Illinois to return to the state and take part in the primary campaign against the Chicago biscuit manufacturer and gas man.

The senator has successfully dodged these invitations up to the present time, but now that things are lined up so that he is in the field with what amounts to a public indorsement of Congressman Lawrence B. Stringer's candidacy, Stringer's friends, as well as those violently antagonistic to Sullivan, are insisting that if he really wants to see Sullivan beaten he should go back to Illinois and take the stump against him.

In answer to these arguments Senator Lewis states that the exigencies of the present situation in the senate demand his presence here. He says he does not feel like deserting the administration with the Jones and Warburg fights on in earnest and the battle over trust legislation certain to start in the near future.

Anti-Sullivan Appeal Made.

Joint statement by Gov. Dunne, Senator Lewis, and Mayor Harrison.

"To the Democrats of Illinois: For many weeks past we have been urgently pressed by many loyal and influential Democrats of the state to declare a preference for some one of the Democratic candidates for United States senator. Recently this pressure has become most insistent. About June 1 Gov. Dunne and Mayor Harrison publicly stated, in answer to this pressure, that, in their opinion, because of the great preponderance of the offices now held by gentlemen who are residents of Cook county, it would be wise to select the Democratic candidate from amon gthose seeking the office that did not reside in Cook county.

"We all herewith adhere to this position. This opinion, we believe, is shared by most Democrats who have the real interests of the party at heart.

"To insure the success of a downstate candidate and the success of the party it seems to be the consensus of opinion among most Democrats of the state that our party should center its support upon some one of the downstate candidates.

"Without detracting from the qualifications of other downstate candidates, we have reached the conclusion, after mature consideration and after seeking and securing the opinions of many influential and disinterested Democrats from all parts of the state, that Lawrence B. Stringer possesses most prominently the qualifications that will gather to his support the Democrats of the state who are in hearty accord with the principles of progressive Democracy as typified in the persons of President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, and as such we recommend him to the Democrats of Illinois who wish to sustain the policies of the Wilson administration.

"Mr. Stringer was one of the original Wilson Democrats in Illinois, and has loyally supported the president's policies as congressman at large for Illinois. His record in public and private life is clean and honorable. He has been the chosen candidate of our party for governor, United States senator, and congressman at large. When defeated, as well as when successful, he has always made a splendid showing at the polls, and we believe he still retains the confidence and respect of the Democratic rank and file and is in every way worthy of a position in the senate of the United States.

"This announcement is not made in a spirit of dictation, but with the sole purpose of advising our fellow Democrats honestly and disinterestedly for the best interests of the Democratic party in the state and nation at a time which we believe is critical in the state of Illinois. The holding of public office does not disqualify the holders from advising their fellow citizens, particularly when this advice has been insistently sought, and the advice herein offered is given under these circumstances.

"In making this statement we are actuated solely by the desire to insure Democratic success at the polls next November so that Illinois shall, with two senators, continue to uphold the hands of the president at Washington.

"Stringer's selection at the primary we believe will insure the election of the Democratic candidates for congress, the legislature, and other offices throughout the state."

TOO FAT FOR POLICEWOMEN, 20 SEEK TO BECOME THIN.

Varied Methods Are Used by Feminine Aspirants for Stars in Attempts to Reduce Embonpoint.

Twenty large women who were denied the privilege of becoming policewomen are in retirement with their plumpness. But after ten days they assured Secretary R. A. Widdowson of the civil service commission they would return thin. Each woman had her own method for reducing her avoirdupois to 180 pounds, the weight that a policewoman should have.

A large blond woman who looked as solid as a rock went away to get rid of twenty-five extra pounds—by fasting. She had a friend who fasted for fifty-two days, she said, so she decided she could stand to fast for ten days for a job.

Dr. E. T. Olson said that large men in the service had their troubles in this line as well as the women. John Dolan, who took the examination for a second class detective, was determined that his weight should come under the requirement. He tied himself to moving vans and rolled consistently, and was accepted at the second trial.

But the secret of acquiring thinness, according to the physician and director of the civil board, is undereating.

COP FINDS TWO TRAMPS IN MALE ATTIRE ARE WOMEN

Detective Fooled by Deep Voice of "Hobo" Halts in Search for Razors When He Learns "His" Sex.

William Lemke, a detective employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, dragged three negroes from a merchandise train bound for the northwest near Keeler avenue and Bloomingdale road early yesterday.

"Deed, boss, we wasn't doin' nuthin' but goin' home," explained one in a deep bass voice.

"Yassir, we was just moochin' a ride," echoed another with bright red hair but with a complexion almost as dusky as that of the first. The tones, too, were equally as deep throated.

Lemke started to search the trio to see if they carried razors. One of them, who said his name was Charles Williams, submitted. When he started to search the second one, however—

Well, when Lemke landed the trio at the Shakespeare avenue station he recommended that two of the prisoners be lodged in the women's annex.

MOSQUITO FIGHT BEGUN IN CHICAGO SPREADING AFAR

Other States Take Up Campaign Against Pleasure-Killing Pest.

LETTERS SEEK ADVICE

BY W. A. EVANS, M. D.

The Tribune's campaign for mosquito elimination has given impetus to similar campaigns throughout the country. Letters asking advice in dealing with the mosquito nuisance, some suggesting tried methods and formulas and some purely congratulatory, are received daily.

In some states the mosquito question is a question of health, and in these states campaigns against the disease bearing mosquito have been carried on through necessity. The result is eradication of the nuisance and consequent increase in the health of the communities concerned in the campaigns.

Not Feared on Health Score.

However, the northern states, particularly those adjoining Illinois, have little to fear in the mosquito as a health underminer. The campaigns will be chiefly concerned in making the summer resorts, the camping places, the amusement parks, and all the out of doors places for the greatest enjoyment—with no drawbacks, such as the bites of mosquitoes.

Individuals, too, are seeking information of The Tribune in order to make their homes more comfortable in the summer time.

Edward L. Bradley of Allendale farm, Lake Villa, Ill., writes he is located near a marsh and is much troubled by mosquitoes. He desires to know the construction of the "battery" described in Monday's Tribune. The "battery," designed by Dr. Charles A. R. Campbell of San Antonio, Tex., is a roost with shutterlike entrances, with a twelve foot square base and a six foot square apex. It is twenty feet high from the base, which rests on posts ten feet from the ground. The interior is arranged with a large amount of wire netting, on which the bats roost.

Ducks Do Not Kill Larvae.

C. D. Velie of Minneapolis writes:

"Within 100 yards of my house at Lake Minnetonka I have two artificial ponds, one thirty feet in diameter and one ten feet in diameter for wild mallard ducks. I have several hundred of these ducks. The water in the ponds is drawn off once a week. I have understood that the ducks would destroy the mosquito larvae. Is my understanding correct?"

Ducks will not kill the mosquito larvae. The use of an aniline dye would be effective in destroying the larvae and would not harm the water for drinking purposes. No mosquitoes would breed in the pond if it is drained completely dry once a week.

Joseph L. Pelton of Erie, Pa., gives the following as a preventive of mosquito bites: "One ounce of epsom salts dissolved in a pint of water. Wet the exposed surfaces of the skin and allow to dry on. This leaves an imperceptible powder, which keeps off mosquitoes as well as other bugs. It has no odor, and is good for the skin."

Pests Hide in Underbrush.

The Ravina park mosquitoes hide in the shrubbery on the grounds and the underbrush outside the grounds during the day. Being timid creatures, they do not venture forth when the wind is blowing or during the daytime. When they go out at night they fight shy of the light. They pick out the people who sit in the darker places and go after the hands and ankles that drop into the shadows.

All this has bearing upon the methods to be employed in exterminating them. The first part of the mosquito campaign is the survey of the field, for the purpose of locating the breeding places, hiding places, and hibernating places. The survey of Ravinia park has been completed.

State Official Assists.

After The Tribune men had completed their survey they were fortunate in securing the coöperation of D. K. McMillan, assistant state entomologist, who went over the ground with them and offered suggestions.

Wrigglers were destroyed in the breeding places with a mixture of about equal parts of kerosene and crude oil at a grade of about 26 degrees Beaumé, which was applied with a knapsack spray. Oil will be applied every ten days until September, unless The Tribune's mosquito board decides to use a larvicide instead.

A man is searching the grounds for bottles and cans, as these nearly always contain an ounce or more of water—enough to serve as a breeding place for mosquitoes. A gang of men is at work cleaning away as much undergrowth as is feasible this year. Sometimes, when the underbrush is cleared away, the mosquitoes seek shelter in the treetops, although they are afraid to get much above the ground. The fear of being blown away by the wind is instinctive in them. Sometimes they take refuge in the adjacent houses. The Ravinia authorities are making use of smoke to drive them from the pavilion into the brush beyond the cleared area.

"Tribune" Places Repellent.

To prevent mosquitoes from biting, The Tribune has placed containers filled with the following repellent: Oil of citronella, one ounce; spirits of camphor, one ounce and oil of cedar, one-half ounce, at the entrance of the grounds and within the pavilion. The lotion is to be spread upon the hands and face. It will not injure the skin. If found effective the repellent stations will be increased in number.

This repellent will not help out the ankles, and it is suggested that the fashion arbiters decree that high shoes are the correct thing for Ravinia wear. I have heard of a gentleman who wears a piece of newspaper around his ankles beneath his socks. A piece of paper such as is used in paper blankets would be just as effective and at the same time would be more pliable.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

WHEAT FUTURES SCORE ADVANCE

Higher Cables and Black Rust in Minnesota Check Selling Pressure.

CORN HAS FAIR RALLY.

The trend of prices in the wheat market was upward yesterday. The change in market conditions compared to the previous day was due to the higher cables from Liverpool, bullish news in regard to the French and Russian crops, unfavorable conditions in Argentina, and to more concern in regard to the spring wheat crop. Opening prices were sharply higher, and after backing and filling during the greater part of the session the market again rallied near the close, resting prices being ⅝@⅞c to 1¼c up.

July offerings were light and this month led the advance. Country offerings were light over night, but during the day there were quite liberal purchases, country holders taking advantage of the upturn to sell a lot of wheat to arrive. Black rust reports were numerous both from South Dakota and from southern Minnesota. In South Dakota the rust has spread close to the North Dakota line, and some points reported it as bad as in the black rust year of 1904.

Exporters Fair Buyers.

The cash demand was less urgent, and sales to exporters were about 300,000 bu, milling sales 40,000 bu. Cash prices here were steady to a shade lower, and at Kansas City cash houses were reported big buyers of both September and July wheat supposed to be against sales for export. Some reports indicate a holding tendency on the part of farmers in the central states, but owing to the big crop and the inadequate storage facilities growers in the southwest are selling freely.

Clearances for the day were quite liberal at 615,000 bu. The gulf ports are receiving a large amount of wheat, and clearances from Galveston and New Orleans will be heavy from now on. Receipts here were 1,021 cars, with 524 cars inspected yesterday. Local arrivals were smaller than expected. Primary arrivals were 2,694,000 bu for the day, against 1,028,000 bu a year ago. Northwest points had 274 cars; last year, 237 cars. Winnipeg had 111 cars, against 81 cars a year ago.

Russian News Bullish.

Liverpool closed ⅝@¾d higher. Russian advices continue unfavorable, and drought damage is claimed, although reports to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome indicate a higher condition and larger acreage than a year ago, when the crop was supposed to have been of bumper proportions. The general opinion of the trade is that Russia never raised the crop claimed last year. While French reports indicated bullish conditions, Paris was ⅝@1⅛c lower. Antwerp was unchanged; Berlin, ⅛c up; and Budapest, ¼c off. World's stocks increased 2,974,000 bu for the week, compared to a decrease of 8,713,000 bu a year ago. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 900,000 bu for four days, and Duluth increased 135,000 bu for three days. Local shipments continue heavy. Logan-Bryan and Ware-Leland were leaders in the buying of wheat and Bailey bought early. On the bulge Lamson, Armour, J. Rosenbaum, Thomson-McKinnon, and Shearson-Hammill were sellers.

Corn Maintains Early Gains.

Corn prices closed ⅝@1c higher. Offerings were light at the start owing to the continued dry weather over the belt. On the advance there was considerable hesitation on th part of buyers owing to the predictions for unsettled weather in the northern and western portions of the belt. However, the strength in wheat helped create a firmer tone and the close was strong.

Liverpool was ¼@1¼d higher, influenced by the poor grading of Argentine corn and the light offerings. Buenos Aires turned weak on a change for the better in weather conditions. Receipts here were 218 cars, with 136 cars inspected here yesterday, and primary arrivals were 451,000 bu, or 27,000 bu less than a year ago. Country offerings were reported light and there was a fair shipping demand, with shipping sales 110,000 bu. Sales to store were 50,000 bu.

Crop complaints continue, but many reports were received saying that little actual damage had been done so far. Broomhall cabled that Argentine advices said too much importance was being placed on the rains, as a big crop was awaiting shipment. Local traders were free buyers early. On the advances commission houses had quite a little corn to sell, but there was no great pressure on the market.

July Oats Shade Lower.

Oats followed the lead of corn early, but the market was not particularly strong, closing a shade lower to ¼@⅜c up. Cash prices were about steady, and there was a good demand, sales for shipment being 350,000 bu. Offerings from the country were fair. A car of new No. 2 white oats was received here testing 34 pounds. Crop reports were a little bullish from some sections. Receipts here were 253 cars, with 143 cars inspected yesterday, and primary points had 757,000 bu, compared to 877,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Have Rally.

Provisions were steady to a little higher at the close. Shippers and houses with stock yards connections were credited with buying, and there was a good demand for ribs. Knight-McDougal bought ribs early. Hogs were 5c lower at the yards. Receipts were 31,000, and the estimate for today was 25,000, with receipts at western points of 85,300, against 76,200 a year ago. Provisions stocks made a bullish showing on ribs, but lard stocks were large. Receipts of products were small at 18 cars, and shipments were 123 cars. Lard stocks are placed at 190,000 tcs at Chicago or 90,000 tcs more than a year ago. Short rib sides were placed at 13,356,000 lbs, against 10,507,000 lbs a year ago. Liverpool prices were unchanged. Cash offerings were moderate and the demand was fair.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

E. B. Boyd, manager of the traffic department of the board of trade, has resigned and J. S. Brown, now general freight agent of the Illinois Central, has been appointed in his place. The change will be made Aug. 1. Mr. Boyd will become chairman of the Western Trunk Line association on that date. The appointment of Mr. Boyd to the high position in the railroad world he will assume is a matter of much satisfaction to board of trade members, who have held him in high esteem. He has had charge of the board of trade traffic matters only a few months recently, but was traffic manager for a period of several years previously, having been succeeded by W. M. Hopkins. After Mr. Hopkins' resignation a few months ago Mr. Boyd again took charge. The successor of Mr. Boyd, J. S. Brown, is regarded as one of the best posted and able traffic experts in the country.

The offerings of wheat from the country were light early and over night acceptances were reported light. During the day purchases to arrive were quite free in some cases. Cash prices were steady to a little lower early relative to the July, and firmer at outside markets. The shipping demand was reported moderate and there were sales to exporters of about 300,000 bu and about 40,000 bu to mills. Omaha and Kansas City were about 1c higher. Cash corn was steady to ½c higher and oats were about steady. There was a moderate demand for corn, but oats were in good demand, with sales of 350,000 bu. Corn sales were 110,000 bu.

Firmness of the wheat market at Liverpool was due to the continued bad reports from Russia and to the bullish advices in regard to the French and Argentine crops. James A. Patten cabled Bartlett-Frazier from Carlsbad, Germany, that the Russian crop was reported damaged. The French crop shows a condition of 67, against 72 in April. In Argentina there has been too much rain. Reports to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome do not show bad conditions in Russia, the condition being placed at 100.5 and the acreage 114.2 compared with last year.

Wheat is thrashing out according to expectations, according to the Price Current Crop Reporter. In the older states farmers are preparing to hold. Corn is so far in excellent condition, but the lack of adequate subsoil moisture will cause a critical condition if there are no general rains soon.

Mitchell, S. D., wired that black rust was worse than in 1904. Several reports were received saying black rust had been found in southern Minnesota and in South Dakota. It was claimed to have spread up close to the North Dakota line.

Gwathmey of New York wired charters had been made for five steamers to load wheat, four to load at Montreal, and one from the gulf, the latter for Bayonne.

Thomson-McKinnon had a report from Terre Haute saying that if there is not rain in that section soon there will be less than half a crop of corn.

Cash houses were said to have bought a lot of July and September wheat at Kansas City, supposed to have been against sales for export.

Estimated receipts for today were: Wheat, 542 cars; corn, 136 cars; oats, 143 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 16 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

Thrashing reports from Kansas, in the vicinity of Wellington, show yields running from 20 to 47 bu per acre of wheat.

Kansas City cash corn was 1c up and oats ½c up; Omaha cash corn unchanged to 1c up and oats were ⅜c off.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 900,000 bu for four days. Duluth stocks increased 135,000 bu for three days.

The semi-monthly statement of provisions stocks was a little bullish on ribs and bearish on lard.

Late reports indicated moderate showers in Nebraska, with indications for rain at several points.

The proposed change in the rule relating to bills of lading was carried by a big majority.

A car of No. 2 white oats was received from Illinois yesterday testing 34 lbs to the bu.

Charles W. Cooper has posted a membership on the board of trade for transfer.

Sales of corn to go to store were 50,000 bu.

CATTLE DECLINE; RECEIPTS LARGE

Supply of 16,000 Head Exceeds Forecasts; Prices Drop 10@15 Cents.

HOG TRADE STAGNANT.

Cattle receipts of 16,000 head at Chicago yesterday exceeded expectations and $10 beeves were eliminated. Best steers sold at $9.90, and the general run of beef cattle, including cows and heifers, sold at a reduction of 10@15c from Monday's prices. The trade was slow at the decline. The quality was not up to the usual standard, and there were many lots of yearling steers included in the run, having been attracted to market by the high prices made during the last few days.

Only two loads of prime hogs reached the $9.00 mark, and prices were 5c lower than Tuesday's on the average. The weakness was caused by fresh receipts of 30,000 head, the largest reported in several days. The bulk cleared at $8.70@8.90, with shippers liberal buyers and packers filling fair orders after costs had been reduced.

Sheep and lambs sold at a decline of 10@25c, with yearlings and lambs showing the big end of the drop. The trade was slow and receipts of 21,000 head found a late outlet. Idaho lambs topped at $8.90 and natives sold up to $8.75@8.85 to city butchers, although packers would not pay higher than $8.60. Montana wethers reached $6.00 and Oregon yearlings $6.40.

New Monon Bonds.

M. W. S.—The Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railway company (Monon route) reports net earnings of $1,591,830 for eleven months ending May 31, 1914, compared with $1,759,599 for the same period a year previous. Earnings have been sufficient to pay all interest charges and dividends on both classes of stock since 1899 in addition to laying up a surplus. The rate of dividend on preferred is 4 per cent, while on common varying rates have been paid, the most recent being 3¼ per cent a year from 1909 to 1913. At the dividend meeting June 12, 1914, no action was taken on dividend on common stock. The new issue of 5 per cent five year general mortgage bonds are secured by pledge of securities of the Chicago and Wabash Valley railway recently acquired and are a junior lien on the general Monon system, being subject to $15,000,000 prior lien bonds. The amount of new bonds to be sold is $1,500,000, interest charges on which would be $75,000, leaving a margin of earnings amounting to upwards of $500,000 a year.

Hocking Coal Company.

M. L. M.: The Hocking Coal company owns 4,500 acres of land in Monroe county, Iowa, and has several mines in operation. The entire capital stock of the company was purchased for $550,000 by the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad two or three years ago, and the output of the mines is largely used to supply coal to the engines of that road. Of an authorized issue of $600,000 first mortgage sinking fund 6 per cent bonds there is outstanding $200,000. Principal and interest of the bonds is guaranteed by indorsement of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. A recent statement of the Hocking Coal company's earnings is not available, but the interest is being paid regularly on the bonds, and the market value of them is nominally 95 to 100.

The department cannot furnish information regarding the highly speculative stock which your other question mentions.

Walrath Company.

E. B. M., Woods Hole, Mass.—The Wm. B. Walrath company purchases at a discount for cash the equities in uncompleted partial payment contracts of sale of real estate in Chicago; in other words, it offers sellers of houses and lots an opportunity to realize cash for their interests in properties which have been sold on the installment plan and not entirely paid for. Under the terms of the contracts so made the property is deeded to the Walrath company. As of June 1, 1914, the company listed total assets of $196,858 and a surplus of $43,921 over liabilities. The amount of paid in capital has grown from $2,000 in 1911 to $156,400 in 1914, and regular dividends of 10 per cent a year have been paid semi-annually since June 21, 1911. An investment in the shares would be participation in a business enterprise.

Safety Vault Project.

C. H. G.—The prospects for the success of a new safety deposit vault company must be judged by those who live in the neighborhood where the vaults the proposed to be erected. The principal question is whether the community needs additional facilities and whether an enterprise run separately from a bank can be made profitable. The literature submitted does not show that the company has been incorporated and necessarily a subscription made now is based merely on expectations.

Farm Mortgages.

C. G., Evanston, Ill.—There is no safer investment than a mortgage on a good farm which is owned and tilled by a thrifty and intelligent farmer. A mortgage on a poor farm that is being still further run down by a shiftless owner or tenant is undesirable no matter how wide the margin of security. It would be wise to deal with a local company with which you are acquainted rather than with one far away.

Six Per Cent Bonds.

T. J. S., Burlington, Wis.—The bond houses you mention have good reputations. Six per cent bonds are usually based on leasehold and building or on an apartment house "building loan." You will find them less readily convertible into cash than a loan based on the title to downtown real estate. The latter would bear a lower interest rate.

EGGS DROP; RECEIPTS GAIN

Market Has Weak Undertone; Values Drop Half a Cent.

BUTTER SLIGHTLY LOWER.

Potatoes Again Reduced; Prices of Live Poultry Advance.

Egg market at Chicago yesterday had a weaker undertone and prices declined ½c doz. Butter values also developed a downward tendency and there were instances where holders made concessions of ¼c per lb to effect sales. Heavy arrivals were responsible for the change in sentiment, receipts of eggs being 13,373 cases and of butter 11,849 tubs.

Sales of potatoes were made at a fresh reduction of 25c a brl for Cobblers and of 10c a bu for early Ohios. Receipts were reported at 70 cars and sales were made at $3.50@3.75 per brl for cobblers and 90c a bu for Ohios.

Live fowls sold at a further gain of ½c a lb in spite of the fact total receipts of poultry were 7 cars and 895 coops. Dressers were the principal buyers, speculators being intimidated by the heavy receipts and high prices.

Fruit and vegetables showed little change. Offerings were liberal and there was a good demand for all arrivals.

CITY WINS IN PAVING SUIT.

Conway & Co. Fail to Prevent Use of "Reserve Fund" to Repair Highway.

Judge Baldwin yesterday denied an injunction asked by Conway & Co., paving contractors, who sought to prevent the use of the "10 per cent reserve fund" held by the city for repairs on Lincoln avenue paving laid by the concern. The company in bringing the suit argued it should be exempted from the five year repair term of the contract because of constant damage to the pavement by surface cars. Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, declared the decision a significant victory for the city.

INQUIRY AHEAD OF ROCK ISLAND

Folk of Missouri to Handle Government Investigation of Railroad.

REPORT MAY BE STERN.

Bond and stock holders in the Rock Island system appear not to appreciate that affairs of the company are to be investigated by the government under the active direction of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri. Mr. Folk is understood to be already at work in the east, and since he is credited with writing the report on the New Haven company, the results of his investigation probably will be set forth in language similar to that employed in the New Haven statement.

While it will be some weeks before anything of moment may be expected to be made public, still the knowledge that the organization of the system will be fully exploited should be taken into serious consideration.

The work of the reorganization committee may possibly be upset by the report of Mr. Folk, and until the report is publicly submitted there does not appear to be substantial reason for proceeding with reorganization plans.

Steel Outlook Improves.

United States Steel interests are inclined to take a more hopeful view of the steel outlook following the trend of business in July. It is expected, among other things, that wire products will be increased $1.00 a ton within the next ten days. Only once since 1899 have wire and nails sold at the present quotation, and it is for that reason and with increased bookings that higher prices for these products are predicted. It is asserted that what is true of wire products will be true to a great extent of almost every other steel product. One of the leading steel makers thinks prices will be increased at least $2.00 a ton within three months.

Express Earnings Off.

The American Express company makes the appended report to the interstate commerce commission for the month of March and the nine months ended March 31. The figures indicate for the nine months period a highly unsatisfactory state of earnings. While receipts fell off $2,100,593, or 5.9 per cent, there was an operating deficit of $607,808, against a surplus the previous year of $689,568. The figures:

Chicago Securities.

Business on the local stock exchange was moderately active, and prices held well, considering the New York situation. Kansas City Railway and Light common fell away 2 points to 30. This latter quotation represents a loss of 7 points since the favorable vote on an ordinance on July 1. It will be several months before reorganization plans can be worked out.

Peoples Gas was fractionally lower, but steady at 120. There was little doing. Sears-Roebuck common was also lower. The trading was without significance. Series 2 certificates gave evidence of manipulation. The opening price was 35 and the low 84½. The last sale, for a small lot, was made at 84⅞.

In the bond department there was considerable activity in the A bonds of the Chicago Railways company. The price held at 92½. Union Elevated 5s again sold at 83. The market was more active than on the previous day.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The coffee market was firmer today. European cables showed comparatively little feature, but the continued firmness of the cost and freight market seemed to inspire some scattered covering, and after opening 1 point higher to 1 point lower, the market advanced on support from two or three of the more prominent trade brokers, who seemed to find very few buyers around the ring. N. Y. STOCKS DROP UNDER ATTACKS

New Haven Storm Center, Falling 5¾ Points on Steady Offerings.

UNION PACIFIC GAINS.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Unsettlement which at times verged upon demoralization overtook today's stock market. New Haven was again the storm center, declining 5¾ points on steady offerings, individually small, but in the aggregate large enough to make that stock the most active of the day.

Transactions aggregated 43,800 shares. With today's decline the stock has lost 15 points since the present slump, which began a week ago. The indications were that the short position had been materially increased on the latest stage of the decline, the loaning rate at the close being 1-16 per cent. This was to be expected. Tomorrow promises to be a critical period for the stock, at least until the announcement of the outcome of the New Haven meeting, which will be held in the afternoon.

Shorts May Face Rout.

The short position has been established in the face of a drastic decline in the expectation of further liquidation. Whether this is provoked by the company's deciding to run the risk of a government dissolution suit or an application for a receivership by the attorney general or by the company itself as the best means of dealing with the present highly complicated situation is a matter of conjecture. If none of the pessimistic predictions come true the expectation is that the short position will be untenable, but that idea will have to be proved by the events.

The nature of the selling today and the fact that much of it emanated from Boston and other New England points, suggested further liquidation on the part of small shareholders, who had become discouraged as a result of the findings of the interstate commerce commission. New Haven 6s dropped 6½ points and the 4½s of the New York, Westchester and Boston, under New Haven's guarantee, were again weak with a loss of 2 points.

Virtually the only issue that manifested pronounced resistance in the course of the feverish session was Union Pacific, which made a substantial initial gain on the decision of the court upholding the disbursement of the "extra dividend" to common shareholders. For the same reason Baltimore and Ohio common and preferred, which constitute the great bulk of the Union Pacific dividend, were weak.

It was not until the latter part of the day that the general recession set in, beginning with New York Central, which abruptly declined on what appeared to be bear selling. That stock also recorded its lowest price in years.

The bond market naturally reflected the weakness in stocks, with new low records of a few of the speculative issues. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,025,000. United States governments were unchanged on call.

WALL STREET NEWS.

NEW YORK, July 15.—[Special.]—According to houses with foreign connections even the relatively large decline that has occurred in Canadian Pacific is insignificant as compared with losses in other quarters of the London market, and is said not to represent the true state of depression there.

Grand Trunk shares, for instance, have fallen £8 during the present year, a loss of 40 per cent, the decline during the last two weeks alone being £3, or $15. There have also been such declines as $12 a share in Brazilian transactions and $15 a share in Barcelona Tractions, the latter representing a fall of 50 per cent. Practically all of this is laid to the aftermath of the Grenfell failure and to the collapse of other speculative positions built up along similar lines.

Liquidation has been going on steadily day by day in many quarters of the London market, and naturally the whole list there has suffered in consequence. The result is that the stock exchange there is in a highly nervous state with a resultant small demand. The American department is but a small part of the London exchange. Prices there have held up rather better than elsewhere, but even here the market is extremely limited with indications that not much stock could be sold. The demand for Canadian Pacific in London is shown by the fact that the stock is quoted there consistently below New York, prices in the two markets being on a parity, whereas the London price should rule ¼ per cent higher on account of the two weeks' interest included.

Naturally, under the circumstances, London, Berlin, Montreal, and Amsterdam selling of Canadian Pacifics, one stock for which there is a broad market, has been transferred largely to New York.

The manner in which the market for Union Pacific received the news of the victory of the company in the suit to restrain the extra distribution caused much despondency. When the plan was announced the stock rose swiftly to 162. It continued to rise even after the dividend was enjoined. Now with the distribution a practical certainty there was practically no response whatever. What has become of the bull argument on Union Pacific as a low priced "popularized" stock? Are they reserved until the rate decision and other considerations, pending which no one is willing to take a position on the long side, are out of the way?

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 15.—Money and discount rates were easy today. The stock market started cheerfully but later declined under further continental and local liquidation. Consols lost three-sixteenths. Trading was quiet and the closing tone was easy. Trading was active in the American section. The verdict in the Union Pacific case helped that stock, but weakened Baltimore and Ohio, as it is feared the distribution of the Union Pacific holdings will increase the market supplies of Baltimore and Ohio. Prices opened a fraction higher, but later most of the list reacted and fell below parity. The closing was irregular.

IRON RATES HURT CHICAGO

Freight Cuts Pave Way for Southern Competition.

FINISHED STEEL BETTER.

Encouragement Noted, but Slow Progress Is Expected.

New York, July 15.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"The immediate effect of the reduction in freight rates on southern pig iron to northern points has been the holding up of shipments of such iron by a good many foundries in the month that elapses before the new rates are effective. Users plan to take in no more iron than they will need for bare operations.

"In some districts, as in northern Ohio, the price of local iron has long been so much below the level for southern grades that the 35c freight reduction on the latter does not restore the equilibrium, but southern Ohio furnaces, already hard hit, will feel Alabama and Tennessee competition more keenly, and Chicago district furnaces will find southern sellers much more troublesome in their immediate territory.

Pig Iron Decline Unchecked.

"The decline in merchant pig iron output has not yet been checked. A Cleveland furnace and one at Erie, Pa., are about to go out, and several suspensions in the Hanging Rock district and one in eastern Pennsylvania will follow soon after.

"The great foundry industry still lags and the pig iron market moves with it. Concessions are still made when any good sized business appears. Buffalo furnaces, for example, dropped down to $12.50 for No. 2 iron lately, but for the present most of them are back at the $13.00 level. For southern foundry iron $10.00 is common, though a good many $10.25 sales are reported.

Encouragement in Finished Steel.

"In finished steel, which it is not unusual to find out of line with the merchant pig iron trade, varying degrees of encouragement are noted. There is no expectation of more than slow progress, nor are there signs of the near resumption of free contract buying. The mills are following the same policy as in January in limiting low priced sales. At the same time buyers will not make contracts at more than today's prices and are not in fear of paying more later.

"The steel corporation appears to have fared better than some of its competitors in the amount of its recent bookings. It is putting one more Duquesne and one more Edgar Thompson furnace in blast, and its ingot production crept up from 65 to a little over 67 per cent of capacity this week.

"Some of its customers are making larger specifications. Railroad buying is on a little better scale."

DECLARES SKYSCRAPERS PERIL LIFE IN BIG CITIES.

Speaker at Building Owners' Convention in Duluth Tells What Quake Would Mean in New York.

Duluth, Minn., July 15. — Secretary Wentworth of the National Fire Protection association declared today before the convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers that excessively high buildings are becoming a menace to the larger cities of the country.

"It is said that the up-and-down traffic on the elevators of New York is almost as great as the horizontal traffic," said he.

"New York has been fortunate. No disaster more horrifying could be imaginable than that which would occur if New York should have an earthquake. Just enough of a shock to break water mains and gas mains and to snap electric leads—the loss of life would be appalling.

"A great conflagration, such as is possible in New York, would bring the same disastrous results as an earthquake and choke the subways. New York is beginning to realize the menace and steps are being taken to limit the height of buildings."

CHILDS TO HAVE NEW LUNCH ROOM

New York Restaurateurs Lease Property at 165-67 West Madison.

WILL ERECT BUILDING.

The Childs company of New York, restaurateurs, have leased from the trustees of the Otis Trust agreement the property at 165-167 West Madison street, adjoining the Otis building on the west. The lot has a frontage of thirty feet and a depth of 189 feet, and the lease, which runs for a period of twenty-nine years, provides for an annual net rent of $20,500, the lessee agreeing to pay taxes, insurance, etc. Capitalized on a 4 per cent basis this gives a leasing value of $512,500, which is at the rate of a trifle over $17,000 a front foot and $89 a square foot, exceedingly strong figures.

The lease also provides for the construction of a building by the lessee company to cost $100,000, the plans for which have been completed, it is announced, and it is expected the building will be ready for occupancy by April 1 next. This will make three restaurants operated by the Childs company in Chicago. F. E. Manierre of Dibblee & Manierre was the broker in the transaction, representing both parties.

Michigan Avenue Lease.

The store at 626 South Michigan avenue in the Grant Park building, adjoining the Blackstone hotel building on the north, has been leased by Marx & Frances to the Hartmann Trunk company. The firm is represented in the stores of many of the leading cities of the country, but this is the first retail store opened under their direct management. The lease is stated to be for ten years and to provide for a term rent of $102,500.

Frederick Becklenberg has negotiated a loan with the American Bond and Mortgage company of $175,000 in the form of a serial bond issue maturing in two and a half to ten years and bearing 6 per cent. It is secured by the Chesterfield Court apartments now in course of construction at 4530-4542 Drexel boulevard. The lot is 150x332 feet and the building will contain thirty-six high grade apartments of six, seven, eight, and nine rooms, each with a sun parlor and private porch. The estimated cost of the building is $300,000.

The twenty-one apartment building at the northwest corner of Vincennes road and Seventy-fourth street, on a lot with a frontage of 204 feet, east front, to Yale avenue, has been sold by E. Percy Maynard to Mary J. Killen for a stated consideration of $52,000, subject to an incumbrance of $26,000. Part of the Vincennes avenue front is vacant.

Apartment House Sale.

The apartment house property at the southwest corner of Wilmot and Oakley avenues, with 137x149 feet of ground, northeast front, has been sold by Peter J. Smith, who acquired the property a few months ago, to David R. Miller, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $43,500.

The property at the northwest corner of Ashland avenue and Walnut street, 192x105 feet, has been purchased by Thomas J. Burns from J. Norman Pierce, Paul Pierce, and James J. Harrington for a stated consideration of $25,000, subject to an incumbrance of $12,000. J. Norman Pierce conveyed a two-fifths interest, Paul Pierce a two-fifths interest, and James J. Harrington a one-fifth interest.

The apartment house property in Blackstone avenue 100 feet north of East Fifty-seventh street, with 50x150 feet of ground, west front, has been sold by Thomas R. Bishop to Louis M. Cohn, the consideration in the deed being $10, subject to an incumbrance of $13,000.

West Side Deal.

The property on West Twelfth street, forty-one feet west of Albany avenue, 25x125 feet, south front, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by Joseph Goldblatt to Charles Mitchell for a stated consideration of $15,000, subject to an incumbrance of $6,905. In part payment Mr. Mitchell conveyed to Joseph and Henry Goldblatt the property at the northeast corner of Western avenue and Iowa street, 50x103 feet, the consideration in the deed being $10, subject to an incumbrance of $1,760.

Jacob Stark has sold to Samuel H. Fridstein the apartment house property in Park avenue, 441 feet east of Homan avenue, with 51x112 feet of ground, north front, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

The Slayter Drug company has acquired by quitclaim from Flora Good the property at the southwest corner of West Lake and Robey streets, 100x124 feet, with store and flat improvements, the consideration being withheld.

Lease in Westminster.

Willis & Frankenstein have leased to Fred Ronsley the store at South Dearborn street, in the Westminster building at the southwest corner of Monroe street for a term rent from Aug. 1 of $28,000. It will be occupied as a floral shop.

E. M. Griesheimer & Co. have leased for the Illinois Publishing company to the Bedford Shirt company the store at 9 West Madison street for a term of years at an annual rent of $7,500. The same brokers have also leased for the Baker Motor Vehicle company to the Perfection Storage Battery company the second floor of the building at 2025 South Michigan avenue for a term at an annual rent of $1,500.

Howard Bros. & Co. have leased the corner store in the new building at the southwest corner of Fifty-third street and Woodlawn avenue to the White Cross Drug company of Manson, Ia., at a monthly rent of $125. The lease is for a term of six years. This is taken as an evidence of good business conditions along that street.

NOTICE OF SALE.

Pursuant to an order duly entered in the above entitled proceeding on the 29th day of June, 1914, notice is hereby given that James P. Hill, Trustee herein, will sell at public auction at the office of said Bankrupt, Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company, No. 282 James-st., Syracuse, New York, on Thursday, July 23, 1914, beginning at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the right title and interest of said Trustee in, of, and to the property and assets of said Bankrupt, as specified in Exhibit I hereto attached, in the following manner, to-wit:

(a) The Trustee shall first offer for sale the plants of the bankrupt situate in the County of Onondaga, New York, consisting of the three pieces of real estate described in Parcel A of Exhibit 1 hereto attached, together with all the factories and other buildings and improvements thereon erected, and all the engines, dynamos, boilers, main shaftings, and other fixtures contained in any thereof, and shall ascertain the highest bid for the same.

(b) The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such combinations or lots as he shall deem to be best, the boiler patterns and fallow boards, the radiator patterns and fallow boards, and the boiler flasks and radiator flasks, contained in the plants of the bankrupt aforesaid, and more particularly set forth in Parcel B of Exhibit 1 hereto, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such separate articles, or combinations or lots of articles, so offered. The Trustee having ascertained the highest bid, if any, for each of such articles or combinations or lots of articles when so offered separately, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer all of said articles set forth in Parcel B of Exhibit 1 as a whole in one lot and shall ascertain the highest bid for all such articles when offered as a whole. If the highest bid for all such articles when offered as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bids made for such articles or combinations or lots of articles when offered separately, then all bids for each of such separate articles or combinations or lots of articles shall be rejected, but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when such articles or combinations or lots of articles are offered separately shall be higher than the bid for all said articles when offered as a whole, then the bid for said articles when offered as a whole shall be rejected.

(c) The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such combinations or lots as he may deem advisable, all the machinery, boilers, tools, implements, and equipment contained in the plants of the bankrupt aforesaid and not theretofore offered for sale, also all delivery wagons and stable equipment, and also all office furniture, fixtures, and equipment in the plants of the bankrupt aforesaid and in its offices in Syracuse, including those in the boarding house lunch room and in the offices at 282 James-st., all as more particularly set forth in Parcel C of Exhibit 1 hereto attached, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such separate articles or combinations or lots of articles so offered. The Trustee having ascertained the highest bid, if any, for each of such articles or combinations or lots of articles when so offered separately or in combinations or lots as aforesaid, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer all of said articles as set forth in Parcel C as a whole in any lot, and shall ascertain the highest bid for such articles when so offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for such articles so offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate of the highest bids made for such articles when offered separately or in combinations or lots, then the bids for such articles when offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when such articles are offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for such articles when offered together as a whole, then the bid for said articles when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(d) The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such combinations or lots as he may deem advisable the raw material and finished and partly finished merchandise of the bankrupt, consisting of radiators and boiler castings in various processes, all completed radiators and boilers, all shop material and stores, and all other merchandise contained in the aforesaid plants and the Syracuse and Cleveland, O., offices as set forth more in detail in Parcel D of Exhibit 1, and shall then offer for sale, separately or in such combinations or lots as he shall deem advisable, the merchandise in the New York warehouse and branch and in the Boston and Philadelphia branches, consisting of boilers, radiators, trims, office supplies, and other merchandise as more particularly set forth in Parcels E, F, and G of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such articles or combinations or lots of articles when so offered separately or in combinations or lots. The Trustee, having ascertained the highest bid, if any, for each of such articles or combinations or lots of articles when so offered separately or in combinations or lots, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer as a whole in one lot all of said articles set forth in Parcels D, E, F, and G, and shall ascertain the highest bid for all such articles when so offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for all of such articles when so offered as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bids offered for said articles when offered separately or in combinations or lots, then the bids for such articles when offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when such articles are offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for said articles when offered together as a whole, then the bid for said articles when so offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(e) The Trustee shall then offer for sale in such lots or combinations as he shall deem most expedient the shares of stock and bonds owned by the bankrupt, specified in Parcel H of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such lots or combinations of stock and bonds so offered. The Trustee, having ascertained the highest bid, if any, for each of such so separately offered lots or combinations of stock and bonds, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer as a whole in one lot all of said shares of stock and bonds, and ascertain the highest bid for such shares of stock and bonds when so offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for said shares of stock and bonds when so offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bids for such stock and bonds when offered in lots or combinations as aforesaid, then the bids for each of such separate lots or combinations shall be rejected; but if the total amount of such highest bids when such stock and bonds are offered in separate combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for all of such stock and bonds when offered together as a whole, then the bid for said shares of stock and bonds when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(f) The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such combinations or lots as may to him seem advisable, the bills receivable and accounts receivable of the bankrupt, listed or referred to in Parcel I of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such bills receivable and accounts receivable, or of such combinations or lots thereof, when offered separately or in combinations or lots as aforesaid. The Trustee, having ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of such bills receivable and accounts receivable, or combinations or lots thereof, when so offered separately or in lots or combinations, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer as a whole in one lot all of such bills receivable and accounts receivable, and ascertain the highest bid therefor when so offered as a whole. If the highest bid for all of such bills receivable and accounts receivable when offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the bids made for said bills receivable and accounts receivable when offered separately or in combinations or lots, then the bids for such separately offered bills receivable and accounts receivable or combinations or lots thereof shall be rejected; but if the total amount of such highest bids for said bills receivable and accounts receivable when offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for all said bills receivable and accounts receivable when offered together as a whole, then the bid for such bills receivable and accounts receivable when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(g) The Trustee shall then offer for sale the real estate and New York warehouse of the bankrupt described in Parcel J of said Exhibit 1, together with all the buildings and improvements erected upon said real estate and all the fixtures in said warehouse and buildings contained, and shall ascertain the highest bid for the same.

(h) The Trustee shall then offer for sale separately the three pieces of real estate in Onondaga County, New York, respectively described in Parcels K, L, and M of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of said three Parcels K, L, and M when offered separately, and then shall offer as a whole in one lot the combined Parcels K, L, and M and ascertain the highest bid for said three properties when so offered as a whole. If the highest bid for said three properties when so offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bid for said three properties when offered separately, then the bids for each of such properties when offered separately shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of the said highest bids when said properties are offered separately is higher than the bids for said three properties when offered together as a whole, then the bid for said three properties when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(i) The Trustee shall then offer for sale separately all the right, title, and interest of the bankrupt in and to certain real estate and certain leaseholds, respectively described in Parcels N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, and U of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for such interest in each of the said Parcels N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, and U when so separately offered. The Trustee, having ascertained the highest bid, if any, for such interest in each of said Parcels when so offered separately, and having determined the aggregate amount of all said highest bids, shall then offer as a whole in one lot the right, title, and interest of the bankrupt in the combined Parcels N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, and U and ascertain the highest bid for such interest in said properties when so offered as a whole. If the highest bid for such interest in said properties when so offered as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bid for such interest in all of said properties when offered separately, then the bids for such interest in each of such separate properties shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when such interest in said properties are offered separately shall be higher than the bid for such interest in said properties when offered together as a whole, then the bid for such interest in said properties when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(j) The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such lots or combinations as may seem to him advisable, the office furniture and fixtures of the bankrupt in New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, and Cleveland, described in Parcel V of said Exhibit 1, and shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of said separately offered articles or combinations or lots of articles. The Trustee, having ascertained the highest bids, if any, for each of said articles or combinations or lots of articles when so offered separately or in combinations or lots as aforesaid, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer as a whole in one lot all of such articles set forth in Parcel V of Exhibit 1, and ascertain the highest bid for such articles when offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for such articles when offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bid for such articles when offered separately or in combinations or lots, then the bids for such articles when offered separately or in combinations and lots shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when said articles are offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for such articles when offered together as a whole, then the bid for such articles when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

The Trustee shall then offer for sale, separately or in such lots or combinations as may seem to him desirable, all patents and applications therefor, all patent rights, patent licenses and rights thereunder, all copyrights, trade marks, trade brands, and trade designations, more particularly described in Parcel W of said Exhibit 1; also the good will of the bankrupt in its broadest and most comprehensive sense; also the books of account, files, and all other papers and documents of the bankrupt relating to its credit department showing among other things a list of its customers, its correspondence and dealings with its customers, and all information regarding their financial standing and their trade and financial requirements and preferences; also, to the fullest extent in which a trustee in bankruptcy may, by sale under and by decree of court or otherwise, sell, assign, transfer, set over, and confirm the same unto a purchaser thereof at such sale and to his personal representatives, successors, and assigns, (1) the franchises of the bankrupt (not including, however, its franchise to be a corporation), (2) the right, benefit, and privilege to use, employ, and turn to profit the name of Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company as a trade or trading name or otherwise howsoever; and (3) any and all other interests, estates, claims, and demands of every kind and character whatsoever not hereinbefore enumerated, and which are susceptible of being sold by a Trustee in Bankruptcy. The Trustee shall ascertain the highest bid, if any, for each of said assets and rights so offered separately or in lots or combinations as aforesaid, and having ascertained such highest bids, and having determined the aggregate amount of all such highest bids, shall then offer all of said assets and rights as a whole in one lot, and shall ascertain the highest bid for such assets and rights when so offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for all of said assets and rights when offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bids for the said assets and rights when offered separately or in combinations or lots, then the bids for the said assets and rights when so offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be rejected; but if the aggregate amount of such highest bids when such assets and rights are offered separately or in combinations or lots shall be higher than the bid for the said assets and rights when offered together as a whole then the bid for said assets and rights when offered together as a whole shall be rejected.

(l) The Trustee having ascertained and determined the aggregate amount of the highest bids for all the properties, assets, and rights of the bankrupt when so offered for sale as above, shall then offer for sale together as a whole, and in one lot, all of the properties, assets, and rights of the bankrupt theretofore offered for sale, and shall ascertain the highest bid for all said properties, assets, and rights when so offered together as a whole. If the highest bid for all of said properties, assets, and rights when offered together as a whole shall be higher than the aggregate amount of the highest bids for said properties, assets, and rights as theretofore offered, then the bids for all of said properties, assets, and rights as theretofore offered shall be rejected, and the bid for all of such properties, assets, and rights when offered together as a whole shall be accepted. If, however, the highest bids offered for all of said properties, assets, and rights when offered together as a whole shall be less than the aggregate amount of the highest bids therefor when theretofore offered, then the highest bid for said properties, assets, and rights when offered together as a whole shall be rejected and the highest bids therefor as theretofore offered under the separate subdivisions of this Section 2 of this order shall be accepted.

3. That the said Trustee shall require, as a condition precedent to the right of any proposed bidder to make a bid for any of said properties, assets, and rights, that said proposed bidder shall deliver to the Trustee, either in cash or in a certified check upon a national bank payable to the order of the Trustee, an amount equal to not less than ten per cent of the aggregate amount of any bid or bids made by any such proposed bidder and not rejected, or shall deliver to the Trustee claims against the bankrupt duly proved and allowed herein, in the name of or assigned to said proposed bidder, in amounts equal to not less than fifteen per cent of the aggregate amount of any bid or bids made by any such proposed bidder and not rejected. That the balance of the purchase money shall be paid, in cash or in claims of creditors against the bankrupt duly proved and allowed herein, in the manner hereinafter directed, within ten days after the approval and confirmation of such sale by the Court. That such approval and confirmation shall be necessary for the validity of any such sale or sales, and shall be granted or withheld after a hearing to be held at ten o'clock a. m. on July 24, 1914, at Watertown, N. Y.

4. That any purchaser or purchasers of the whole or any part of the properties, assets, and rights of the bankrupt sold by virtue of this order and decree, shall be entitled in settlement or payment for the properties, assets, and rights purchased, to use and apply, towards the payment of the purchase price of the properties, assets, and rights so purchased, any claims of creditors of the bankrupt duly filed and allowed in these proceedings owned by or assigned to such purchaser, by presenting to the Trustee such evidence of said claims as the Trustee may require. For the above purposes such claims shall be estimated as having a value equal to the sum payable out of the net proceeds of such sale and out of the other assets of the bankrupt estate to the holder of such claims as his ratable share of such net proceeds and other assets, after allowing for the proportion of the total payment required to be made in cash for the costs and expenses of the sale and of the bankruptcy proceedings, or otherwise, and if such share of the net proceeds and other assets shall be less than the amount then due upon such claim, such purchaser may make such settlement by receipting upon each proof of claim the amount to be credited thereon, and such claim shall be deemed to have been paid only to the extent of the amount so credited. Any purchaser or purchasers so using and applying towards the payment of the purchase price of any property so purchased by him the estimated dividends or amounts payable on account of claims of general creditors of the bankrupt duly filed and allowed, and owned by or assigned to the said purchaser, shall give to the Trustee a satisfactory undertaking to repay to the Trustee upon his request such portion of the purchase money as has been so paid by the application of the estimated dividends, as may be necessary, if the sum received by the Trustee, together with the other assets of the bankrupt estate, be thereafter found and determined by the court to be insufficient to pay on all claims proved and allowed (unsecured and not entitled to priority or preference, and on any balance proved and allowed on secured claims after due realization on the security thereof) dividends credited as aforesaid, so that there may be paid or finally credited, by the Trustee on all claims proved and allowed (unsecured and not entitled to priority or preference, and on any balance proved and allowed on secured claims after due realization on the security thereof) dividends of like and equal aggregate amounts respectively. In estimating the amount which the claims proved and allowed will be ultimately entitled to receive out of the proceeds of said sale and out of the other assets of the bankrupt estate, proper allowance shall be made by the Trustee for the payment in full of all claims entitled to payment prior to claims of general creditors and of all the expenses of every kind and character whatsoever incurred under and by virtue of the bankruptcy proceedings.

5. That should the total aggregate amount of the price or prices realized at said sale for all the properties, assets, and rights of the bankrupt exceed the total amount payable out of the assets of the bankrupt estate for all charges and expenses relating thereto and the total amount with interest of the claims of all creditors duly proved and allowed, then and in that event any purchaser or purchasers of the whole or any part of the properties, assets, and rights of the bankrupt so sold shall be entitled, in settlement or payment for the properties, assets, and rights purchased, to use and apply, towards the payment of the excess of the purchase price or prices over and above the expenses and charges in the bankruptcy proceedings and all claims of creditors as aforesaid shares of the preferred capital stock of the bankrupt by presenting to the Trustee certificates of such preferred stock issued or duly assigned to such purchaser. For the above purposes such preferred stock, which is entitled to distribution from the assets of the bankrupt before anything is distributed on the common stock, shall be estimated as having a value equal to the sum payable out of such excess in the purchase price to the preferred stock so presented to the Trustee, and such purchaser may make such settlement by receipting upon the shares of preferred stock so presented by him the amount thus to be credited thereon. Any purchaser or purchasers so using and applying toward the payment of such excess in the purchase price the estimated amounts payable on account of preferred stock owned by or assigned to said purchaser, shall give to the Trustee a satisfactory undertaking to repay to the Trustee upon his request such portion of the purchase money as has been so paid by the application of the estimated amounts payable as aforesaid upon such preferred stock as may be necessary to enable the payment by the Trustee upon the other shares of preferred stock an amount equal to that to be credited upon the preferred stock presented by such purchaser.

The Rev. C. W. Leffingwell, D. D., L. L. D., Rector and Founder (1868)

PROBABLY no educational institution has been as little advertised as St. Mary's School, Knoxville, Illinois. Word about its fine instruction and homelike spirit passes from one to another. Forty-two near relatives of former students were in attendance in one year. Daughters of many of Chicago's oldest families have been educated there. The family character of the school and the esprit de corps among the girls seem to produce a spirit of affection and loving helpfulness that grows stronger with the passing years. Forty-seventh year begins September 23rd. For further information address DEPARTMENTS.—Preparatory, High School, Education, Kindergarten, Primary Methods, Domestic Science, Agriculture, Scientific, Higher English, German, French, Italian, Spanish, Sciences, Classical, Engineering, Architecture, Manual Training, Expression and Public Speaking, Music, Fine Art, Pharmacy, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Commerce, Phonography and Typewriting, Penmanship, Review.

While the expense in all the departments is exceedingly low it has not been made at the sacrifice of a high grade of instruction, but it has been made by applying business principles to "THE COST OF LIVING" so that the most satisfactory accommodations for board and room may be had at from $1.80 to $3 per week. Tuition $20.00 per quarter of twelve weeks, or $65 if paid in advance, for a year of forty-eight weeks. If the entire tuition is paid in advance for the year, it includes all the departments, excepting Medical, Dental, and private lessons in Music.

The total expense of board, tuition and furnished room for the regular school year (thirty-six weeks), need not exceed $119.80, or for forty-eight weeks $151.40.
